Council Camporee Set This Week-end

The annual Camporee of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Ross O. Decker, Council Camping and Activities Chairman, has announced.

Again this year it will be a "moving" camporee, with different campsites being used each night, Mr. Decker said. The theme for this year is "American Heritage" and plans are to include some historical information of both a local and national nature.

The Scouts are camping Friday night in the Dan's Mountain State Park area near Lonaconing following a hike-in of approximately one mile from their cars. After breakfast Saturday, camp will be broken and the Scouts and Scouters will hike over the top of Dan's Mountain carrying all equipment, to the property of Conda O. Smith, above Rawlings Heights, where camp will be erected for Saturday night. A retreat and tapping out ceremony will be conducted Saturday evening by the Order of Arrow Lodge. A campfire program will be held Saturday night at which visitors are welcome.

Three One-Car Accidents Occur; One Person Injured

Three one-car accidents occurred this past week, according to records in the State Police office in Oakland. Only one involved an injury.

Larry J. Bolyard, Aurora, W. Va., was traveling east on state route 39, 100 ft. west of Dilley road near Crellin on May 5, at 11 p.m., at an apparent excessive rate of speed for existing conditions. Bolyard stated that there was a deer in the roadway and he swerved to avoid hitting it. In doing so he ran off the right side of the highway and ran into an embankment. The driver was not injured but car damage was placed at $600. No charges were made. Tfc. R. D. Lashley investigated.

Another one-car accident occurred at Swanton Wednesday afternoon, May 6. Linda D. Schmidt, Swanton, was traveling south on state route 495 when the accelerator of her car stuck in the open position. The operator lost control of the car, crossed the center line and struck a guard rail on the opposite side of the road. No charges were made. Tfc. D. A. Tucker investigated.

One person was injured in an accident on state route 135 near Chestnut Grove road about 4 miles east of Swanton, Saturday, May 9, about 5 p.m. Clarence R. Fazenbaker, Westernport, traveling east on route 135 at an apparent high rate of speed, ran off the south shoulder. The car came back onto the highway, then across the highway, ran off the north side of the road and struck several trees and rocks. The car was considered a total loss. Fazenbaker was injured to the extent that he had to be taken by ambulance to the Potomac Valley hospital, Keyser, W. Va. A charge is pending his release from the hospital. Tfc. R. D. Lashley investigated.

It was agreed an all-volunteer army would not be possible by July 1, 1971.

Secretary Becomes Totally Involved;

Kitty Taylor, unusual secretary, who has been in the Bean and Pea investigations, Crops Research division, ARS, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Plant Industry station, Beltsville, for the past ten years, has left to move up to a higher position with the International programs division of the Agricultural Research Service of the U. S. department of Agriculture, where she is now working with Dr. Lewis P. McCann, assistant to the director. For this new position she was selected from a group of 95 girls who were screened for the job.

According to a writer in the newspaper, "The News Leader," of Laurel, Kitty came to Beltsville from the Avilton area seeking a secretarial job. She said she was tired of "feeding the chickens and hogs and driving the farm tractor."

Her farm background became ideal for the job she undertook. She mastered her job rapidly and became a valuable member in the Vegetables and Ornamentals Research branch.

The story is many leaders and members of the USDA administrative staff were continually astounded by the amount of agricultural information which had accumulated in Kitty's mind. She took an active part in preparation of publications on "Minigardening," "Suburban and Farm Vegetable Gardens," "Uses of Plastics in Agriculture," and others. The past two or three years she was directly answering inquiries which were received on vegetable production and the agricultural uses of plastics. She had no college degree or any formal training in horticulture.

She was the recipient of an "Outstanding Award of Merit" and "Quality Within-Grade Promotion" for her performance of duties. She takes a personal interest in the research aspect of the Department's programs. In the Beltsville Garden club she served as secretary and publicity chairman and had a weekly column in the newspaper. She was elected Mum Queen in 1964.

Kitty has lived in Beltsville for ten years. She is married to James H. Taylor and lives at 4702 Powder Mill road. They have two daughters. She attends Emmanuel Methodist church. She is also one of the top ten fashion counselors for Fashion Frocks, Inc., in the Virginia-D. C.-Maryland area. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hetz. Her father is a member of the Board of Election Supervisors.

Her new position will be in Hyattsville.

Men Serve Meal

When the Herman Yoder family, of Grantsville, and the Leonard Orendorf family, of near Accident, got together to celebrate Mother's Day at the Hugh Orendorf home, Sunday, the men took over in the kitchen and prepared the noon meal of fried potatoes, gravy, link sausage, corn, rhubarb sauce, applesauce, rolls, pie and cake. Since this was not the usual custom, the "cooks" didn't realize it didn't work too well to put dry flour into the boiling gravy, and you can't blame them too much for forgetting to remove the rolls from the hot oven. After the gravy was strained and the rolls trimmed a bit, they appreciated some of the Mother's Day treat, and the women were grateful for a well-seasoned Mother's Day meal. The men even did the dishes, which combined to make it an unforgettable Mother's Day, for some appreciative mothers!

ANOTHER TURKEY—Raymond VanSickle, Friendsville, was another successful turkey hunter, having succeeded in shooting his bird last Friday in the Savage river area, and it was a big one, too. The bird weighed twenty and one-half pounds, field dressed. It had a wing spread of five feet and had a double beard some 10 inches long. The one bagged last week by Joe Peck, Oakland youth, weighed sixteen and one-half pounds and had an eight-inch beard.

Northern Drubs Bruceton Mills

Dale Glass fired a two-hitter and Steve Myers, Paul Hunter and George Seggie backed him up with home runs last Thursday as Northern raced to its fifth victory over Bruceton Mills 13 to 1 in a shortened contest at Accident.

The Huskies exploded for seven runs on seven hits in the first innings and added two in each of the next three. Bruceton Mills, which scored its only run on a wild pitch in the second, walked off the field after being blanked in the fifth and Northern was awarded the victory.

Glass, a junior righthander, making his first start for Northern, gave up only a pair of singles, did not walk a batter and struck out five. Connor allowed 13 safeties in taking the defeat for Bruceton.

Myers' two run homer was the big blow of the Huskies first inning while Hunter and Seggie had back to back circuit swats in the second. Hunter also doubled and singled while Glass and Rick Wakefield each had a two-bagger for the Huskies.

C. Stanley Blair announced he would seek Republican nomination for governor of Maryland.

Northern Drubs Bruceton Mills

Dale Glass fired a two-hitter and Steve Myers, Paul Hunter and George Seggie backed him up with home runs last Thursday as Northern raced to its fifth victory over Bruceton Mills 13 to 1 in a shortened contest at Accident.

The Huskies exploded for seven runs on seven hits in the first innings and added two in each of the next three. Bruceton Mills, which scored its only run on a wild pitch in the second, walked off the field after being blanked in the fifth and Northern was awarded the victory.

Glass, a junior righthander, making his first start for Northern, gave up only a pair of singles, did not walk a batter and struck out five. Connor allowed 13 safeties in taking the defeat for Bruceton.

Myers' two run homer was the big blow of the Huskies first inning while Hunter and Seggie had back to back circuit swats in the second. Hunter also doubled and singled while Glass and Rick Wakefield each had a two-bagger for the Huskies.

C. Stanley Blair announced he would seek Republican nomination for governor of Maryland.

To Save Ourselves
Dwight Harvey

The longest war ever fought was not between two kings or two countries. It was, and is, the one waged by man on the other creatures which share the earth with him. It is a war waged with total disregard for any value or worth of the enemy. If the airport will make a few men's lives easier and happier, then the swamp is filled and countless wildlife die. If the factory will help the status quo's economic well-being, then the wastes go into the river and millions of fish and other animals are sentenced to death.

This disregard shows man for what he is - selfish and cold. He is so selfish that he has no value for any life, either of other creatures or of his own kind. For so long has it been easy to kill an animal that is in our way, that it becomes easy to overlook the life of a man that comes between us and our desires. The rising murder rate might be evidence of that.

We must stop our random slaughter of wildlife, and our seeming attempt to exterminate all terrestrial life, except our own. We must stop this in order to keep from alienating ourselves from the goodness and beauty and purpose of life—others and our own. Save our wildlife and save ourselves!

Folk Wisdom

A lowly duty of my Finzel childhood came once in a summer. It was to supply the pigs with a can of our coal, just throwing it over the side of the pen to hear their enthusiastic "Crunch, crunch," while they scrambled, as pigs do, for the biggest piece. Now why should such an absurd practice have any sense? And yet before me lies a new livestock publication in which Dr. Barney Harris of the University of Florida expounds upon the research proving the value of activated charcoal as a cleansing drench for ridding livestock of pesticides, plus its added quality of helping in treating disorders of the digestive organs. From another source I learned that it is bituminous coal which gives this carbon content benefit to animal diets, and not anthracite. In Garrett County we fed soft coal to swine.

Such is the wisdom of folk customs, so numerous that cataloging all of them is impossible. But with an investigation of the reasons behind these practices must come the perception of the constant learning and adaptive experiences in the lives of our ancestors. They were intelligent! There can be no stronger argument for the influence of environment than the differences soon apparent in peoples when they move to other climates or social groups and find their particular aids for that life.

For one long exposed to the superstitions of a Maryland plateau life, it is quite an ambivalent experience to read D. C. Jarvis' book, Folk Medicine. While reading you continually weigh in your own mind the assets of drinking diluted apple cider vinegar each morning if you are the hypertonic type; this is suggested as a balm for poor elimination and for combatting your high energy output and its concommitant alkaline reaction in your blood. A silly type of sugar pill, some would say, and yet I have been told by a wise Michael grandmother that lemon juice drunk in hot water each morning adds to a sense of well-being. Since both vinegar and lemon juice are acid, could this really be scientific?

Many ladies in the country still produce wonderful pickles for added delights to the meal of wintry days. The wisdom behind this eating habit is that when fresh vegetables are unobtainable, the garnishes of relishes and pickles provide a substitute for them in chemical content, and give contrasting taste for hearty meat usually eaten on farms.

At a small farm on Mud Lick there was the half-hour delay observed following the noon meal, even on the busiest summer days of haying or cutting corn, not the frenzied return to the tractor seat which we see machines designed to extend human comfort. Most people now know that since the stomach is a digestive organ, it needs a relaxed body in which to start its blending of food and digestive juices. A real antidote to stomach pains and ulcers was that wise resting time—and so good for a few jokes.

Not only in the realm of bodily health were folk customs so supreme in thinking. The early American styles of furniture, made of sturdy oak and maple for intense use, showed some forethought. Tables with center or outside extensions for company, and three-cornered seats which would store compactly are only two examples of the combination of function and beauty. A pine kitchen table needed no paint or polish, as its rubbing with hands and the housewife's cleaning gave it a mellow smooth sheen envied and copied by modern furniture finishers.

Edward Durell Stone makes many comments on his revolt against the age, with so superficialities such as automobile fins, lazy outdoor living with no courtesy, and tubular metal chairs that are not at all homey. He feels that these affectations have "made many people wary of progress and wistful for the comfort and elegance of a bygone day." And I echo his thoughts. Let us follow more simple folk wisdom.

The Circular Rainbow

Have you ever seen a circular rainbow? It is the kind that forms a gigantic circle, and not the simple arch a person always sees after a summer rain storm. The circular rainbow is a special phenomena of nature that only can be seen from an airplane.

I saw one years ago, but it took a long, long time for me to understand the full meaning of this particular type of rainbow.

We were flying very high over a group of white puffy clouds that are usually seen in the sky during hot weather. Some one on the airplane said, "Look down there!" Below and a little to one side we could see the black shadow of the airplane moving over the tops of the clouds. As it came near the center of each cloud, beautiful circles of color would form around the black shadow. The circles would last several seconds, then fade and reform as the black shadow moved to the top of the next cloud.

It was a spectacular sight that was repeated over and over again. Each time the airplane's shadow appeared on the top of the cloud it was surrounded by a beautiful circular rainbow. First the shadow would be seen, and then the rainbow would form.

To say that the recollection of the circular rainbow haunted me, might sound a little dramatic; yet, I did not forget it either. Many times I would think about it and wonder what special meaning it had for mankind. How did it correspond to the story of Noah and the Flood as told in the Book of Genesis?

Then one day while reading Genesis 8:21, I gained a new insight about man as he stands before God. This verse of scripture carried God's promise never to destroy life on the Earth again, even though man is imperfect and subject to sin. God knows all about the little bit of blackness that marks the soul of every man.

For all of mankind, the circular rainbow carries this particular meaning. The airplane that made the shadow was a bomber, designed to rain death and destruction on the earth below. In the same way, man is capable of violent action in his dealings with other men because his soul has blackness on it. Yet, man is continually surrounded by the goodness of God, the same way that the airplane shadow was surrounded by the beautiful circular rainbow. Each time the shadow appeared the rainbow would also appear. Likewise, whenever mankind is tempted to sin, the goodness of God is also there to restrain him.

So when you see the rainbow in the sky following a summer rain storm, think about two things. First, remember God promised never to destroy life on earth again. Second recall that the goodness of God always surrounds us as does the circular rainbow to uplift us when we might fall into the way of evil.

Involved In Campus Radio

Education doesn't stop at the door of the class room, on that most academicians will agree. And Diane Weese, a college junior from Oakland, concurs wholeheartedly.

Shortly after entering Davis and Elkins College at Elkins, as a freshman, she joined the staff of the campus radio station, WCDE. During the past three years she has been involved in nearly every aspect of the operation. Repairing euipment, writing copy, reporting the news and serving as station manager—she has run the gamut.

Perhaps the high point of her radio "career" occurred this spring when Miss Weese won first place in the radio competition at the West Virginia Speech and Drama Festival. The contestants were judged on their presentation of news, public service announcements and advertisements. They were given 15 minutes to prepare after receiving the materials.

Miss Weese's devotion and loyalty to the campus station is typical of the more than forty young students who give news casts, conduct interviews and play all types of music between 7 a. m. and 2 a. m. daily. The station was given the award for the outstanding organization on campus two years ago.

How has Diane's extra curricular activities affected her class room work? "My grades have risen despite the work," she noted. "I don't know if it is a matter of adjustment or that my courses are getting easier."

Despite her fondness and talent for the electronics media, Miss Weese does not plan to make her career in radio. She is majoring in psychology and has a minor in speech. "I want to obtain a doctorate in psychology. I hope to be able to utilize what I've learned to obtain part-time work in radio to help pay for my additional education."

While her primary aim is monetary, she would probably admit that working part-time in radio is an excuse to continue in a field that for her holds a great fascination.

Miss Weese attended Southern High School and is the daughter of Mrs. Winona Weese, Oakland.

Governor Mandel Names McMullen To Commission

John J. McMullen, Jr., Cumberland, has been appointed by Governor Marvin Mandel as the new chairman of the Upper Potomac River Commission, succeeding his father, who died April 6.

The elder McMullen had served as chairman since February 5, 1940. The commission was established in 1935 and was given jurisdiction of the water resources of Allegany county and Garrett County's election district 4, Bloomington.

Since July, 1953, it also has had jurisdiction over the Savage river dam and operates the treatment plant at Westernport. The other members of the commission are appointed by the county commissioners in Garrett and Allegany counties.

William H. Geppert, Cumberland attorney, has been the Allegany county member since 1964. John Adams, Jr., is the new member from this county, having been appointed to succeed E. Herbert Shaffer, who died.

Accepted At College

Fred Fulk, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fulk, Crellin, has been accepted to Virginia Computer college, Alexandria, Va., for the class beginning September 8. He will major in IBM Computer Programming.

What was later identified as a Golden Eagle flew across the highway in front of an a automobile occupied by Mrs. Foster Riggs and her son, Foster III, while traveling from Thomas to Bayard last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Riggs said the bird had a wing spread of at least six feet and was the largest bird she had ever seen.

Is Easter Bride

Miss Deborah Ruth Nair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nair, Oakland, became the bride of Jack Leroy Michaels, Jr., son of Mr. Jack Leroy Michaels, Sr., Kitzmiller, and Mrs. Jean Michaels, Kitzmiller, on Sunday, March 29, in the Assembly of God Church in Kitzmiller, with Rev. Paul Poland officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, James C. Tasker. The matron of honor was Mrs. Patricia Helbig. Bridesmaids were Glenna Ruth Dilley, Cynthia Wilson, and Debbie Friend. Donna Mae Shrout, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Ronald Michaels served as best man and ushers were Ralph Miller and Fred Helbig.

Mrs. Paul Poland was the organist.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Kitzmiller Community Building.

Mr. and Mrs. Michaels are residing on D street in Mt. Lake Park.

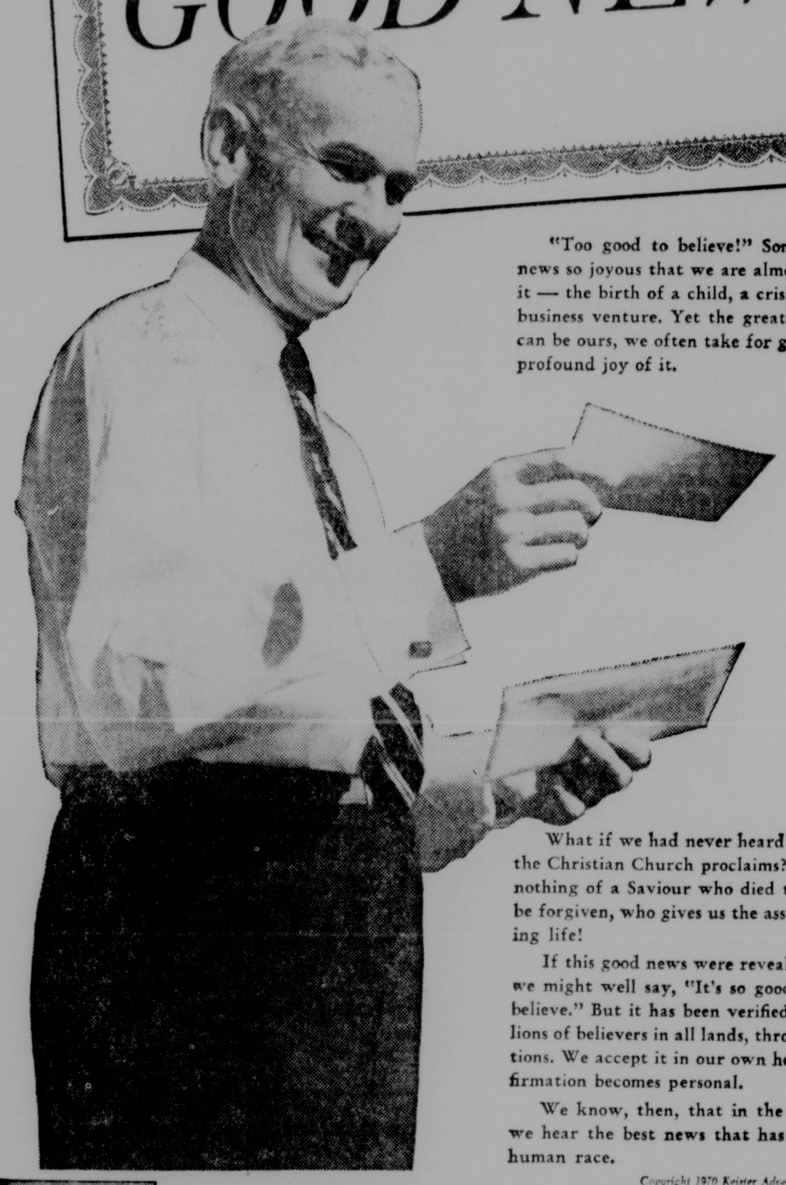
GOOD NEWS



"Too good to believe!" Sometimes we receive news so joyous that we are almost afraid to accept it — the birth of a child, a crisis past, a successful business venture. Yet the greatest good news that can be ours, we often take for granted and lose the profound joy of it.

What if we had never heard the message which the Christian Church proclaims? What if we knew nothing of a Saviour who died that all men might be forgiven, who gives us the assurance of everlasting life!

If this good news were revealed to us suddenly, we might well say, "It's so good that it's hard to believe." But it has been verified by countless millions of believers in all lands, through many generations. We accept it in our own hearts, and the confirmation becomes personal.

We know, then, that in the Christian Church we hear the best news that has ever come to the human race.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons.

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE UNNECESSARY YOKE

Lesson for May 17, 1970

Background Scripture: Acts 15:1-35; Galatians 2.
Devotional Reading: Romans 10:4-13.

You are a member of the Parkside Community Christian Church. You were born into a Christian family and have been raised in the heritage of that faith.

Rev. Althouse

At twelve you had your Bar Mitzvah, having completed your church school training. Like other Christians you attend sabbath services on Friday evenings. You speak Hebrew well enough to read portions of the Old Testament in the ancient tongue.

Furthermore, you keep a kosher house, meaining of course that your wife prepares your meals by the very exacting dietary laws. You do not eat ham or pork and maintain two sets of dishes: one for meat products and the other for dairy items. In addition to Christmas and Easter, your family also celebrates Yom Kippur, Hanukkah, and the Day of Atonement.

The only difference

Really the only difference between the life of Parkside Community Christian Church and the nearest synagogue is that the people of Parkside also accept Jesus as the Messiah and Lord, while the Jews of the local synagogue do not. Otherwise, there is little difference between the two groups.

The above description of the religious life of Parkside Church may leave you somewhat confused. Actually, this is what it might be like to be a Christian today if it had not been for an incident in the life of the Christian Church recorded in Acts 15. Had this not taken place, Christianity might be no more than a Jewish sect, rather than a distinct faith as we know it today.

Even gentiles?

The Christian Church actually began as a group of Jews who had committed themselves to serve Jesus as Lord and Savior. Even though they acknowledged him as their Messiah, they continued to follow the normal daily lives of respectable Jews.

It was not long, however, until they were driven out of Jerusalem by persecution. Soon they were joined by Samaritans. Later, there were even Gentiles won to "the Way." That must have been a tremendous shock for some Jewish Christians. The Jew was to have nothing to do with Gentiles or Samaritans. Yet, they observed that the Holy Spirit descended upon both Samaritans and Gentiles. Finally, there came word that the church at Antioch had actually sent out missionaries to win the Gentiles to Christ.

Thus, there soon arose a controversy: Did a person have to become a Jew in order to be a Christian? One faction of the church was vigorous in saying that all followers of Christ must also be diligent in the observance of Jewish law. Others, like Paul and Barnabbas, however, saw the grace of Jesus Christ as freeing men from compulsory obedience to the law.

A question of essentials

Finally, a meeting was called to resolve this conflict. Although both groups felt that they were right, they were willing to sit down and negotiate to preserve the unity of the church. In the end, we find a compromise. The end reuslt of the decision menat that it was no longer necessary to live like Jews in order to be Christians. They had responded to Peter's plea: "Now therefore why do you make trial of God by putting a yoke upon the neck of the disciples which neither our fathers or we have been able to bear? But we believe that we shall be saved through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, just as they will" (Acts 15:10).

What is really essential for a person to be a Christian today? We often do not agree and it is our insistance on these matters that often disrupts the unity of the church. Is it possible that we too place an unnecessary yoke on the necks of those who, but for our insistance upon this or that, would join us in Christian discipleship?

17 Persons Killed On State Highways

Seventeen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week, according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Five of those killed were drivers, six were passengers, and six were pedestrians.

"Last week one third of those killed on Maryland highways were pedestrians," commented Lt. Col. W. H. Conroy, Deputy Superintendent of the State Police. "They lost their lives because they walked across a road when it was unsafe to do so.

"A pedestrian is no match for a vehicle, even a car which is traveling at a rather low rate of speed. If a person wants to stay alive he should be even more cautious when he crosses highways where there is normally an increase in speed and volume of traffic."

Alcohol was a contributing factor in three of the deaths, speed in seven, and "driver error" in eleven.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor's Note: Normally The Republican does not print anonymous letters to the editor. In fact normally we don't print the publications that we receive when we are aware of who writes them but doesn't want his name used to the article.

But this letter was quite a bit different and the thoughts bear publication. We do know that he is a soldier in South Vietnam doing his duty to keep the free world free.

It's strange to think of how a community can change in such a short period of time. When I get to thinking of what a great place Garrett County was and what sensible people were there when I left not so long ago, and when I read The Republican and hear what all is going on, it makes me wonder if there's any hope at all for this world. I look forward to reading the paper every week, to hear the news of my home town, but when I read of all of this striking and violence going on it really worries me and makes me wonder. It just seems like that's something you would read about from other parts of the country, but not Garrett County. I don't really see how an example can be set by a grown man that carries on like a small child, that throws a fit everytime he can't have his own way. How can a man be so childish and go back to his own household and try to correct his children right from wrong and expect them to understand?

I guess you've figured by now that I'm overseas in the service. And not by choice. But what would happen if everyone who didn't want to come in the service would just refuse. It wouldn't be much of a world, would it? I know that this situation is just one of those that people aren't really realizing what they're doing, and I know that "good old Garrett Co." hasn't lost any of its traditions. And that is for being the best county in the States. It's just that the rest of the world has got everybody confused. I know I'm gonna' come back to the "old" Garrett Co.

This may not even be published because I'm nothing, except one of those people from the "younger generation" who doesn't know anything. But I do know one thing, I'm in a strange place, doing strange things. And it's to keep you all free. Is that the thanks we get over here?

A confused young man

Letter to the Editor:

APATHY!! Means lack of interest—lack of emotion—not concerned. That's the general attitude of our people today. We're running into the arms of Socialism and its malignancies the same as an ignoramous would walk into a quicksand pit filled with carbolic acid. Our congressmen are increasing our tax burdens more and more by giving our money to those who don't work; paying farmers not to farm; sending our money to Communist countries!! Yes, and who cares? Some do and some write letters to congressmen, but there is enough Apathy (lack of concern—lack of interest) that new laws are passed, more $ is spent, to our detriment and we get closer each day to the time when we all will qualify for some form of Welfare handout, either Rentacare — Medicare — Unemployment—Welfare—Don't farm, etc., But when that time gets here folks, Who is going to be paying taxes. So many people think that Uncle Sam has money, that he's rich. He has nothing. That money is our money. If no one has money for taxes and we all are on some kind of Gov't handout, that's the end. We'll be at the bottom of the money barrel. We have a great country and the basis upon which it was founded; our Constitution; and the attitude of the people was beautiful. They worked; they didn't wait for handouts; there was no Cradle to the Grave Gov't—there can't be if our country is to survive economic collapse. Free enterprise, capitalism and initiative are necessities of a great nation.

Yes, folks, this Gov't is riding to the poorhouse in a Rolls Royce and its because of Apathy.

Firemen Answer Three Alarms During Week

Oakland firemen were called three times during the week for minor fires.

One call came at 11:25 a.m., last Thursday from Pittsburgh avenue, Mt. Lake Park, where a garage of Vernon Friend was on fire. No damage was reported, the flames being extinguished quickly.

Two calls were received by firemen on Sunday, one at 12:10 p.m., and another at 2:20.

A trash fire had gotten beyond control on the Johnson farm, west of town, in a home occupied by Abner Stout. There was no damage. The second call also was for a grass fire behind the home of Allen Murray, in Mt. Lake Park. Five members of the Forestry department had answered the alarm and had the flames under control when the firemen arrived.

Those taking part in the presentation of a Ford Tractor classroom demonstration model to the Garrett county high schools are, left to right, James Trickett, vocational supervisor; Robert Rodeheaver, principal of Southern; Irving Byrd, Ford Regional Representative; Clayton Arnold, local Ford tractor distributor; and Richard Bishoff, vocational agriculture teacher.

Vo-Ag Has Tractor

Ford Motor Co. Is Donor

A Ford tractor classroom demonstration model was presented recently to the Garrett County schools to be used in vocational agriculture classes at both Southern and Northern High Schools.

Frank Arnold, local Ford tractor distributor, was responsible for contacting the Educational Division of the Ford Motor Company, who provided the tractor free to the school.

The equipment, a 3300 Ford Tractor demonstration model complete and running, lacking only the wheels and hood, is for training purposes in the farm mechanics classes for the eleventh and twelfth grade boys. It will be used for instruction, assembly, disassembly and operation. Sixty-five Southern students will be trained with the model.

Present for the formal presentation were Vocational Supervisor, James Trickett; Clayton Arnold, Ford tractor distributor; Irving Byrd, Ford Regional District Representative; Principal Robert F. Rodeheaver, and Richard Bishoff, Southern Vo-Ag teacher.

This is the first donation of this type to the schools and should contribute to the program. The shop area of the new Vo-Ag building is already well-equipped.

ONE THING ABOUT A USED VW... IT LOOKS AS HOMELY AS A NEW ONE!

So when you get last year's model it's almost like getting this year's. Especially since these cars have passed the VW 16-point safety and performance test. And have our 100% guarantee that we'll repair or replace all major mechanical parts* for 30 days or 1000 miles, whichever comes first. What you're getting is a car that not only looks almost new. It runs that way, too.

VOLUME 94. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., MAY 21, 1970 PER COPY 10c NUMBER 12

It's A Fact!....

The news has broken. There will be a manufacturing plant constructed in the area which may eventually employ some thousand men and women. It could be the means of bringing back to Garrett county several hundred families which had been forced to go elsewhere to provide a comfortable living.

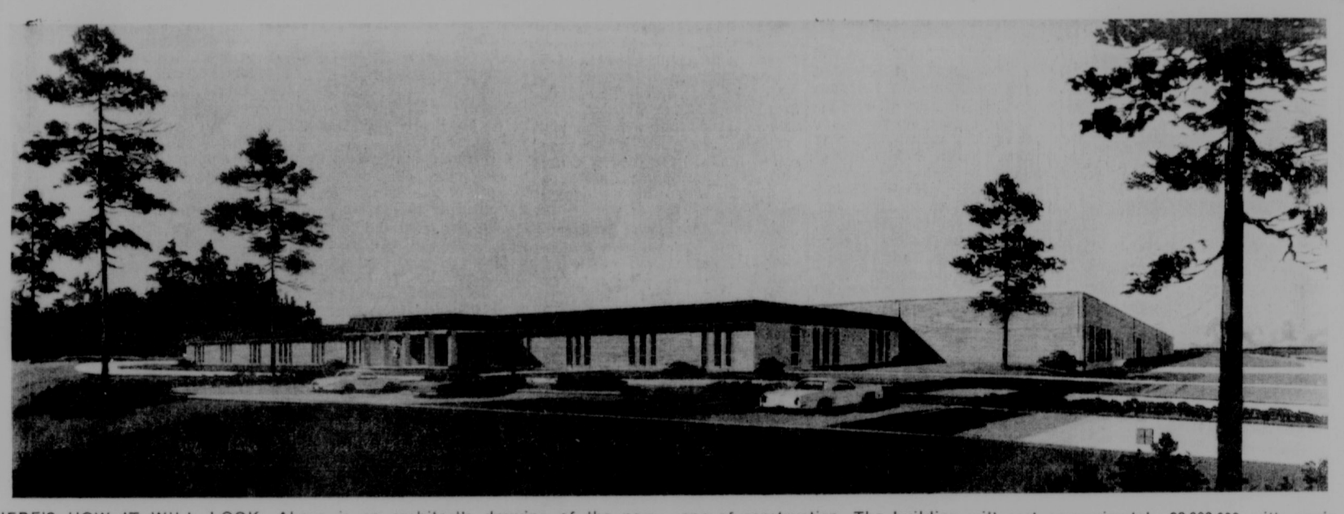
No one but Haig Jackson knows the countless hours he spent as executive director of the Garrett County Development corporation in helping to get this program to the point where it is today. There have been many others involved, of course. Bill Grant, as attorney to the town of Oakland, the Mayor and Council members of Oakland, the County Commissioners, the utility company representatives, the late Lowell Loomis and those who conducted the labor survey of 1968—all had a hand in convincing members of the Bausch and Lomb company of the advantages of this area and how they would profit from locating here. Corporation officers, too, had to be convinced that it would be economically profitable to have a plant in Garrett county.

The building will be one of beauty and efficiency, will be pollution free, and there will be some 200 persons initially employed.

It is hard to estimate the economic effect on the mountain top but everyone realizes it will be of tremendous proportions.

It is an industry of which the county may be very proud.

Oakland Area To Get Bausch And Lomb Mfg. Plant



HERE'S HOW IT WILL LOOK—Above is an architect's drawing of the new Bausch and Lomb manufacturing plant which will be constructed just off Route 135, east of Mt. Lake Park, and which will be completed in 1971. In the front will be the cafeteria, offices, medical facility and reception room, with the manufacturing unit to the rear. There will be 175,000 square feet of floor space in phase one of construction. The building will cost approximately $3,000,000 with equipment estimated at another $3,000,000. Some 200 persons will be employed in phase one, eventually increasing to some 1,000 when all three phases of the plant are completed.

Rochester Firm Announces Start OF Construction

Will Employ 300 For First Phase, Eventually To Reach 1,000

Bausch and Lomb, Inc., manufacturers of ophthalmic, analytical and scientific instruments of Rochester, N. Y., announced today it would expand production facilities for ophthalmic lenses in the United States by starting construction immediately of a manufacturing plant near Oakland, totaling 175,000 square feet. Total cost of the facility would be approximately $3,000,000 with the equipment being an additional $3,000,000.

Production is scheduled to begin in the spring of 1971. Initially the plant will employ approximately 200 people for phase one of the construction which would increase to approximately 1,000 people at the conclusion of phase three.

County To Furnish Little

The company is requiring nothing from the county except an access road to the site and the disposal of sewage.

"This expansion will provide facilities to meet the growing world-wide demand for ophthalmic lenses," President W. W. McQuilkin said. "The plant will come on-line at a time when we expect demand for lenses to exceed our production capacity in Rochester."

Mr. McQuilkin also said the expansion would have no effect on the company's level of employment in Rochester. About twenty key people will be transferred to Oakland to assist in the start-up and operation of the new plant. Other employes would be hired locally.

An architect's drawing of the finished building appears with this announcement. It will be constructed of brick, masonry and steel and will be pollution free, Mr. McQuilkin pointed out. The latest processing and materials, handling methods, including conveyorized movement of lenses, will be used in the manufacturing operation. Finished lenses will continue to be shipped from Rochester for distribution throughout the world.

An industrial scout for the company first appeared on the scene here in August, 1969. He and other members of the company worked through the Garrett County Development corporation with Haig Jackson as executive director, who had a few months before that time been appointed to that position. Since that time Mr. Jackson along with other key members of the development group, other civic groups, and utility companies have spent countless hours in bringing this project to its present position.

The County will build the access road to the parking lot. The 24-foot road of macadam, will

After hearing the attorneys in the case Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill gave them until Monday, May 25, to submit memoranda to the court, and then to return for arguments in the court on Thursday morning, May 28, at 11 o'clock.

The workers were asking for a declaratory judgment against the commissioners and a permanent injunction prohibiting them from acting in what they said was "discriminatory manner in respect to the union." Sanitary Group OK's High Bid On Sewage Plant

Approval Subject To Review By State, Federal Agencies

The Garrett County Sanitary Commission, at a meeting last week, accepted a bid of $535,922.66 for construction of the sewage facilities for Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn Heights, subject to approval by the State Department of Health and the Federal Water Quality administration.

The bidder was H. J. Schneider Construction company, Pittsburgh, Pa. There was one other bid, with a total of some $42,000 less than the bid apparently accepted. This was $490,389.13, from Franklin W. Peters Associates, Charlottesville, Va.

The Sanitary commission accepted the recommendation of John McNair, of McNair, Simmons and Cline, giving as his reasoning that the low bidder did not have the desired experience to run a job of the nature of the Sanitary Commission project.

Funds for the project already have been allocated, the only hang-up being approval of the state and federal units.

The financial needs of the Sanitary Commission were discussed at a meeting of the board with the County Commissioners on May 8 at a special meeting. The commissioners were informed that the Sanitary commission needed funds for land purchase necessary for the sewer facilities. They were informed that the commission was without authority to borrow money and that funds must come from the county general fund. It was agreed by the Commissioners on Monday that necessary funds be provided for acquisition of the twenty-five acres of land needed. The site selected is in the Weber Flats, between Mt. Lake Park and Oakland.

Commissioners also were told that the consulting engineers also needed $30,000 for accumulated costs. No commitment was made by the board.

Apartment Complex To Be Built In Oakland

Arrangements Completed Yesterday For Project

Arrangements to construct a 100-unit apartment complex on the western edge of Oakland, to fulfill present and future needs for additional family residences, were consummated yesterday with a recently formed corporation and the Federal Housing administration, it was announced by Morton Sarubin, of Baltimore, president of the concern. The complex would mean the outlay of some $1,700,000 before the entire project was completed.

Mr. Sarubin, head of the newly formed corporation, Oakland Associates, said yesterday that some twenty-two acres of ground known as the old Bradley farm or old Fair grounds, had been obtained, on which the apartment units would be built. The entrance would be off Bradley Lane. The initial section of the complex would include 25 buildings, with four apartments to each building, along with a swimming pool and playground within the area. Ample parking space also would be provided.

The homes would be of Boise-Cascade modular units and would be brought from Baltimore to Oakland by truck. The foundations and other needs would be supplied locally. A photograph of one of the units and an architect's drawing of the entire plan appear in today's issue.

Construction work would be expected to start by July 1, with completion of the entire project within 90 days, Mr. Sarubin said.

The one hundred units would include 80 three-bedroom apartments and 20 four-bedroom apartments.

Mr. Sarubin is presently constructing a conventional home project in Cumberland. The photo of one of the units is taken from a previous complex completed in another area.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

Mountain-Top and Valley Experiences

Christians sometimes talk about having a "mountain-top experience" in their religion. This refers to a time of great spiritual exhilaration or inspiration when one feels very close to God and his fellowman through the working of the Holy Spirit in his life. At this time he feels intensely God's love and wants to share it with his fellowman. As the old gospel song says, "Makes me love ev'rybody." It sounds like it would be ideal if we could be on the "mountain top" all of the time.

We, of this area, do have the privilege of living on the mountain top all of the time; geographically that is. Judging from Jesus' life, there is something spiritually enriching about the mountain. It is interesting to note that Jesus made several trips to the mountains. He went to the mountain to teach his disciples; He went to the mountain alone to pray; and Matthew 15:29, says that He "went up into a mountain, and sat down there."

Is it possible, though, to remain on the "mountain top" spiritually? Evidently God did not feel that this was necesary, because He did not design life to be that way. It is possible to be ever aware of God's love for us, of His compassion and pity on us, and of His watchcare over us. But we must remember that life is lived and fought out down in the valleys and out on the plains of life with occasional trips to the mountain top. In Matthew, Chapter Eight, we read about Jesus coming down from the mountain and healing the sick and ministering to human need when and where He found it. So let us take our example from Jesus.

The psalmist said, "Even though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I fear no evil; for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff, they comfort me." (Psalm 23:4). As well as to life after death, no doubt he is referring to those moments when from the valley of gloom we have been lifted again to hope by the Holy Spirit, which seems to come especially at those times when our own strength and courage are exhausted and we acknowledge our loss.

So while we rejoice in our opportunity to live on the mountain top geographically, let us also be thankful to God when those occasional spiritual mountain-top excursions come along that restore our souls and make meaningful our many routine activities of life.

Twelve Are Killed On State Highways

Twelve persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the survey published by the State Police. Two of those killed were drivers, five were passengers, and five were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in two of the deaths, speed in four, and "driver error" in seven.

"Much emphasis is placed on the responsibility of the driver to forego operating a motor vehicle when he has been drinking," noted Lt. Col. W. H. Conroy, Deputy Superintendent of the State Police, "and rightly so because this problem is one of very serious concern to all of us.

"However, the pedestrian also has a responsibility to adjust his actions when he drinks and then walks on the roadway. Although for the most part he endangers only his own life, he should certainly see that he does not create a traffic hazard."

Keyser Nine Trims Southern Rams 7-5

Darrell Allen provided the offensive power and Don Miller and John Chaney combined to offset Keyser's sloppy defense Monday afternoon as the Keyser High Tornadoes annexed the Potomac Valley conference championship with their 12th straight victory by the score of 7 to 5 over Southern High at Oakland.

Allen knocked in three runs with a home run, triple and double and scored another in turning in his best effort of the year.

Miller and Chaney pitched a three hitter that helped overcome five Keyser errors.

The Tornadoes had a 3-0 lead in the third inning. After Lawrence Dawson singled and scored Southern's first run on an error in the third, the Rams startled the Keyser team by chasing Miller from the mound with a four run outburst in the fourth to take the lead at 5 to 4.

Charles Shahan and Don Upole got aboard on errors to start the fourth and Dawson drew a base on balls. Fred Stoner was safe on a Keyser misplay and Shahan scored and Kim Frederick walked to get Upole across the plate. Don Wilt then rapped a single to send home Stoner and Frederick with the tying and go-ahead tallies.

Keyser regained the lead the following inning when Riddle singled and scored on John Lesniowski's base hit. Liebig then got on base by an error and Miller singled to clear the bases and lift Keyser in front at 6-5.

Allen finished Keyser's scoring in the seventh with a solo home run.

Two Year Old Boy Lost Sat. Morning

A two year old boy was lost for about two hours last Saturday morning. He is Billy Fazenbaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Fazenbaker of Fingerboard road, west of Oakland.

According to his mother he had gone out to see the horse, then started to follow the dogs, and wandered off into a thickly wooded area. He was found by Mrs. Andrew Shaffer, of the same vicinity, sitting along a creek playing. She was able to coax him toward home. He was then picked up by his grandfather, Carl "Dutch" Wolfe, who also lives nearby, and taken home. His mother had become anxious about him because of an approaching storm. The child did not realize that he had been lost. He was not injured except for a few scratches and bruises. Mrs. Fazenbaker is the former Nancy Wolfe.

Apparently He Doesn't Like Us

To The Republican—Deceased,

After subscribing to your paper for the past twelve years and sticking with it even though the paper costs much more than it did when I first started my subscription, I have come to the conclusion that your paper should stick to one subject that you are the best at—and that is obituaries. You have to be pretty naive when you won't stick up for those underpaid county road workers, but you seem very satisfied printing one side of the facts. But I guess this is the way your paper believes in good community relations.

Being a land owner in Garrett county and a graduate of Northern High school I am not unfamiliar with the many disappointments I've seen happen to the less educated and underprivileged in Garrett County. Being the poorest county in the great state of Maryland and having the lowest wages paid to any county employes probably in the whole United States, is really something to be proud of.

So keep printing your pictures of the 18th century and writing stories of the early 19 hundreds. No one would want to awaken you to the 1970's. It's earier to sleep through it all. But when you die and when you are gone, no doubt there will be a Mt. Democrat born.

Douglas Schroyer,
Willoughby Hills, Ohio

P.S. I wouldn't expect you to print this. It might just awaken someone. But the next time you raise your subscription price, get everyone's okay.

Editor's Note: Refusal to recognize the union was the outward cause of the strike. Wages was not a consideration. My only remark which could be considered as being against the road workers was when I said they were wrong to strike when they had a contract to fulfill. I can only come to the conclusion that Mr. Schroyer is a highly disgruntled Democrat, which he certainly can be, if that is what he desires. We endeavored to give the facts in the case, to allow the readers to reach their own conclusions. We would consider that objective reporting. —G.H.H.

have an industrial intersection on Route 135, at a point about midway between Fitzwater Furniture and the Route 135 restaurant. The plant would be about 1,200 feet northwest of the highway.

Needs 800,000 Gals. Water

Some 800,000 gallons of water will be provided per day, which is the estimated requirement at the end of phase three. The Broadford dam, which will provide the water, is being constructed by the town of Oakland through the Soil Conservation service. This is calculated to provide 1,500,000 gallons of water a day which will leave 700,000 gallons for citizens.

The Monongahela Power company will provide the necessary electricity, the C. and P. Telephone company will provide, in addition to normal service, a 100-drop switch board and computer tie lines. Columbia Gas of Maryland will provide 80 million cubic feet of gas for heating and process water heating. The sewage requirement will be taken care of either in a package plant installation or through the Mt. Lake Park-Loch Lynn disposal unit with a connecting line to the plant.

The basement of the building will have 60,000 square feet of space, with 100,000 square feet for the primary manufacturing floor, with some 15,000 square feet in office and cafeteria space. There will also be a medical facility and reception space along with the office and cafeteria.

Mr. Jackson said about January 1 a training program would begin for set up men, inspectors, maintenance men and shift supervisors. The plant would operate on three shifts a day, on a five-day week, with maintenance on week-ends.

Aurora Cemetery Group To Meet May 30

A memorial meeting of the Aurora Cemetery association will be held in the Aurora Lutheran church at 2 p.m., May 30. The public is invited. In addition to memorial services the By-laws will be read and approved. A financial report will be made and other business will be conducted, according to J. Roy Lipscomb, secretary.

A Welcome Ruling . . .

Most Americans, we believe, will applaud the Supreme Court ruling that churches will continue to be exempt from paying taxes on church-owned property. And few will disagree with the historic decision, written by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, that "Nothing in the national attitude toward religious tolerance and two centuries of uninterrupted freedom from taxation has given the remotest sign of leading to an established church or religion," and "on the contrary it has operated affirmatively to help guarantee the free exercise of all forms of religious beliefs."

It was almost predictable that Justice William O. Douglas, who seems to insist upon being contrary, should have been the only dissenter in the 7-1 decision. In his dissent, Douglas alleged that the ruling was a "long step" toward government aid to religion. Douglas based his dissent upon the long-standing principle of separation of church and state.

We wonder, however, if Douglas did not forget to consider another fundamental of American government—indeed, an idea which appeared long before the writing of the Constitution; and that is, "No taxation without representation."

Following that thesis, if the churches should be taxed by the government, then the churches would have the right to representation—the right to lobby, to have a voice in how their money turned over to government should be spent. As it stands, since the churches contribute nothing to government support, they cannot legally have anything to say about government policy—which is entirely as it should be.

Following the reasoning of Douglas, would not government taxation of churches produce exactly the opposite result of what he claims to believe? Somehow, we get the feeling that Douglas is not thinking as clearly as he should.—U. S. Press Association, Inc.

Boy Accidentally Hit By Ball Bat

A boy, 10 years old, was accidentally hit in the head by a baseball bat as he was about to return home after Little League practice Tuesday evening.

He was taken to the hospital in an ambulance. At the hospital he was checked and released with no serious injury reported.

The boy was Danny Preston, son of James Preston, Oakland.

According to George "Teener" Stewart, who was there at the time of the accident, it could have been avoided if caution would have been observed by the boy swinging the bat and Danny. Mr. Stewart also added that caution should be observed by all of the boys playing in the League.

Insurance Case Nears Jury Action

A suit involving coverage of damage to equipment following an explosion which occurred during operation of a Colorado rock quarry in 1967 was expected to go to a jury in Allegany county court yesterday.

The action was filed by King Mountain Rock Quarry, Inc., of Lyons, Col., against the Travelers Indemnity Company, Hartford, Conn., and Holzshu-Blaul-Welch, Inc., Cumberland.

Witnesses yesterday included Carl and Carmen DelSignore, who have mining interests in Garrett county and West Virginia, who acquired the Colorado operation in February, 1967. Equipment involved was estimated to cost about $176,500. At issue in the case was whether the equipment was covered by insurance.

Equipment, including a crusher and conveyor, was extensively damaged by an explosion during mining operations in August, 1967. The DelSignores understood they had coverage through a binder on a marine policy with Travelers.

Five witnesses were called by the plaintiff's attorneys, Miller Bowen, Cumberland, and S. R. Pagenhardt, Oakland.

Donald Fiddler, employed as a mechanic at the site, and George Stanya, in charge of quarry operations, described extent of the damage when a dynamite charge to loosen rock, "shotgunned out" and caused the damage.

Mr. Stanya, final witness for the plaintiffs, gave detailed testimony on the cost of repairs amid a number of objections from the defense attorneys. Total amount of damage claimed by attorneys for the plaintiff was $64,000 although Mr. Stanya listed a total loss of $72,168.94. Mr. Pagenhardt conceded that the plaintiff would be limited to the $64,000 claimed in the interrogatories.

Called earlier in the trial were Carmen DelSignore, Frank R. Blaul, Cumberland insurance man, and William F. Taylor, former employe of the insurance firm.

W. Dwight Stover, Oakland, is attorney for the Holzshu agency.

The case originally was filed in Garrett County Circuit court and was moved to Cumberland March 4.

have deprived the roads employes of the constitutionally protected freedom of association as guaranteed by the first and 14th amendment of the U. S. Constitution."

In the answer to the bill of complaint, filed the morning of the hearing by defense attorneys W. Dwight Stover, Oakland; and Miller Bowen, Cumberland, they denied they had recognized the County Roads Employes association but admitted they had entered into an agreement with the association; denied the agreement referred to with the association was reached as the result of collective bargaining; denied acting in an arbitrary, unreasonable, wrongful and unlawful manner.

They said there were inherent differences between public and private employes, arising from the nature of the public employer as a sovereign charged with obligations to all the people, and added its authority stemmed from constitutional arrangements and that the defendants, as public employes, could not abdicate or bargain away their legislative discretion.

The answer also indicated they could not legally recognize the alleged local union as they have an agreement with County Roads Employes Association. The answer also stated that Jack Sowers, Ernest Friend and George Vitez had broken their agreement by participating in an illegal strike and refused to work when directed to do so.

The defendants also pointed out that an attempt was made in the General Assembly dealing with the public sector of collcetive bargaining, which would authorize defendants and others to recognize unions for public employes but this was defeated in the assembly and that collective bargaining has not yet been sanctioned under these circumstances.

They also said they may not delegate or abdicate their discretion as to hours, wages, working conditions of any present or former county road employes.

At the hearing last Thursday three witnesses were called by the plaintiffs, Wellington J. Sowers, Ernest B. Crowfoot and Allen S. Paugh, the latter a member of the Board of County Commissioners. Testifying for the defense were Michael Lindner, representative of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, as a reverse witness; Ross Sines and Hubert Friend, county commissioners; and Clayton Smith, acting county roads engineer. Arguing for the plaintiffs were William H. Engleman and Herbert J. Belgrad, both of Baltimore.

Votes Support Of College Budget

At a meeting of the Garrett County Council of Parent Teacher Association Tuesday night, May 19, action was taken to support the budget request of the Board of Trustees of the Garrett County Community College for the year 1970-71. A college president cannot be selected, nor can planning proceed for the opening of the college in September of 1971 unless funds are appropriated by the County Commissioners for the year beginning July 1, it was pointed out. The Board of Trustees had submitted a budget of $36,000 to be spent during the coming year to employ an administrative staff.

A delegation of Council members, representing a number of local PTAs, will go before the Commissioners next Monday to ask them to approve the college budget for the coming year. Other action of the County PTA Council was to continue efforts to secure a Health Officer for Garrett County. Dr. Hill, of Cumberland, is presently dividing his time between Allegany and Garrett Counties. Dr. Hill suggested, in a letter to the Council, that Garrett County might be able to secure a person who is not a physician but has been trained in Public Health to act as an administrator in Garrett County directly under Dr. Hill's supervision. The County Council will study the problem further and will contact other interested groups in the county to work with them in securing this needed health officer.

The Council voted to provide four PTA officers from local county PTAs with full expenses to attend the Summer PTA workshop at Hood College in Frederick, June 20 and 21, the expenses to be paid from County Council funds.

Miss Dillon Speaker At Homemaking Council

Partial or complete closing of some 400 military bases will cost 100,000 jobs.

Local Women At League Convention

Mrs. Herbert H. Leighton, president, and Mrs. William W Grant, Jr., Environmental Quality chairman, Provisional League of Women Voters of Garrett County, attended the 50th anniversary convention of the League at the Sheraton Park hotel in Washington earlier this month. Over 1,600 women from all the 50 states and the District of Columbia attended.

Convention activities included briefings by congressmen, cabinet members and government executives on issues of special interest to the League, a pre-convention session at the United Nations, and a special United Nations luncheon. Speaker at the anniversary banquet was Mrs. Marian Wright Edelman, a graduate of the Yale Law School and the first woman Negro lawyer to be admitted to the bar in Mississippi, who spoke on "The Challenges of the Future."

Five study items adopted include a new study on the evaluation of Congress, and a broad study of the environment to include air pollution, land use and the continued study of water resources. Other items include support of previously studied positions in the fields of human resources, foreign policy, and representative government.

The League encourages its individual members to be active in politics in their own parties. Only the officers of local Leagues are not permitted to take an active part in partisan politics.

The by-laws of the league were changed by the convention to admit women from eighteen to twenty-one years of age as full members, in addition to all those over twenty-one.

U.S. Invasion of Cambodia Violates The Constitution

During the past week I've had several midnight telephone calls—calls that I was glad to receive because they came from intelligent, concerned students on Maryland campuses. One of them was asking for help in obtaining equipment for a first-aid corps he was organizing to help students injured during protests. Another advised that he was keeping a fire watch in college buildings against the chance that some foolish, reckless person might start a fire. Volunteers have come to my office with offers of help in our congressional work during the time that their classes are shut down.

These students in my judgment are heroes on Maryland campuses. They're doing what they're doing because they realize that the fires of buildings will blacken the hopes that they have for demonstrating in a positive and a constructive way for the issues that they believe important for the nation. They know that arson on the campus is arson, that mayhem on the campus is mayhem, and that those who are guilty of these acts will be branded as trespassers and will guarantee the defeat of their own causes.

All of us, all America, shares anguish and sorrow over the tragic and senseless death of the students at Kent State University in Ohio. But I think that all of us realize this is not a time for Old Testiment vengeance, an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. It's time to construct a memorial for the four students there as well as for the men who have lost their lives in Vietnam in defense of a system of government which does invite and in fact demands and requires participation in a peaceful and a proper way by all citizens in the formulation and execution of national policy. I think if we can continue to keep our heads, to move forward in a steady and a nonviolent and a positive manner, we can in fact provide the vindication for the national concern which is felt by so many Americans in this difficult period.

I don't believe that any one who saw the television broadcast of the interview with the father of Allison Krause who was killed at Kent, Ohio, could not be touched by his plea that her death should be a beginning of new national dedication and of his urgent request of Congress to begin to act and to bear its responsibilities in the period of national crisis that we face.

Congress will act. Congress will begin in the very near future to debate some of the critical issues of war and peace.

I personally believe that the dispatch of troops into Cambodia under the circumstances in which they were sent there is unconstitutional. I think it violates the concept of the shared powers of the President and Congress on these issues of life and death and war and peace. The Constitution may be silent on the exact manner in which the President and Congress should share this power, but it is explicit that there should be a sharing. This explicit direction was ignored in this case. This is doubly unfortunate because what has been done in Cambodia will help set the mold of our relationships for years to come with the one-half of the world's population which now lives in Asia. And, our action has a deep impact on our own economy and our own society.

Congress and the country must be consulted on these matters, not only because the constitution requires it, but because common sense requires it. Whenever there is a failure to enlist the participation and support of the country in a foreign policy—that policy is generally doomed in advance to failure. We must and will repair this damage and set new patterns for better guidance in the future.

Wool Incentive Price Increased

The shorn wool incentive price of 72 cents a pound for the 1970 marketing year represents an increase of 3 cents a pound over the 1969 level, according to I. William Umbel, Chairman, Garrett County ASC Committee.

As in past years, shorn wool payments will be equal to a percentage of each producer's cash returns from sales. The percentage will be that required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool up to the announced 72-cents-a-pound incentive price, he pointed out.

The price for pulled wool will continue to be supported at a level comparable to the incentive price for shorn wool.

The support price for wool for 1970 is fixed by a formula in the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965. This legislation amended the National Wool Act of 1954 and extended the wool and mohair payment program through 1970, Mr. Umbel said.

Southern Hi Beats Petersburg 2 to 1

Rick DiSimone fired a two-hitter, struck out nine and drove in the tie-breaking run in the third inning as Southern High Rams downed Petersburg High school yesterday in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Oakland by a score of 2 to 1.

Petersburg obtained both of its hits in the second inning and after that DiSimone retired the next 18 batsmen in order.

Inscoe and Watson shared four of the Rams' seven hits. The victory gave Southern a 5-4 overall record and evened its record at 4-4 in the PVC.

Southern hosts Northern Friday and winds up its season with Beall High next week.

Salisbury Hi Tops Huskies 11 to 7

Exploding for eight runs in the top of the seventh inning, Salisbury High school defeated Northern High Huskies Tuesday by the score of 11 to 7 and squared accounts for an earlier 10-0 setback.

The loss was the fourth for the Huskies against five wins. Jeff Renner belted a two-run homer for Northern. Dale Glass, the first of three Northern pitchers, was charged with the loss.

Northern winds up its season Friday against Southern at Oakland. Southern won the first game of the series 19 to 5.

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

The Shame of The Senate

The U. S. Senate's rejection of Judge G. Harrold Carswell as a nominee for the Supreme Court reveals the low estate to which that body has fallen under the domination of a bipartisan Liberal coalition. The action also exposes the almost pathological hatred the Liberal camp has for the Southern part of the United States, the region that played a leading role in the establishment of the republic and whose people always have been so ready to defend their country.

The Senate's action was the result of undiluted sectional bias. President Nixon "told it like it is" when he declared after Judge Carswell's defeat that the Senate, "as it is presently constituted," will not approve a Southerner.

In a moving and forthright statement Mr. Nixon said: "I understand the bitter feeling of millions of Americans who live in the South about the act of regional discrimination that took place in the Senate. They have my assurance that the day will come when men like Judges Carswell and Haynsworth can and will sit on the high court".

It is the shame of the Senate that it would turn down the President's nominees for a judicial post because, as Mr. Nixon said, of "the accident of their birth, the fact that they were born in the South." It should be profoundly shocking to Americans of good will, wherever they live, that the Liberal coalition in the Senate would be so determined to punish the people of one section and confine them to second-class status in the nation. Apparently Southerners are good enough to fight and die in Viet Nam and defend their country on other fronts. But when it comes to placing them in posts of responsibility at home, the sectional bitterness of the Liberals bars Southerners from key posts. That certainly, is a strange way to promote "unity" in this country.

For Southerners, the most shocking aspect of the rejection of Judge Carswell was the action of a handful of senators from Southern states who turned their back on their region and joined with the Liberal pack trying to humiliate the South.

Five senators stand out. These are Democratic Senators Albert Gore of Tennessee, Ralph Yarborough of Texas, William B. Spong, Jr., of Virginia, and J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, and Republican Marlow Cook of Kentucky. Their names—and actions—no doubt will live in the memory of Southerners who are appalled at their line-up with those seeking humiliation of a great region of the United States. Senators Cook, Spong and Fulbright are not up for relection this year. But the voters of Tennessee and Texas will have an opportunity this year to register their views regarding the anti-Carswell votes of Senators Gore and Yarborough. There is likely to be a groundswell of righteous indignation against Senators Gore and Yarborough for deserting their region and making common cause with those who want to downgrade it.

If there ever was any doubt as to the real political allegiance of Senators Gore and Yarborough, their votes against Judge Carswell should have cleared it up. Senator Gore is an extreme "dove" on Viet Nam and a leader of the defeatist element in the Senate. Senator Yarborough is a favorite of the union monopolists who consider their national union organizations as a virtual state within a state. By voting against Judge Carswell, they showed in a conclusive manner that they place the values and political ambitions of the Liberal coalition ahead of the interests of their states.

Southerners, to be sure, simply want a responsible, conservative court. They will support a sound jurist whether he comes from California, Oregon, Indiana, or any other state. They aren't asking for a regional balance on the Supreme Court. But Southerners understandably resent deliberate efforts to exclude qualified men from the South and to deny them preferment. They also resent the hypocrisy of the Liberals who preach endlessly about "equal justice" and then gang up on Southern jurists to make sure that a native of one part of the country is denied a place on the highest court in the land. That such a narrow and partisan view prevails in the U. S. Senate should be a source of sadness to Americans living in all 50 states of the Union.

The U. S. Senate, which has played so many noble roles in American history, must be rescued from the Liberal coalition now in charge. Responsible citizens in both parties and all regions of the country no doubt will wish President Nixon to go to the country this fall and explain the need for truly fair-minded senators to be elected.

A fire in an apartment building on Chicago's West Side took the lives of ten persons. Thirty-five persons were rescued.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

Southern States Industrial Council

The U. N. Youth Assembly

Reports on planning for the United Nations World Youth Assembly, scheduled to open July 9, indicate that it will be a forum for anti-American revolutionaries and a scene of turbulent dissent.

The Youth Assembly is supposed to be part of the celebration of the 25th anniversary year of the U. N. It is likely, however, that the proceedings will only deepen U. S. public disgust with a body which promotes strife, not peace, and which is profoundly antagonistic to the interests of the American people.

Ironically, the Youth Assembly is being planned by Francois L. Pouliot, a 29-year-old "youth." This fits in with the global pattern of "youth" organizations in which "students" may be in their late twenties and even their thirties.

While Uncle Sam picks up the biggest share of the U. N. tab, the arrangements for the meeting are clearly rigged against the United States and other free world countries. In mid-April, it was disclosed that U. N. officials, charged with making arrangements for the Assembly, had agreed to issue 126 invitations to go to such non-member states as Communist China, North Vietnam and East Germany.

It is obvious what such representatives will do if they are permitted to enter the United States to attend the Youth Assembly. They will use the sessions at the U. N. to make propaganda war against the United States and its allies. Inasmuch as the United States has no diplomatic dealings with these nations, and as they are bitter enemies of free peoples, there is no reason why delegates from these nations should be admitted to the United States. Indeed, the Nixon administration should make it plain at the earliest possible date that these youthful propagandists will not be permitted to set foot on American soil to abuse this country in the halls of the U. N. building.

Other reports regarding Assembly planning reveal the character of the forthcoming meeting. For example, there will be no rules about voting, so communist elements are likely to rig the outcome of every resolution. Asked by the press whether there would be any rules against four-letter words during the proceedings, Mr. Pouliot said "None." That means the world is likely to be treated to another spectacle of obscene protest such as the infamous Chicago 7 put on at their trial in federal court in Chicago this past winter.

The very idea of celebrating the 25th anniversary of the United Nations, whether by youths or adults, is offensive to many citizens. This is especially true in view of the recent statements of United Nations Secretary General U Thant at a conference in Tampere, Finland. Speaking shortly before the commencement of the Lenin anniversary celebration, U Thant described the brutal author of the Soviet totalitarian system, V. I. Lenin, as an "outstanding scholar and prominent humanist," who helped advance "human rights and fundamental freedoms."

It is profoundly shocking that the operating head of the United Nations, which is supposed to be dedicted to peace and freedom, would use the occasion of a UNESCO conference to heap praise on a man responsible for untold misery among hundreds of millions of human beings. The man U Thant hailed as a "prominent humanist" butchered or starved his opposition in Russia, condemned and dismissed morality, and directed a terrorist and torture campaign against anti-communists. Lenin, with Adolph Hitler, was one of the principal authors of the misery, violence and horror in the 20th century. He cared nothing for "human rights" or any other type of rights. His career was one of trying to obliterate "fundamental freedoms."

In his speech at Tampere, U Thant showed his true colors and indicated where his sympathies lie. The speech explains why he has been so bitterly anti-American over the years, never missing a chance to use the U. N. as an instrument against the United States and other free world, capitalist nations. For Americans to join with U Thant in "celebration" of the U. N. would amount to hailing a man and an organization dedicated to downgrading the United States of America and the values on which it is built.

If the Youth Assembly does any good at all it may be in the way of causing U. S. taxpayers to take a new look at their funding of the organization. This year American taxpayers will contribute $110 million to the U. N. The U. S. is providing about 40 percent of the U. N. budget and getting about 90 percent of the U. N. criticism in return.

If the Youth Assembly turns out as expected, the public may demand that the U. S. stop paying altogether. There is no sense in Americans paying for an organization that abuses them and seeks the downfall of the republic.

WASHINGTON AND Small Business

Cut-Rate Surgery?

Naturally, there is always high hopes that an incoming new administration, with a fresh approach, and a fresh viewpoint, can find new solutions to existing problems, develop worthwhile new programs.

But at this particular era in the American Republic the major problem often appears changing the minds of people.

A recently expressed line of reasoning concerning the medical profession is a curious manifestation of specious thinking.

The practice of medicine in these United States has long been of the highest order, and it has perhaps led the world in the development, and acceptance of, improved techniques.

This has largely been due to maintaining the highest standards of medical education which has largely weeded out those showing less than a high degree of aptitude.

In short, the philosophy has been that nobody has a right to practice medicine. Rather, sick people have the rights . . . the right to know that whatever doctor they choose has been subjected to a most rigorous training in competition with other aspirants for a degree, with only the best qualified succeeding.

Therefore, it was somewhat of a shock to learn from Lisa Hobbs in the San Francisco Examiner that there is now a demand from the Black Students Union to scrap this system.

As reported, the BSU has made a demand on the University of California Medical School, one of the nation's greatest, to lower the admission standards. The rationale here is there might be some members of the minority groups who due to other causes, did not make an outstanding showing in high school, but could become good doctors.

But in addition, the group also demanded that the requirements for graduating with a medical degree also be lowered for minority students.

Carried to its logical conclusion, this could lead to a lessening of the quality of all medical practice.

Or to be fair to the public, it could perhaps lead to medical degrees being classified as A and B degrees.

Of course then, it would only be fair to start a system whereby treatment by a doctor with a B degree would charge less. In fact, this would develop into a whole new field of surgeons who could advertise "Let Us Cut You at Cut-Rates." In fact, if the suggested course is followed, there is no limit to how silly things could get.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias
U.S. Senator

The Blackmun Nomination

I am sure every American is glad that the struggle, over a year in duration, to fill the Supreme Court seat vacated by Abe Fortas is now over. We should be particularly happy not only that the struggle is over but that a victory has been won — a victory which cannot be claimed by any single party to this long struggle because it is a victory for the American people and for the concept of the high quality which is absolutely necessary on the Supreme Court.

In a sense, of course, it is a victory for President Nixon in that his nominee, Judge Harry A. Blackmun, has been confirmed by the unanimous vote of the Senate. In a sense, it is a victory for the Senate because its insistence on high quality has been answered with a man of high quality. But the real victory is the victory of the American people. They will gain not only in the seating of Judge Blackmun on the Court but also in the fact that this long struggle over the Supreme Court vacancy placed emphasis on quality which will not be overlooked by presidents in future years. So, Judge Blackmun, by his scholarly ability, his human warmth, his judicial record has already set a bench mark for the bench. I think this emphasis on quality will be the most lasting asset which the nation gains from the struggle to fill this post on our highest court.

But there is also the very human side of Judge Blackmun's elevation to the Supreme Court. I would like to tell you a little bit about the judge as I saw him during recent days. Because the people of Maryland have been very generous to me and have made me a member of several legislative bodies, I have had an opportunity to hear many witnesses who appear before the committees of the legislature. But seldom, if ever, have I seen a man appear before a legislative committee who was able to reveal more of his own character than Judge Blackmun. I don't believe that I have ever heard testimony more poignant or more revealing.

Judge Blackmun, by way of explaining his views, introduced us into his own family circle. He revealed an understanding of the mood of the American people through his understanding of his own children. He expressed a confidence in the youth of America by explaining his confidence in his own daughters. I think that all of this was relevant and important and I think it played a part in the fact that there was not a single dissenting vote in the United States Senate against Judge Blackmun's appointment to the Court.

People have said to me, "What's the difference between Judge Blackmun and Judge Haynsworth and Judge Carswell? Is the difference that they live in different parts of the country?"

I say, "No, that is not the difference." Whereas Judge Haynsworth was reluctant to discuss his financial affairs and the involvement of his personal financial affairs with cases on which he was sitting, Judge Blackmun was open and volunteered information which was not even requested. This is a very different attitude and I think it's very revealing of the difference in the men.

Judge Carswell's record of judicial error was two and one-half times greater than that of the average U.S. district judge, which is in sharp contrast with Judge Blackmun's reputation for judicial ability and scholarly legal opinions.

The question which ran through my mind during the entire struggle to fill the vacancy was: "Is it better to let history record unwise appointments, or to oppose unwise appointments in an effort to get the best man to fill this vacancy?" Judge Haynsworth and Judge Carswell will soon be forgotten, but Justice Blackmun and his opinions will long be remembered, as will the President who nominated him.

Rules, Regulations For Junior-Senior Prom Are Given

A committee of students, along with Robert F. Rodeheaver, principal of Southern High school, have arranged rules for the Junior-Senior prom, to be held at the school on Saturday, May 23, from 9 to 12. The committee said the rules were made in a desire to be helpful to parents and students.

Only juniors, seniors and invited guests are permitted. Guests must be juniors or above and must be cleared through the invitations committee. The wearing of formal gowns by the ladies and dinner jackets or appropriate suits for the men was suggested. Guests may be asked to present invitations or tickets upon registering at the door.

Any person leaving the building before the conclusion of the Prom will not be readmitted. The judgment of chaperones where conduct is concerned will be final. The school's responsibility for Prom activities ends at 12 o'clock midnight.

Smoking will be permitted in the upper lobby near the cafetorium doors but no smoking in the main lobby, lavatories or on the dance floor. No alcohol is to be permitted. Anyone suspected to be under the influence of alcohol will be refused admittance at the door or asked to leave the Prom.

The committee serving with Mr. Rodeheaver included Susan Glotfelty, chairman; Donna Alvarez, Paula Railey, Virginia Shaffer, Ann Elliott, Sally Fizer and Gerald Sanders.

Can you find the Volkswagen hidden in this picture?

If you can, you'll make us very sad.

Because we've troubled ourselves no end to hide it from you.

Our quest for the invisible Volkswagen took us all the way to Turin, Italy.

Where we asked the famous Ghia Studios to design us a sporty Italian body.

They did.

Then we secretly prowled about Europe for the best coach builder we could find.

Success. To the Karmann Coachworks of Osnabrück we handed over Ghia's sketches with the injunction:

"Make it beautiful." (Or else.)

They did.

They welded. And burnished. And sculpted. And sanded. And painted.

Until they had shaped in steel what Ghia had shaped in pencil.

Smug in the knowledge that nobody could ever mistake this beautiful car for a Volkswagen, we concealed our air-cooled engine in back. (For better traction.)

And made it go about 26 miles on just one gallon.

Then we gave this Volkswagen its final disguise:

We named it the Karmann Ghia.

OVERALL VIEW OF APARTMENT COMPLEX—This is an overall photograph of the 100 unit apartment complex that will be built just off Bradley Lane in a 22-acre plot which will include a swimming pool and recreation area. The complex will include 25 buildings with four apartments in each building. The homes are to be pre-cut and trucked to the site from Baltimore. The entire project, meaning an outlay of some $1,700,000, would be completed within ninety days, starting July 1. The complex is a project of a newly formed corporation, Oakland Associates, with Morton Sarubin, Baltimore, president of the concern. Canoe Races May 23-24 on Savage

The National Wildwater Canoe races will be held on the Savage River Saturday and Sunday May 23 and 24.

This is one of the three to be held this year in the United States. Others are in Vermont and the state of Washington.

The race is open only to advanced intermediates and experts due to the severe course to be run.

Contestants from Ontario, Detroit, Tennessee, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Washington, West Virginia and Virginia have registered.

Twelve hundred cubic feet of water a second will be released from Savage River dam during the actual races.

Races will start at 2 p. m. Saturday and 12 noon Sunday. Starting point for the races will be at the base of the dam and the finish line will be at the concrete bridge on Route 135, at Bloomington. It is hoped to have a metal trough secured to the Piedmont dam so that the canoes may run the dam. Arrangements are being made by the Tri-Towns Chamber of Comcerce, sponsors of the event.

Parking, bus service, safety and ambulance service, meals and refreshments will be available. Assisting in the preparations and services for the event are members of the Forestry Department of Garrett county, Potomac Fire company, Bloomington fire company, Ladies auxiliary of the American Legion, and others.

Luke Man Dies At Vepco Lake

A 41-year-old man died Sunday, May 17, while practicing underwater diving in Vepco Lake near Mt. Storm, W. Va.

Dead is Luther Edwin "Nip" Crites of Luke. With him at the lake was 23-year-old Jerry Shook of Keyser, W. Va.

Crites was described as an experienced scuba diver. The cause of his death was not immediately determined as it could have been from drowning or natural causes, such as a heart attack.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Grant Memorial hospital, Petersburg.

Shook seeing Crites in trouble went after him, brought him ashore and attempted to revive him, but failed. Shook then went to a nearby house to call authorities.

Crites is survived by his widow, Mary Paugh Crites, and three children at home, and a sister and brother. He was employed at the Luke Mill of Westvaco. He was a member of Bloomington United Methodist church.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 10 o'clock from the Fredlock Funeral home in Piedmont.

Money, money, money. Sometimes it seems that all people talk about is money. Some hoard it, others let it slip through their fingers. But, whether spender or saver, no one is unmindful of it.

Sometimes it seems as though even in church we hear too much about money. Isn't that the one place where money shouldn't be mentioned at all?

No.

It isn't money that is at fault, but our attitude toward it. In earlier times, we gave of our services, trading one thing for another. Today we use money as a medium of exchange. It is the spirit in our use of that exchange, in both our spending and saving, that counts.

So, give to the church of your choice. Give generously, if you can. But even if you can't give — go.

Lesson for May 24, 1970

Background Scripture: Acts 17:16-33; 19-23-41; 1 Peter 3:13-17.
Devotional Reading: 1 Thessalonians 1:2-10.

The Chamber of Commerce of Ephesus swung into action to combat the growing subversive movement known as "Christianity." In an attempt to alert the people of Ephesus, a flyer was distributed to the general public. This is what it said:

Rev. Althouse

Citizens of Greater Ephesus!

Wake up! Wake up! A little band of subversive atheists is plotting to bring the downfall of our glorious religion of Artemis. This group, called "Christian," and led by a man of Tarsus named Paul (alias Saul), has already caused much falling away from the faith throughout the province of Asia. He has slandered our goddess Artemis and our idols, saying, "Gods made with hands are not gods." He attacks not only our religion but our city of Ephesus, the home of the temple of Artemis, one of the seven wonders of the world, and center for the manufacture of Artmeis statues. What will happen to the worship of Artemis throughout the world if it is learned that the people of her own city are forsaking her? Who will want to come and see our glorious temple if this subversive group is allowed to grow? Let us crush this movement now! It is the religious and patriotic duty of every citizen of Ephesus to join in this great struggle to defend all that we hold dear!

In the public interest,
Your Chamber of Commerce

Bad for business?

A second communication was sent to all the businessmen of Ephesus. Added to what had already been said to the general public was news of the alarming drop in sales of silver statues, and a warning that this was a threat, not only to the silversmiths, but to all; "The banks, the hotels, the markets, the winerys, the sacred prostitutes . . . all will suffer! Merchants, face up to this threat and join us in stamping out this menace to our livelihood!"

Well, of course, no such communications were ever distributed because Chambers of Commerce did not exist in those days. Yet we can be sure that the merchants of Ephesus reacted in a way not unlike that described above. There was no doubt about it: Christianity was bad for business when that business was based upon the pagan practices of the people.

The clash may not have been inevitable. The merchants of Ephesus were quite unconcerned with the theology of the Christian faith until Paul pronounced that Jesus Christ makes all idols worthless. If Paul had avoided this issue of little silver idols, he probably could have continued his work undisturbed.

Profitable exploitation

Yet, though Paul did not seek conflict with local interests, neither did he shrink from proclaiming and teaching the truth regardless of whom it offended. The gospel of Jesus Christ could not help but come into conflict with certain vested interests. It refuses to condone human exploitation regardless of how profitable.

This is no less true today. Christianity is still constantly in conflict with the vested interests of many communities and groups. It does not seek to offend, but it cannot help but offend unless Christians suppress its radical teachings. The values of the gospel are often radically different from those of society. Not only are they different, but they judge the values of society as being false.

For example, what would be the reaction if the churches of Las Vegas were to mount a campaign to tell the truth about gambling? Can you imagine how the gambling interests of the town might react? The same could be said of many other cities and towns. There are vested interests wherever people are.

What about the vested interests where you live? Is Christianity "bad for business" with them?

PAIN — YOUR BODY'S CRY FOR HELP

There has never been a generally satisfactory definition of pain or even a good method to measure it. Some rare individuals have an inborn immunity to pain which is called "Congenital Analgesia." Others are so sensitive that they feel pain at the slightest instance. But, pain is your body's personal alarm system and should not be ignored.

Once your physician has pinpointed the condition causing the pain symptom, he can act to give you quick relief. We stock the medicines he prescribes in our prescription laboratory. We have the modern pain killers and medicines that attack the cause of pain symptoms.

J. Glenn Beall, Jr.
Reports from Washington

Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

As a member of the House Armed Services Committee, I had the privilege last week of attending breakfast at the White House where President Nixon explained quite clearly his decision to send troops across the border into Cambodia and pointed out the beneficial results expected to come from this move.

The President stated that this action must be considered a part of the present program of Vietnamization of the war and a necessary step in the withdrawal of American forces from South Vietnam. Since Mr. Nixon has taken office, of course, 115,000 men have been brought home. Moreover, he has promised to bring back another 150,000 by next spring.

For the past several years our forces have been subjected to attacks by troops supplied and directed from Communist sanctuaries just inside the border in Cambodia. Because at one point this border is only 33 miles from Saigon, it has been relatively easy for Communist forces to mount a sudden assault against this city and flee quickly back into their sanctuaries where there was no threat of retaliation.

The mission of our forces directed into Cambodia, then, is simply to wipe out these Communist sanctuaries. The President made it clear that our objective is to be out of this area in not more than seven weeks, and strongly emphasized that we are there to destroy property and not people. We therefore telegraphed our move with the result that the forewarned Communist forces have withdrawn. For this reason we have so far met little resistance and suffered light casualties.

Accompanied to this meeting by Secretary of Defense Laird and the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, General Wheeler, the President pointed out that our action to date has been quite successful. We have uncovered and demolished command posts and communications centers and have destroyed or captured large numbers of Communist trucks, jeeps, arms and ammunition, and food supplies. It is interesting to note that our troops have taken 716,000 man-days of rice—enough to feed almost 2,000 men for one year. You can understand the significance of this when you consider that rice is the primary source of nourishment for the enemy.

Because of the advent of the monsoon season next month, it will be sometime after November before the Communists can even begin to rebuild and resupply the sanctuaries that have been destroyed. This would not be completed until well into next year so that the Communists will no doubt think twice about the expense and advisability of taking this monumental step.

In the meantime, it is our hope that the Vietnamization of the war, namely the transfer of responsibilities to the South Vietnamese people, can continue at an increased rate because they will no longer be subjected to sizeable attacks from across the Cambodian border. This would lead to a more rapid departure of our American soldiers from Southeast Asia, which, of course, is our ultimate aim.

The President stated that people have said of his office that it is the loneliest place in the world—a place where the buck passing stops and a place where the decisions made are very agonizing. He said the first two points are true, that it is lonely to be President because even though you get a lot of advice, you make the final decision by yourself, and that the buck passing does stop there because in the final analysis the President, as Commander in Chief of our Armed Froces, must make the decision.

But Mr. Nixon stated quite clearly that the decision in this case was not agonizing. He said that he felt he was doing the right thing in making this decision because he was able to evaluate it in terms of saving American lives. He was convinced that he could, through this action, prevent further Cambodian-based attacks on our troops in Vietnam, attacks in which American boys would be exposed, tragically, to injury and death. The President concluded, therefore, that he was taking this step in the best interests of not only the whole country, but more particularly of our brave young men fighting for us in Vietnam.

I have no doubt as to the sincerity of President Nixon's desire to withdraw American troops from Southeast Asia. I point out that he is the only man to make real progress in this regard since we first entered this area of the world. He clearly has a working program for our withdrawal and as your Congressman, I feel that he deserves my support and the support of the citizens of the United States of America.

For several weeks my Washington office has been inundated with thousands of returns on the questionnaire I sent out recently to residents of the Sixth Congressional District to learn your views on current issues. Happily, I can report this week that the tabulation and analysis of returns are virtually completed, and I would like to discuss some of the interesting highlights of the results now.

The results are based on the responses of 40,700 individuals to a total of 23,100 questionnaires returned so far. The number of individuals is larger, of course, than the number of questionnaires because each questionnaire was designed to accommodate the views of both the man and woman of a household where applicable.

According to the district-wide results, residents who responded generally expressed the most agreement on subjects related to crime, the cost of living, balancing the Federal budget, the return of Federal income tax monies to the States, foreign aid, pollution control, and education.

Seventy-five percent of the persons polled believe that the Federal government should spend more on crime control and prevention and 85 percent feel the government should be permitted to use wire-tapping devices to combat organized crime. The remainder is either opposed to these measures, 2 percent and 10 percent, respectively, or undecided.

Social Security benefits should be raised automatically as the cost of living increases according to 81 percent of those responding and 83 percent feel Federal expenditures should be reduced to guarantee a balanced budget, while less than 15 percent are opposed to these concepts. Moreover, the breakdown on the question of whether or not revenues collected by the Federal income tax should be returned to the States to use as they see fit was 65 percent for, 21 percent against and 14 percent undecided.

On questions concerning Federal spending priorities in which persons were asked to choose from 12 categories, a full 86 percent—the highest percentage for or against any subject mentioned in the entire questionnaire—favor reductions in foreign aid, while less than 1 percent want to increase it. Fifty-eight percent believe the Federal government spends too much on the space program and 47 percent want to cut welfare spending. Only 4 percent indicated that more space and welfare expenditures are needed.

Federal spending, on the other hand, should be increased for pollution control according to 56 percent, and 50 percent want more Federal money for education, while only a small percentage want to cut spending for pollution control and education—4 percent and 5 percent, respectively. In view of these results on the subject of more pollution control spending (56 percent for and 4 percent against), it is interesting to note that on the question asking persons whether or not they would be willing to pay more taxes for pollution, 43 percent said yes, 45 percent said no, and 12 percent were undecided.

This year I decided to include an analysis of results according to county because I thought there might be some significant differences in viewpoint among various regions in the Sixth District—differences which are not, of course, reflected in the overall district tabulation. This assumption proved in some cases to be correct.

For example, again considering the question about paying more taxes for pollution control, there is an interesting variation in the responses from the seven counties included entirely or partially in the Sixth District. The percentages of responses in favor of paying more taxes to combat pollution in these counties are: Washington, 38 percent; Carroll, 38 percent; Garrett, 41 percent; Allegany, 42 percent; Frederick, 46 percent; Howard, 52 percent; and Baltimore, 55 percent. The 17 percentage point range of affirmative responses on this particular question appears to be quite significant.

Other topics on the questionnaire brought out similar opinion variations among counties and you can be sure that I will consider all the data carefully before making general conclusions about the feelings of my constituents.

In closing, I want to express my sincere appreciation for the effort made by a great many of you to answer and return the questionnaires. By doing so, you have given me an insight into your thinking on today's issues which is extremely valuable to me as your Representative in Congress. Moreover, you have contributed to the success of our form of government, a government which, in the final analysis, is based on the active interest and participation of concerned citizens.

Proud of Service

The following letter was received from a tourist who praised a member of the Oakland police force.

Annandale, Virginia
Chief of Police
Oakland, Maryland
Dear Sir:

On a recent trip through your city with my wife and family I had the misfortune of a flat tire. The hour was 4:30 a. m., and getting the tire fixed was impossible.

Your young officer David Livengood came to our rescue. With his assistance I was able to remove the tire and get it to a station for repair. He also took my family and myself to a restaurant to wait for the station to open for business. At this time he returned and drove us back to our car and we were finally on our way at 7:30 a. m.

You and your force should be proud to have this young man in your service. He is certainly a credit to his uniform and others could truly take a lesson from him on Public Relations.

Your truly,
George Collins

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Editor
The Republican
Oakland, Maryland
Sir:

I address my remark.., through you, to the people of Garrett County.

I am a student at the University of Maryland. My school, as many of you know, is grappling with many serious problems within the University community. What many of the people of Garrett County are not aware of is the stake that they have in the future of the University of Maryland. I am afraid that all too often they feel that because the University of Maryland is so far away that it does not concern them.

The truth of the matter is that Garrett County supports the University through tax dollars. That Garrett County is small, and may not contribute a major share to the operation of the University does not matter. Some of your tax money supports this school. Do the citizens of our county care what happens to their University?

The University of Maryland is a good school. So good, in fact, that many students from states such as New York, Pennsylvania, and others fight rigid admission policies and pay non-resident tuition in order to go there. What is a shame is that residents of Maryland often are unwilling to consider attending their own State University.

I realize that the proximity of such schools as West Virginia University and other nearby private colleges often makes them more desirable in the eyes of high school graduates of Garrett County. However, why should this factor override all others in making a choice of colleges?

The University of Maryland has your support, through taxes. The people of Garrett County should make use of the University that is there to serve them. Yes, the University of Maryland has many serious problems. It needs the students of Garrett County to come and learn and strengthen what is really their State University.

Sincerely,
Harry M. Fox

Workers, Wake Up!

The problem I am about to discuss needs a solution immediately, for without this solution our country could be ruined.

The United States is the richest and most prosperous country in the world, yet most of our products are made in foreign countries. Few people realize that the manufacturers are doing to this country. I'm sure everyone is familiar with those famous three words, "made in Hong Kong," or "made in Japan," or whatever.

First, let's look at the reasons why most of our products are made in foreign countries. It's much cheaper for manufacturers to have the products made elsewhere because labor is cheaper. They can have the products made and shipped here for less money than manufacturing it here in the first place. This isn't right! We have some of the best factories in the world; yet we import all these foreign products.

Why is labor so expensive in this country? Our laborers belong to unions. When these unions go on strike, they demand higher wages which they usually get. In order to pay the workers higher wages, the employers raise the price of their products, which results in public complaint about high prices.

Our workers need to be awakened before it's too late. They keep wanting more and more. One can see that this runs in a cycle: When the workers strike for higher wages, the employers raise the price of their products; when the prices are raised, the public complains; the workers then strike for higher wages and so on.

If our laborers continue demanding higher wages, then our country will gradually fall apart; we simply can't meet all these higher wage demands. Right here in our own county, we have people who want to be recognized as part of the Union. Why can't they realize what they're doing? These workers need to be awakened before it's too late!

William Ott takes a last look at "his tower" in Terra Alta, W. Va. He saw railroad communications go from rhythmic fists on Morse keys to teletype. He saw signaling go from paddle-like arms controlled by manual levers in the tower to machines that route and interlock by electricity, all guided by blueprint charts.

Retires After 50 Years

By S. W. Martin
Atlanta, Ga.

Why would a man with a rare antique collection waste his time accumulating telegraph insulators—those thick glass domes that once sat on countless poles linking America with one thin wire of communication?

Maybe it has something to do with history—his own. William Ott of Mountain Lake Park, spent 50 years sending messages for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

They started early—at 17, 18, 19, those railroad telegraphers. And they stayed late—many, a lifetime. Ott's half century began on "Big Curve" in the mountains between Cumberland and Grafton.

Up "Big Curve," called the longest, steepest grade in the East, Mark Twain has ridden to lecture, Lew Wallace to work on parts of Ben Hur, Buffalo Bill to bury a friend, Albert Einstein to shop, Jonas Salk to rest—and many presidents to get a little of the fresh air that's still there in a county seat that claims to be the oldest town in the world with a railroad station atop a mountain, Oakland.

Nearly a year has passed since Bill Ott walked down "his tower" at midnight, alone, to go home for the last time. The next day he nearly forgot not to go to "his tower" at Terra Alta, W. Va. It's not easy saying goodbye to a railroad, especially when you made the grade as "a Morse code man" at 17.

That was something to learn for a lad who had left high school to become a B and O leverman at 15. The whistle of old 97 had stirred Billy Ott more than once, over the books at school in spring when the windows were opened to its hypnotic wail across the soft green hills of his native Preston County, W. Va.

Morse was something to learn at 17—dot-dash, dot-dash, dot-dash, once the only fast lifeline of communication across the land. Bill Ott could talk to his fellow craftsmen, sometimes in abbreviations, and translate their rapid-clatter replies faster than most people can read their newspaper.

Railroading gets into a man's blood—or it used to. It got into Ott's blood through two grandfathers—one a bridge-tunnel inspector, one a steam engineer—and his father. In fact, William Ott and his father, George, served the B and O 92 of its 140 years as telegraphers.

Both men saw communication between stations go from rhythmic fists on Morse keys to the telephone, then teletype. The year his father died Ott saw the road install automatic electric signals, after years of paddle-like arms on poles connected by iron pipes to manual levers in the tower.

He has watched 8 out of 17 telegraph offices close along the 101-mile territory-run he helped serve from 1918 until last July. He worked in all 17 offices over those years and retired as oldest operator on the division.

But no man sits through the nights of a half century listening to that very short click, then longer click, and the knowing silence between to tell him danger is ahead ever gets that rhythm out of his head, Ott declares.

Many minor wrecks occurred, a few major ones. But far more were prevented by Ott and his fellow craftsmen, listening and watching through many nights when monotony would have driven less dedicated men out of the work.

Many a trainload of Washington officialdom, heading west, rolled by the towers of William Ott and his fellow craftsmen without giving them a second thought. But Ott and his colleagues gave them much thought—thankfully.

"It might not have been as much thought as I gave the big wildcat that welcomed me to my new job 50 years ags," Ott laughed. "He came out of the bush above the road behind me a very short distance and walked about my pace, no slower, no faster, in the twilight. Chairman of the reception committee, I guess.

"The next day I bought a gun to carry to work. He and his fellow cats did a lot of talking that night but stayed in their own world."

Ott's call to his world, railroading, was a true one. The best proof is the mountain of telegraph line insulators in his antique collection. He collects and refinishes antiques, many rare museum pieces, for relaxation.

Among them are pieces from the old Proctor summer lodge of Cincinnati's Proctor and Gamble team. He owns the hanging lamp of hand-painted china from the Garrett County mansion of Maryland Governor and U. S. Ambassador to Peru, Francis Thomas. The Thomas home dominated a 200-acre clearing atop "17-mile-grade" a century ago.

But out of it all, Ott cherishes his telegraph insulators the most.

They carry him back—to winter blizzards in an area long Human Interest Topic 2 ..... known as "little Alaska" where temperatures often ran 10 to 25 degrees below zero long before snow plows and salt-cinders. The weather never seemed to stop Ott from getting to "his tower" but trapped him overnight, sometimes.

His insulators carry him back—to hard work, of course, sometimes 12 hours a day for 7 days a week at small pay. But back to more—to the feeling of a watchman in the tower, a protector, a feeling of essentiality, of being important, even vital to that stretch of the road.

He never walked out on his bosses.

But he doesn't expect his 7 grandchildren will grow up to understand that in this day—only his wife who stood by him at "his tower" through the years.

Composting Helps Prevent Pollution

If more homeowners would learn the art of "composting," there would be considerably less trash for municipalities to collect and dispose of, says a University of Maryland horticulturist.

Each day housewives throw into garbage bags tons of fruit and vegetable scraps. Each year trash collectors are faced with the problem of discarding tons of leaves and grass clippings or other organic wastes collected by homeowners.

Dr. Francis R. Gouin, Extension horticulturist, says each homeowner can play an important part in reducing his contribution to the national pollution problem.

If homeowners would learn to compost these organic wastes, there would be significantly less trash to collect and dispose of, and this means that municipalities could concentrate their efforts toward more profitable community goals.

Composting is not difficult, he says, and requires little time and space. All you need is an area no larger than four square feet. The compost may be made in a pit dug into the ground or on the surface with an enclosure of old snowfence or second-hand building materials.

To build a compost, put a 10 to 12 inch layer of organic matter (such as leaves, twigs, grass clippings, old house plants or cut flowers, trimmings from fruits and vegetables and wood ashes from your fireplace) in the bottom of the pit or enclosure.

On the top of this layer put one half to one inch of soil from the garden and a light sprinkling of lime and fertilizer. Continue building these alternate layers until your compost is complete. Keep moist and turn occasionally to hasten decomposition. Your compost will be ready to use in your garden in six months to a year.

New Business Will Locate Near Oakland

Lumber Company Will Establish Home Building Business

That the Bauer Lumber company would establish a lumber and home building business just north of Oakland, was announced this week by James C. Bauer, of Cumberland.

The company is planning the construction of two buildings, located along U. S. 219, just north of Oakland, one 60 by 150 feet, the other 40 by 150 feet, with provisions for an additional building 40 by 150 feet at some future date.

A pole type construction will be used with the buildings metal clad. They will be some eighteen feet high and it is planned to have the business in operation by the first of August. There will be some 4,000 square feet of showroom space plus sales warehouse.

The two buildings are being constructed by Thomas Bernard, of Deep Creek Lake, who will also be assistant manager of the new business.

Known as the Bauer Lumber and Home Building center, of Oakland, the concern will deal in rough and finished lumber for all types of homes.

Mr. Bauer, who will be owner and operator, said his company had businesses in Cumberland, Uniontown, Fairmont, Morgantown, Clarksburg, Elkins and Akron, O., with the main office in the latter city.

The new business is located adjacent to the Department of Agriculture, on the west side of U. S. 219.

Memorial Day Plans Complete

Arrangements were completed this week for the annual Memorial Day observance in Oakland on Saturday, May 30.

At the cemetery invocation and benediction will be given by Rev. John Grant, with the Southern High band playing the Star Spangled Banner. The Knights of Pythias will participate in marking their dead. A wreath will be placed on the tomb of the unknown soldier by a World War II Gold Star mother and one by the Ladies Auxiliary. Flowers also will be placed by a Korean and Vietnam Gold Star mother.

Veteran graves throughout the county will be marked. There will be the usual avenue of flags at Garrett Memorial Gardens.

Allegany 4-H'ers Win Broiler Test

Donald Pheasant, route 3, Rawlings, and Steven Appel, route 2, Allegany county, were first place winners in the Western Maryland district 4-H broiler contest held last Saturday at Oakland.

Pheasant, member of Busy Hornet 4-H club, won the senior division while Appel, member of the Broken Neck 4-H club, won the junior division.

Thirty-two persons participated from three counties. They dressed broilers in the show held at the Sterling Processing plant. Garrett county had fourteen participants. Members also had opportunities to give demonstrations and set up poultry science exhibits.

Other awards in the junior division went to Robert Appel, Allegany, second; Janie Corley, Allegany, third; Beth Stouffer, Washington, 4th; Sandra Barney, Allegany, 5th; Roger Stokes, Allegany, 6th; Richard Stokes, Allegany, 7th; and Galen Hixon, Garrett, 8th.

Other winners in the senior division were Robert Purinton, Allegany, 2nd; Ivan Reikle, Allegany, 3rd; Michael Stouffer, Washington, 4th; Dale Barney, Allegany, 5th; Donald Barney, Allegany, 6th; Terry Toms, Washington, 7th; Melanie Harsh, Washington, 8th; Jody Harsh, Washington, 9th; Michael Savage, Garrett 10th; George Keller, Garrett, 11th; and Sally Mades, Washington, 12th.

Winning participation awards from this county were Norris Rush, Richard Friend, David Holland, Michael Cogley, Kathy Bowman, John Liller, David Stanton, David Kolb, Thomas Marple, William Fitzwater and Douglas Fitzwater. The demonstration award went to Darl Kolb, Garrett.

The show was the climax of eight weeks of feeding and caring for 25 or more day-old broiler chicks to a market age of eight or nine weeks. A tour of the Sterling facilities conducted by Gilman Sylvester, manager and part owner, was a highlight. Dr. James Heath, poultry specialist, University of Maryland, was the judge.

Abortion Bill Is Vetoed by Mandel

The office of Gov. Marvin Mandel announced his veto Tuesday of a controversial measure enacted by the 1970 legislature that would have removed virtually all restrictions on abortions in Maryland.

The governor, himself, refused to see newsmen or answer any questions.

Mandel said in a statement he had serious misgivings about the legality of the measure which presumably would have left the question of an abortion strictly in the hands of the woman and her physician.

Protests Bid Acceptance By Sanitary Group

Franklin Peters, Low Bidder, Files Protest With Agencies

Acceptance of the higher bid for construction of the sewage facilities for Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn Heights by the Garrett County Sanitary commission, was protested officially this week by the low bidder. The contract has not as yet been awarded, pending approval by the State Department of Health and the Federal Water Quality administration.

There were two bids on the project, one from H. J. Schneider Construction company, Pittsburgh, with an amount of $535,922.66 while the Franklin W. Peters Associates, of Charlottesville, Va., submitted a bid of $490,389.13, just $45,533.53 less.

The Sanitary commission accepted the recommendation of John McNair of McNair, Simmons and Cline, giving as his reasoning that the low bidder did not have the desired experience to run a job of the nature of the Sanitary commission project.

Mr. Peters contacted The Republican office this week and announced that he had filed a protest with the Maryland Department of Health, the Federal Water Qualities administration and with the General Accounting office, over the action of the commission and the recommendation of the engineer.

Mr. Peters said he was at a loss as to the reason for their decision as he had talked with a representative of the engineer who encouraged him to submit a bid and raised no question as

Sermonette By Area Ministers

Question of Purpose Has Many Answers

What is the real purpose in your life? It is no doubt possible that there are many answers to such a question as this. There are those who have a definite plan and objective toward which they are moving and there are those who have already reached the goal which they have set for themselves. On the other hand, there are others with no plans, no goal, and therefore no incentive, for there is no real purpose in their lives. They are much like a boat drifting aimlessly with the tide, in any direction the tide of life might flow.

Now this very same truth is also just as realistic in the spiritual realm. The apostle Paul makes this statement to a young man by the name of Timothy: (II Timothy 2:15, "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.")

It was no easier in the day in which Timothy lived to live for the Lord Jesus Christ than it is today. This young man had the problems and temptations of his day to contend with, just as the young people and the older people of our day have the problems and tempations to contend with peculiar to our day. Thus he is instructed by Paul concerning things which will make him adequate for the work that God would have him do and will insure God's divine approval both in this present life and in the life to come.

The word (study) is a word of exhortation and is also a command. It has been translated "to earnestly seek" and "to concentrate." It involves an effort being put forth to master the subject that is studied. To be able to study properly and with the best results it is necesary to put everything else out of the mind that full attention and concentration be exerted on that which is studied.

Now if it is necessary to study to make the grade in this life, can we expect to make the grade in the spiritual life, which is far more important, if we fail to make the necessary effort?

There is a purpose and an objective in all of this concentrated effort, and that is, "that we might be approved of God." The record must be set straight right here.

Before any divine approval can be had, Christ must have been invited into the heart and life of the individual. He must be the one to whom our life is committed with no strings attached, and His will must have become our will. He will not accept divided hearts nor divided allegiances. Therefore, if Timothy would be approved of God he must first of all be right with God, and then he must apply himself to the work which he is called to do, and if the Timothys of our day be approved of God, they too must do likewise, for God is no respector of persons.

Every servant who would receive the approval of the Master, must have this testimony. It is stated in the account of the servants as mentioned by Jesus in (Matt. 25: 14-30). There is only approval upon the servants who were faithful as stated in verses 21 and 23: "His Lord said unto him, well done thou good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things: enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Finally, a Christian is one who so works and labors that he need not be ashamed. A workman is known by the kind of work he produces. If the work is inferior and shoddy he has a right to be ashamed, for if he had taken more interest and effort the results would have been different. On the other hand if the work is good and up to standard he has no need to be ashamed in the sight of God or man.

What is the supreme purpose in your life? Do you want the approval of the One with whom we have to do, and when you stand in His presence, (you will hear Him say; "Well done good and faithful servant?")

The sum of the whole matter is found in (Ecclesiastes 12:13-14) "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter; fear God, and keep His commandments. For this is the whole duty of man. For God shall bring every work into judgment and every secret thing whether it be good, or whether it be evil."

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

Behind The Kent Riot...

Leftists and liberals in the United States and around the world already are trying to portray the slain students at Kent State University in Ohio as heroic workers for peace, whereas in fact they were part of an ugly and brutal mob engaged in transforming a university into a scene of anarchy and bloodshed. The deaths were tragic, yes, but understandable—violence begets tragedy.

There are notable exceptions to this praise of the rampaging mob at Kent State. One in particular is a newspaper of Johannesburg in far away South Africa which described Kent students as "silly asses" who were "stirred up by anarchists and Red agents to oppose the war effort in Vietnam and Cambodia" —a very true observation.

Had the National Guardsmen failed to defend themselves, they might have been stoned to death. One can be sure that the leftists and the liberals wouldn't have shed any tears for dead Guardsmen—no more than they weep for the many policemen who have died in the line of duty, defending communities against anti-war demonstrators and other political hoodlums.

Glorification of the four dead protesters—members of the campus mob—is not without design. Radical elements seek an opportunity to marshal opinion against Guardsmen, policemen, and regular soldiers. The objective of the radicals is to force disarmament of troops and police forces, even as in the propaganda treatment of the My Lai incident in Vietnam they seek to discredit and undermine the morale and combat effectiveness of American troops in Southeast Asia.

If the leftists and liberals succeed in disarming the Guardsmen, if they manage to shift the blame to those who were protecting law and order, then the forces of revolution will have scored a tremendous victory. For the safety of the country, it is imperative that the American people stand behind the Guardsmen, in Ohio and in the other 49 states. They are the people's shield against the revolutionists in our midst.

Bloody insurrection by revolutionary elements seems much nearer than anyone expected a year or so ago. The involvement of several thousand students at Yale University in protests against the trial of Black Panthers accused of murder and kidnaping, shows how far the country has gone towards the mindless chaos sought by those who hate the United States and seek its destruction from within. At Yale, almost an entire university went beserk, with faculty members and even the President of the institution lending prestige to the Panther cause—a display of academic irrationality unprecedented in American history.

Obviously the time for mild measures of law and order is past. The mob attack on the National Guardsmen at Kent State University shows that vicious, open revolution confronts us as a result of permissiveness in dealing with the hoodlums who have established sanctuaries on college and university campuses.

The time has come for legislation and governmental action of the most comprehensive kind so as to eliminate the evil that threatens the survival of our free country.

As Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said in a recent address in Florida, the problem of the disturbed universities is not for the Philosophy Department or the English Department, but the Justice Department. It may take scores of additional U. S. attorneys and hundreds of extra BI agents, but no effort should be spared in apprehending and prosecuting those who have engaged in criminal leftist activities on college and university campuses in recent weeks. The possibility of mass sedition trials should be seriously considered, for that is the condition the country now faces.

The first target of governmental action should be the rioters who attacked the National Guardsmen at Kent State University. They and others like them should be the subject of legal action. In college after college, the need is to locate and root out the radicals, whether in the student body or on the faculty. It may be that the states and the federal government will have to enact new laws to accomplish that purpose. If need be, the states should call special sessions of their legislatures to get the laws necessary to keep the peace and protect decent people against the political hippies who believe they can burn public buildings, loot stores, and bombard police and Guardsmen with rocks and other missiles.

The time is past for half-way measures. The country is on the verge of a crisis in which its very future and survival are involved. Every effort should be exerted now to crush the criminal leftists who seek to paralyze and then take over the United States.

Students Seek Summer Employment Locally

Over 100 Garrett county high school and college students, are wanting jobs for the summer months, it was announced by Charles L. Briner, manager of the State Department of Employment Security. He said that many had applied to the department in recent days.

Mr. Briner was appealing to business men and other employers to give these young people an opportunity to help them help themselves.

He said some were high school seniors, college freshmen undecided about a career, perhaps a high school junior with no hope for college and desiring to learn a skill, and others.

Employment of these individuals would be through the employment service.

Asked to Conserve Base Requirement

"Crop acreages are now being certified and producers enrolled in the Feed Grain and Wheat Programs should bear in mind the need for compliance with the conserving base established for their farms," I. William Umbel, Chairman, Garrett County ASC Committee said today.

The conserving base represents that acreage which must be devoted to conserving uses on the farm in addition to any acreage required to be diverted from production under program provisions. This means that a participating farmer must stay within his permitted acreage (the wheat allotment or feed grain base minus the signed intentions to divertt acerage within such allotment or base), in addition to maintaining the farm conserving base. If he does not, he may lose all or a substantial part of the program benefits to which he would otherwise be entitled.

Responsibility for making certain that the conserving base requirement is met falls primarily on the farm operator, however, each producer on the farm has a vital interest in this matter because his benefits are reduced proportionately if total benefits for the farm are reduced, Mr. Umbel said.

Plea Is Made To Make US Route 219 Interstate Road

A Pennsylvania Congressman made a plea before the House Publics Works Committee to make U. S. Route 219 an interstate highway, last week.

Rep. John Saylor, R-Pa., expressed the need of a north-south corridor from the hardcore Appalachia to northern industrial centers.

Proponents of the move also appeared in the Senate earlier in the week.

The roadway would begin in Buffalo, N. Y., pass through Pennsylvania, Garrett County, and end in Bluefield, W. Va.

"Through the Appalachia area we are fighting poverty, population decline, increasing migration, under-development, and in fact in some areas, depression-like conditions," Saylor said in prepared remarks.

Recommends $7.3 Million For Dam

Senator Charles McC. Mathias asked a Senate subcommittee this week to consider an appropriation of $7.3 million in fiscal 1971 for the Bloomington Dam and Reservoir project in Western Maryland.

In a letter to Senator Allen J. Ellender, chairman of the Public Works Subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Senator Mathias stated that "completion of this dam has already been postponed from November 1976 to June 1977 by last year's construction slowdown."

"Since the water situation in the Potomac Basin is growing more difficult every year, I feel it is important to avoid any more delays. I therefore want to encourage you to consider appropriations of up to $7.3 million for this project," the senator said.

He said the project is important "for flood control, water quality control and water supply for the upper Potomac Basin and metropolitan Washington. Since this is the only major project authorized in the entire Potomac Basin, I believe that its completion should not be delayed," the Maryland Republican wrote.

The senator said the $7.3 million figure is what the Army Corps of Engineers told him "could be utilized for this project in fiscal year 1971." The Nixon Administration has proposed appropriations of $4.7 million for the project.

Protests Bid

to qualifications, that the bonding company guaranteeing the work of the contractor was exactly the same company that guaranteed his work.

Mr. Peters pointed out that he had performed the largest single dollar contract ever let by the Federal Water Pollution Control administration, $1.6 million, and had performed some $600,000 in work for that administration in Morgantown.

Mr. Peters said he had in his employ and by management contract or retained consulting a registered engineer who had designed and built dozens of sewage plants, and had for concrete work a man who had done more than $100,000,000 in work in the last few years. He added that for excavation of pipe line work and pipe laying he had persons who had done this by the mile at depths greater than are involved in the present project.

He said in filing the protest he was endeavoring to look after the public interest as well as his own since the difference in the two bids is more than $45,000. He was scheduled for a conference with the Maryland Department of Health yesterday afternoon. He said he felt the acceptance of the recommendation of the engineer by the Sanitary commission was not justified.

Our Fault . . .

The rapidity with which the Bausch and Lomb story broke last week could be a legitimate reason why everybody who had a part in procuring the industry was not mentioned in last week's story and editorial. So Colonel Jackson's letter this week is a welcome one, filling in the gaps which were left out of last week's editorial and story. We hadn't been on press a half hour when I realized I should have included Bob Rudy's name, since early in the proceedings I would go to him for information. —G.H.

Gets Scholarship

Ida M. Miller, daughter of Mrs. Fannie B. Miller, Grantsville, has been named this year's recipient of the James A. Graham Memorial Scholarship at Frostburg State College.

The scholarship, established in memory of Capt. James A. Graham, U.S.M.C., a 1963 graduate of Frostburg State College killed in Vietnam, is awarded each year to a junior mathematics or science major at the college.

Miss Miller has been a member of the Frostburg State College chapter of Sigma Zeta, national science honor society, for the past two years and served as secretary of the college chapter this year. She is a 1967 graduate of Northern High School.

Capt. Graham, a 1961 charter member of the Sigma Zeta honorary at Frostburg State College, was killed in Vietnam in 1967 and was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor in 1968.

The scholarship was established in Capt. Graham's memory in 1969, and a fund was established to perpetuate the scholarship. At the present time, all donations are being welcomed and deposited as part of the principle of the scholarship fund.

Proper Credit Due

May 25, 1970.

To the Editor
The Republican
Oakland, Maryland
Dear Mr. Hanst:

I appreciate all of the compliments that were expressed in the May 21st issue of The Republican and I will admit it was a long, exasperating, time-consuming process; however, I want to point out that I think we should give credit to people and organizations that weren't recognized in the news media.

First and foremost, if Brad Rinard had not seized the opportunity to secure an OEO grant for an economic development operation and hadn't secured it for the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc., I don't think we would have Bausch and Lomb locating in Garrett County. It took the constant effort of the staff paid by this grant to overcome the obstacles of securing this industry.

If Bob Rudy hadn't given many hours of his time to counsel and actively participate in the contact with the industry, we would not have had a successful negotiation.

If the far sighted people who planned the Broadford Run Project had not had the foresight to place a water supply level in this project, we would not have been able to provide water.

If Monongahela Power Company hadn't spent a great effort, both financially and through the services of one Keith Allen of the Area Development staff, we would not have had a successful completion.

If the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland, had not really leaned over backwards in extending their financial support and their willingness to accomplish and cooperate, we would not have had this project.

Now we are still not home free! It is still going to take extensive cooperation and coordination, because before the labor force can be employed in this plant, the following must be accomplished.

1. Broadford Run Dam must be completed.

2. The city of Oakland's new Broadford Run water purification plant must be built and operating.

3. The access road to the facility must be built by the County Commissioners.

4. The sanitary sewage system must be installed by the Garrett County Sanitary Commission.

So you see we still have a lot to do so let the spirit of cooperation and coordination prevail in Garrett County as it has in the past.

Finally let me congratulate all of the above and many of the unnamed people who gave so freely of their time and effort.

Very truly yours,

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of mother and wife, Helen Frazee, who departed this life four years ago today, May 27, 1966.

Dear Mom you left us so sudden.
We've needed you a million times.
A million times we've cried.
If love could have saved you,
You never would have died.
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we love you still.
And in our hearts you hold a place
That no one else can fill.
The Golden Gates stood open,
He saw you needed rest.
God's garden must be beautiful
For He always picks the best.

Sadly missed by Husband, Children and Grandchildren.

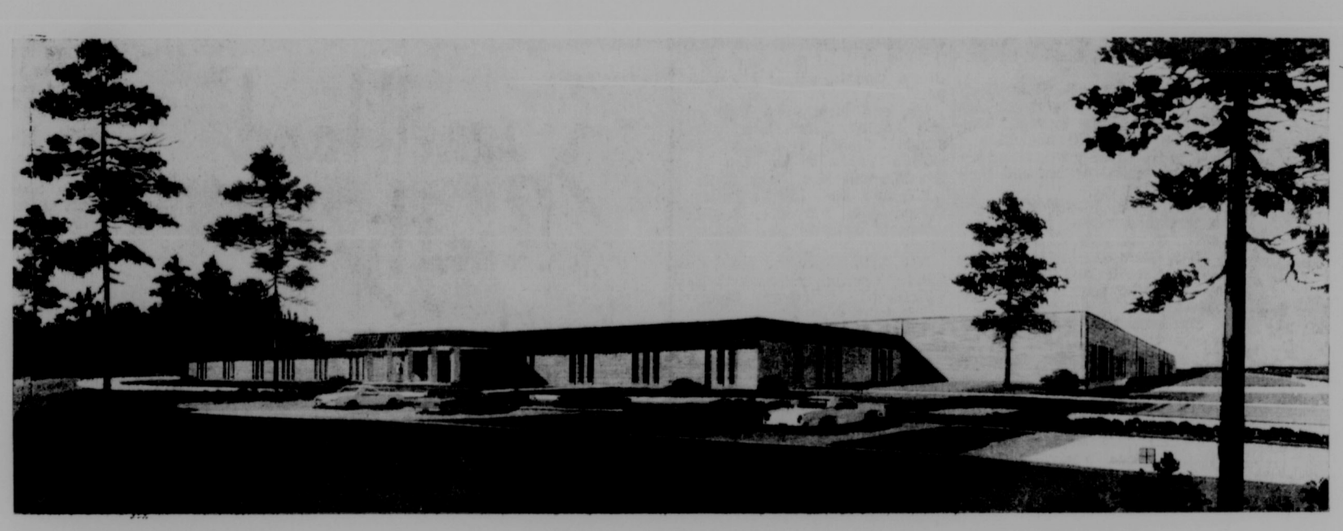
WELCOME TO OAKLAND

BAUSCH AND LOMB, Inc.



The selection of Western Maryland, and more particularly Garrett County and the Oakland area, for a new industry is truly the finest compliment to our section that any community could hope for.

The decision by one of the country's finest and most reputable corporations to locate here is, indeed, good reason for the citizenry, business and agricultural interests to be exceptionally proud.

Many of our residents take for granted the many advantages of working and living here and in nearby places, but when others look in on us and discover such ideal environment, then we must realize how fortunate we are to be a part of it.

While many individuals have devoted countless hours and great effort towards this objective, it must be ever uppermost in our minds that the Garrett County Development Corporation, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, our County Commissioners, the Mountain Top Chamber of Commerce, the utility companies and other groups have shown what cooperative action—working together for the good of all—can accomplish.

So, we sincerely say for all our people, "Welcome to Oakland"—Bausch and Lomb, Inc."

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Pfc. Kenneth E. Noland, Killed in Vietnam on June 23, 1968.

We who loved you, sadly miss you
As it dawns another year;

Thoughts of you are ever near.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us
Though you died two years ago.

To Discontinue Sale Of Savings Stamps

The Oakland Post Office will discontinue the sale of U. S. Savings Stamps after June 30, Postmaster Guy Wm. Hinebaugh reminded customers today.

The Treasury Department announced in February that it was ending the sale of these stamps by the end of the fiscal year.

Postmaster Hinebaugh urged students and others to complete their unfilled stamp albums prior to June 30 and exchange them for U. S. Savings bonds. The stamps can also be redeemed for cash at any post office.

The stamps—ranging in value frm 10 cents to $5—were part of the Postal Savings program prior to 1942 when it "joined" the War Bond drive.

In addition to selling stamps directly to customers, post offices have also supplied schools and other groups sponsoring savings programs for the past 28 years.

Reports from Washington

Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Improvements in our Social Security benefits are again the subject of Congressional action. The House Ways and Means Committee has just sent to the House of Representatives for consideration a comprehensive legislative package called Social Security Amendments of 1970. This series of amendments, which should be of particular interest to residents of Western Maryland because of the relatively high percentage of Social Security beneficiaries there, proposes increased benefits and less stringent eligibility requirements in several areas as well as general improvements in the administration of our Social Security program.

After several months of study in the committee, the bill now before the House contains amendments to the Social Security (OASDI) program which would provide a 5 percent increase in benefits beginning January 1, 1971. This increase, of course, will come in addition to the urgently-needed 15 percent general raise in benefits enacted in December and effective last January 1.

The proposed increase would be financed by other provisions in the bill which would increase the social security earnings tax base from the present $7,800 to $9,000 and revise the contribution rate schedules.

In addition to an increase in benefits, the proposed amendments offer improvements in the provisions of present law concerning the social security retirement test, benefits for widows, widowers, disabled persons and other dependents, and revamp the method of computing benefits.

Concerning retired persons, for example, the amount an individual under age 72 may earn in a year and still be paid full social security benefits would be raised from the present $1,680 to $2,000. I had earlier introduced a bill raising this figure to $2,500. The committee agreed on $2,000 and, while this, in my opinion, is not high enough, it is an improvement.

Under the bill, widows and dependent widowers at age 65 or later would receive 100 percent of the amount of the primary wage earner's entitlements, as compared with the present 82½ percent. As estimated 3.3 million widows and widowers would benefit from this provision by the beginning of next year.

For disabled persons, the bill provides that social security benefits would not be reduced until combined social security and workmen's compensation benefits exceed 100 percent of average earnings before disability. Currently, the reduction point is 80 percent.

The two major health programs under the Social Security law, Medicare and Medicaid, as well as maternal and child health care programs would be amended by the proposed bill to make them more effective and equitable. As I reported to you several weeks ago, these Federal health care programs, which cost about $9 billion annually, have experienced problems in administration and cost effectiveness.

While the proposed amendments would not, of course, change the fundamental intent of the health programs—namely to provide quality care at a minimum cost to the public—they would bring about several small modifications, which, when taken together, would lead to significant improvements.

For example, payments made under Medicare would be eliminated for the same services covered under a Federal employees health benefit plan. In addition, institutions such as hospitals could not charge more for services performed for persons covered by Medicare, Medicaid, and maternal and child care programs than they would normally charge for persons not covered.

Although the proposed Social Security Amendments of 1970 do not include a provision for the automatic increase in benefits as the cost of living increases—a measure which I strongly support—they do, nevertheless, offer constructive alternatives to existing law. Passage of the proposals by Congress, I think, will render needed additional assistance to the millions of Americans who depend largely on our Social Security services for their means of livelihood and continued health.

Events Above The Mountain Top

Paul S. Frank, Jr.

May 27 - June 3

Two planets are easily visible o the eye of the observer this week. Venus, bright in the western sky, sets more than two hours after the sun. Jupiter, dominating the southeast sky, is visible until shortly after midnight.

The sun will be above our horizon for fourteen hours forty minutes today. It rose at 5:55 a.m. and will set at 8:35 p.m. Next Wednesday sunrise will be at 5:52 a.m. and sunset will be at 8:40 p.m. Daylight will last eight minutes longer on June 3 than it did today.

The moon passes between the earth and the sun through its new phase at 10:39 p.m. on Wednesday, June 3. The moon is waning during the week. It rises between 1:45 a.m. and 5:00 a.m. as the week passes.

The fourth brightest star in the sky is called Arcturus. It is in the constellation, Bootes. Bootes is the herdsman. He herds the Great Bear and the Lesser Bear through the sky. This keeps the pole star in its position to guide mortals on the earth. Arcturus can be found by "following the arc of the handle of the Big Dipper."

In the Garrett County Resource Center Planetarium, this week the following classes will be held. Today the Allegany County Outdoor School will study the North Circumpolar Constellations. In the afternoon Mrs. Stark's and Miss Kolb's classes from Grantsville will study Day and Night. Tomorrow Mr. Savage's class from Friendsville will study Geography. Then Mr. Yocum's class from Bloomington will study Geography. Later Mr. Stemple's class from Southern will study the Winds of the World. Monday and Wednesday finds two of Mrs. Whitehair's French classes from Southern studying Spring and Summer Constellations in French. Miss Dusic's class from Dennett Road will study Satellite Orbits on Monday. Mrs. Pendergast's class from Center Street will study Day and Night on Tuesday. Also on Tuesday, Mr. Stemple's 9G class from Southern will study the Ocean of Air. Wednesday Mrs. Hutchinson's French III class will present a planetarium lesson to her other classes.

Southern Winner Over Northern 7-1

Larry Dawson fired a three-hitter and aided his own cause with a run-producing single as Southern High Rams downed Northern High Huskies 7 to 1 last Friday afternoon in an encounter at Southern.

The Rams, taking a 3-1 lead into the fifth inning, scored four times in the fifth frame on singles by Dawson and Kim Frederick and a two-run double by Denny Uphole. Southern took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a pair of Northern miscues.

The Huskies got their only tally in the second inning when Paul Hunter singled, was sacrificed to second base and scored on a single by Greg Hinebaugh.

Dawson issued only one free pass and registered eleven strikeouts as the Rams took the second game of the series 19 to 5. Seggie went the route pitching for the Huskies, fanning one batter but walking six.

Southern's record after that game was six victories against four defeats.

Playing for Northern were Wakefield, Wengerd, Seggie, Hunter, Brenneman, Hinebaugh, Renner, Bach and Warnick. Playing for Southern were Wilt, Inscoe, DiSimone, Stoner, Shahan, Watson, Dawson, Bosley, D. Uphole, Frederick Wolf, J. Uphole.

Financial Data On Schools Given

According to Selected Financial Data released by the Division of Planning, Research and Evaluation of the Maryland State Department of Education, Garrett County received $4,958,501 from all sources for educational purposes, including Current Expense, School Construction, and Debt Service for 1968-69. Of this amount $2,605,764 was received from State sources, $581,956 from Federal sources, $1,234,491 from local sources, and $536,290 from non-revenue sources and other receipts, making the percentages of support 52.6 percent from State sources, 11.7 percent from Federal sources, 24.9 percent from local sources, and 10.8 percent from non-revenue sources.

Garrett County receives a smaller percentage of its school support from local sources than any other county in Maryland. The next lowest is Somerset County with 28.9 percent and the third lowest is Caroline County with 33 percent. The highest percentage of school costs paid from local sources is 60.9 percent paid by Baltimore County.

Receipts for Debt Service on previous construction are $228,057, about equally divided between local sources and State sources. Total State expenditures for School Debt Service are $66,380,083 with about one-fourth coming from State sources and three-fourths from local sources.

The local wealth per pupil enrolled in Garrett County is listed as $15,340. Six counties in Maryland—Calvert, Caroline, Cecil, Charles, St. Mary's, and Somerset—have less wealth per pupil than Garrett and sixteen counties have more. The highest wealth per pupil is $30,349 in Montgomery County. The state average is $20,426.

The cost per pupil for Current Expenses in 1968-69 in Garrett County was $604.68, ranking twenty-first among the twenty-three counties and Baltimore City. The comparable expenditures in the counties having less wealth per pupil than Garrett were $638.96 in Calvert, $633.66 in Caroline, $641.00 in Cecil, $718.25 in Charles, $666.91 in St. Mary's, and $574.56 in Somerset.

Garrett had the highest per pupil costs for health services and for transportation of any county in the state and the lowest per pupil cost for instruction. The cost of instruction ranged from a low of $417.11 in Garrett to a high of $645.92 in Montgomery. The per pupil cost of transportation ranged from a high of $96.56 in Garrett to a low of $21.48 in Baltimore County and $7.56 in Baltimore City.

The average salary paid to principals and teachers in 1968-69 was $7749, which was fifth lowest in the state. Those with lower average salaries were Carroll, Kent, Queen Anne's, and Worcester. The highest average salary paid was $10,463 in Montgomery County.

The per pupil expenditure for materials of instruction in Garrett County was $18.61, the lowest of any county in the state. The largest expenditure for this purpose was $37.86 in St. Mary's and the average for the state was $23.63.

Who Are The Real Patriots?
Bob Paugh

Across our nation, we are encountering a wave of revolution among American youth. They are attempting to make several changes in many areas of our society. To repress these people and their cause, the Establishment, those true-blue patriots who celebrate our national holidays (usually with drunken brawls), retaliate with the armed forces. But my question to you is: who are the real patriots? Are they the people who are trying to change our nation? Or are they the ones who want our nation to remain in the situation it is currently in?

Almost two centuries ago, our forefathers rebelled against the British Empire to obtain their goals. They wanted to form a nation where their descendants could live in a better environment than they had endured. Their idea of a nation was one wherein the people could express themselves, and wherein the citizen would constantly be improving their society. These forefathers are revered by everyone today as true American patriots.

Today, our society desperately needs improving. We are torn with racial strife. We are overpermissive and have low moral standards; yet, we are still faced with an entire generation of people who like our way of living, and refuse to listen to any criticisms of it! They defend our standard of living, but rebuke the youth for trying to improve it. We don't want war, but they think everyone under the age of thirty should be sent to Vietnam to fight! I ask you, are these people really being patriotic in their attempt to keep society at its current status? Or are our real patriots the young men and women who have the strength enough to openly criticize their country in hopes of improving it? I leave the answer to you.

JIM WAS GRADUATED TODAY

Mary and I sat on the bleachers overlooking the high school athletic field and watched him march in with his class. A bird glided overhead, and, from far off, a dog's bark and children's voices mingled on the evening air. Behind circling hills, blue mountains made a stately backdrop.

Jim avoided our glance, the habitual grin he's worn since babyhood stilled for a moment in a gaze of earnest solemnity. His first big milestone had come, and I smiled to myself remembering his eagerness to embark upon the "world of tomorrow."

I have no fears for his future . . . for Jim is a Christian. What a wonderful assurance it is to his mother and me to know that wherever he goes, whatever happens in that wonderful "world" ahead, the values and principles he has been taught will be there to guide and sustain him.

How grateful we are to our church for the guid- ance and encouragement it has given us in the Christian education of our son!

THE BETTER PROMISE

Lesson of May 31, 1970

Background Scripture: Hebrews 8:1 through 10:18.
Devotional Reading: 1 John 5:1-5.

"We all believe in the same God, don't we?"

How often we have heard that question or one similar to it. Do we "all believe in the same God," and, if so, what is distinctive about the gospel of Jesus Christ?

Rev. Althouse

The same god

You may recall that there were times when the Apostle Paul spoke to the gentiles, not about Jesus Christ, to begin with, but about the truth they had learned from their religions. He did not denounce their religions as false, but acknowledged that they were seeking the same God as he. "What therefore you worship as unknown, this I proclaim to you" (Acts 17:23). Paul was referring to a stone on Athens' Mars' Hill which was dedicated "To an unknown God."

The people who listened to Paul on Mars' Hill did not have to be Jews or Christians in order to have perceived a God who created the world and is at work in it. Men of different religions had come to that conclusion. Behind the world which they could see, they knew their was some Power or powers that both created and sustanied the world.

Paul goes on to say however, that: "The God who has made the world and everything in it, being Lord of heaven and earth, does not live in shrines made by man" (17:24). In other words, he is saying, your religion has taught you some truth about God, but there is a greater truth about God that I have come to reveal to you. These people know there is a God (indeed, many of them believed in many gods), but they do not know fully what this God is like.

What kind of god?

In this sense, we all do "believe in the same God." Yet Paul helps us to see that in another sense this is not true. He is the same God, but our understanding of what he is like may be so different that it may seem he is another god altogether.

For example, I may feel I pretty well know my next-door neighbor. I know what he looks like, we talk together from time to time, and I can observe some of the things that he does. Yet, through he is the same man, he may appear to be an altogether different man to his wife and children who know much more of what he is really like.

So it is with God. We do not say that those of other religious persuasions do not know anything of God, but that what they know of him is not enough, in our estimation, to make life as full and rich as we know it can be. Because of Jesus Christ, we know him, not as a next-door neighbor, but as a Father.

This is also what the writer of Hebrews meant when he spoke of the "better promise" which is available through Jesus Christ. The old covenant, the old relationship between God and his people, was not false or evil, he indicates, but it did not bring man as close to God as the new covenant in Jesus Christ. There was value in the old but an even greater value in the new.

In their hearts

The old covenant was external and limited. The laws of Israel covered certain specific situations, but the people of Israel were constantly coming upon new situations, new circumstances. Therefore they frequently needed someone or something to interpret the law to the new situation. They obeyed the law, but often their motives were hardly commendable, for the law was something foreign and hostile to them. It was a "thing," not a "person." As J. Harry Cotton has put it, "No code can create an honest man. No man is really honest until integrity is written in his mind."

That is why the "new covenant" was really the "better promise":

This is the covenant that I will make with house of Israel after those days, says the Lord: I will put my laws into their minds, and write them on their hearts . . ." (Hebrews 8:10b).

WHAT REALLY IS DRUG ABUSE?

Although commonly used by authorities to describe the indiscriminate use of those drugs associated with "turning on," "kicks," and "trips," it also is the unwise use of any drug. Too much aspirin, constant use of a nose spray, excess dependence on a cough syrup would all be good examples of drug abuse.

Actually, you abuse your body when you rely too much on over-the-counter, non-prescription medications when you are sick. Rely instead on the knowledge and experience of your family doctor.

Memorial Day

That Others Might Live . . .

On this Memorial Day the bugles sound, humbly honoring all those who have lost their lives in war, that others might live.

Let us pause, if just for a moment this day, to honor these men who can never return.

Together may we pray for a lasting peace in the hearts of all men. We salute the families and friends of these, our most courageous Servicemen, who have sacrificed their lives...that others may live in peace.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias

Richard Cleveland, Public Servant

One of the most serious illnesses that affects Americans is the disease called Potomac Fever. It might just as well be called Severn Fever, Hudson Fever or Sacramento Fever. It's a kind of disease which makes people believe that they have to live lives of public service and that public service can only be accomplished through holding public jobs—sometimes elective jobs or sometimes appointive jobs, a member of the President's Cabinet, a high offical of state government or perhaps a member of the cabinet of the mayor of a large city.

For some reason we seem to think that public service is the same thing as public employment. But happily, this is a disease of the imagination. This is a disease which really doesn't have to exist because many Americans, in fact the great majority of Americans, make enormous contributions to America without ever having received a dollar in public pay and without ever having served a day as an official of government. One American who illustrates this point is a Marylander named Richard Cleveland.

Richard Cleveland has spent a lifetime of public service but he has done it as a private individual. He has been a trustee of several educational institutions and his own broad experience as a lawyer and as a newspaperman has contributed to the institutions that he served. He has exerted leadership in the Maryland community through being willing to take on the thankless jobs that are involved in defending the defenseless and in raising funds for public purposes such as the Community Chest. He has generated in others a spirit of public interest and of public assistance because of his leadership in this work. He has, as a private citizen, been active in the political spheres of Maryland life.

He grew up with a Democratic Party heritage but he has exercised the highest duties of citizenship by choosing carefully the candidates that he would support. One of the early candidates for whom he campaigned was Maryland's Governor Albert C. Ritchie, a contender for the 1932 Democratic Presidential nomination. Later he viewed the needs of the country as he saw them and gave his total support for the Presidential candidacy of Republican Wendell Willkie. Throughout his life he has made these decisions as a citizen and he has led others to make the same hard choice between what was, perhaps, the easy, convenient, or even comfortable way and the hard personal decision which was dictated by the requirements of the times.

We are grateful to Richard Cleveland for a lifetime of public service, for service as a lawyer and as an advocate of justice for all our people. Richard Cleveland is a leading citizen because he has been a leader of citizens and we are all grateful. But in citing his example, I think we ought to express gratitude to all those millions of Americans who through quiet lives of public service are the real leaders of this country.

Post Office Gives Service Award to Emmons Warnick

A. Emmons Warnick, retired postmaster of Grantsville, was presented with a service award certificate last Wednesday evening at his home from the U. S. Post Office department. Presentation was made by Morris G. Richardson, postal officer for the Cumberland area.

The award read "This certificate is awarded to A. Emmons Warnick by the Post Office Department in grateful appreciation for dedicated service during an honorable career in the United States government."

It was given on the occasion of his retirement April 3, 1970, and was signed by Winton M. Blount, Postmaster General.

A letter was presented to Mr. Warnick at the same time from Carl C. Ulsaker, regional director, in which he commented on his 35 years of service as postmaster at Grantsville. He said the certificate was "a symbol of my deep appreciation for a lifetime of truly commendable service."

Mr. Warnick, after nearly 36 years of service and because of defective vision, elected to retire April 3. He began his career August 10, 1934 when the office was third class. He had two substitute clerks, Miss Dorothy Younkin and Ralph Glotfelty; two rural carriers, L. G. Bittinger, route 1, and John H. Folk, route 2, and three star carriers, "Pappy" Bell, Frostburg; Jason Wilburn, Jennings; O. C. Buckel, Bittinger. The office was housed in a red brick building which L. C. Bittinger had designed and built. Office hours were from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Once when Mr. Folk was ill and a substitute carrier not available, Mr. Warnick served as a route carrier for three days and served the remainder of the day in the office.

There have been many changes through the years. Jonas McKenzie replaced Mr. Bittinger in 1947. In 1955 Woodrow Weller replaced John H. Folk. In 1951 the office was advanced to second class. Mrs. Dorothy Y. Glotfelty became regular career clerk and the office added a temporary career clerk. After the death of Audrey Edwards as substitute career clerk, Mrs. Nancy Watkins was appointed. In 1963 the department moved into a new building owned by Emmett Friend. In September, 1963 the Jennings office was closed, causing changes in routes. There have been seven extensions to rural routes and other changes for improved service.

In 1966 Mrs. Glotfelty retired and Mrs. Earleena Tressler became substitute career clerk, and Mrs. Watkins moved to regular career clerk.

Other clerks were Casper Loechel, Woodrow Custer, Frank Stanton, Mrs. Vera V. Walker, Mrs. Grace Broadwater. Ray Jenkins has been substitute rural carrier since 1948.

In 1968 Mr. Warnick received the "Citation for Excellence" for care and beautification of the post office facility.

TO SING AT REVIVAL—"The Gospel Singing Koon Family" of Morgantown, W. Va., will be singing at the revival services at the Maryland Mountain Holiness Mission Tabernacle, on Route 495, 6 miles south of Grantsville, May 30 and 31, at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited.

The increase in the flow of mail brought also increased paper work, training and supervisory meetings for Mr. Warnick. He was Garrett County secretary of the National League of Postmasters of the United States and a member of the National Association of Postmasters.

A native of Grantsville he is the son of the late Albert and Arminta Gnagey Warnick. He is married to Grace Coddington Warnick. They have one daughter, Elizabeth Anne, whose husband, Thomas W. Fike, is editor of APLIC, a literature publishing company, in Brazil. They have four grandsons and a granddaughter.

Mr. Warnick was a student of Catherman's Business School. He is a member of the Grantsville Volunteer Fire department, serving 27 years as secretary, and is a member of Trinty United Church of Christ.

Churches Sponsor State Park Ministry

Vacationers this summer using Maryland State Parks will have opportunity to worship in the camp setting at ecumenical services conducted under the direction of the Maryland Council of Churches. These services were begun a number of years ago in the Elk Neck State Park under the direction of the North East United Methodist Church.

In cooperation with the Maryland Council of Churches and the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks the services became ecumenical and similiar services in other parks soon developed. Now nine State Parks and one National Park will have available worship services for the campers this summer.

New Germany Park will have services on Saturday evenings beginning June 13. The Cumberland Area Lutheran Council will conduct ecumenical services for campers for the second summer.

The two Parks near Oakland, Swallow Falls and Deep Creek, will have two Chaplains responsible for the ministry in cooperation with the Mountain Top Ministerial Association. The program in this area began several years ago with a survey and study of the desires and felt needs of the families using these Parks. Following the study, the Maryland Council of Churches worked with the Ministerial Association in securing the support of the local churches in the program. Over 500,000 persons use the various Parks in Garrett County each year and the responsibility of the churches to offer a ministry to those who desire it has been accepted through the State Park Ministry.

Men Of Combat Work For Peace, Pensinger Says

Men of combat, who in the defense of their country paid the supreme sacrifice, were appropriately honored in Memorial day services in Oakland and throughout the county last Saturday.

In Oakland Lt. Col. William Pensinger, retired air force officer, spoke of the men who died in battle as dying for the future, "the future of this nation and the future of freedom. On this Memorial Day we must take up their commitment to the future."

"We in the air force, along with all Americans in uniform, realize that in committing ourselves to the future we must continuously work for peace. The role of the serviceman today is complex and demanding.

"In addition to his primary mission of being ready to fight if necessary, he is frequently required to be teacher, humanitarian, linguist and diplomat. He must understand and have compassion for the people among whom he lives. He is required to perform services in all sorts of civic and humanitarian action programs, from assistance in agriculture and public health to education and flood relief.

Col. Pensinger quoted talks by General of the Army Omar Bradley on why American had to fight wars, and Arthur Godfrey who told of a man he had met in Vietnam, member of a special forces group, who was doing what he had to do but without an ounce of hate in his heart. His every thought was of peace and how to bring health and abundance to the weary people on earth.

PROGRESS REPORT—With the land for the new Community College having been mostly cleared last fall and most of the fills needed having been filled, workmen for William A. Shirer, contractor, are shown pouring some of the concrete footers for the three buildings which will be erected. The three buildings include one building to house the boiler room, lounge, an administrative area for president and staff, and a multi-purpose auditorium which will seat some 300; one classroom building 216 by 129 feet and a gymnasium 74 by 102 feet. Complaint Bill Dismissed By Judge's Order

Strike Of Road Workers Termed An Illegal Action

A bill of complaint filed by Local Union, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, and Wellington J. Sowers, Ernest Friend and George Vitez, requesting the court to grant a declaratory decree declaring that the Commissioners had acted in an unconstitutional, illegal and unlawful manner in discriminating against the workers and the union, was dismissed by an order of court signed by Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill in an opinion handed down on Wednesday morning. He also ordered the complainants to pay the costs of the proceeding.

In his eight-page opinion Judge Hamill pointed out that the facts were practically undisputed, that the commissioners were an instrumentality of government with general and specific powers as an instrumentality of the State of Maryland; empowered and delegated to maintain the roads system of the county.

"During the year 1959 the Commissioners, in order to define the relationship between the Commissioners and employes, entered into a written agreement setting forth the hours, working conditions, wages, holidays and other matters dealing with the employment of the county road employes . . . . The latest of such contracts was entered into in June of 1968 and was for a two-year duration, to end June 30, 1970.

"On August 2, 1969 the Commissioners were advised by representatives of the union that the bulk of employes of the roads department had chosen the APSCME as their representative. On January 1, 1970 employes of the roads department met, and by resolution thereby assigned right, title and interest in the Roads Employes association in the agreement to the union. The evidence shows that at no time were the Commissioners consulted concerning any such assignment, nor were they requested to consent to any such assignment."

In March, 1970 a meeting was held with the Commissioners when the road worker representatives and union officials requested the commissioners to recognize the union as spokesman. The Commissioners stated at that time that it would meet with the association but refused to meet with employes as long as the meeting was between commissioners and the union.

Judge Hamill's opinion noted that no other requests for any other meetings were made to the Commissioners by any member of the Road Employes. On April 7 the road employes and acting county supervisor failed to report to work and picketed county roads installations, stating they were on strike for recognition of their union.

The commissioners then ordered striking employes back to work with failure to return to work constituting a violation of a direct order, with subsequent dismissal. It was pointed out that on April 13, thirteen of the 139

Thirteen Killed On State Highways

Thirteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week, according to the survey published by the State Police. Four of those killed were drivers, five were passengers, and four were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in two of the deaths, speed in nine, and "driver error" in all but one.

"Speed does kill! Last week's figures certainly substantiate the evidence which already exists," noted Lt. Col. W. H. Conroy, deputy superintendent of State Police.

Compiaint Bill

employes showed up as willing to work but because of extensive and "exuberant" picketing and possibility of violence, the acting roads supervisor advised the men not to attempt to work until their safety could be guaranteed.

"With regard to the right of the road workers to strike, there does not exist in the state of Maryland any statutory authority authorizing a public employe to strike against his public employer . . . . A strike of a public employe for any purpose is illegal."

It was the opinion of the court that the strike instigated by the road workers was an illegal strike and that "by refusing to report for work at a time designated by the County Commissioners, the said Commissioners were justified in discharging them." The strike is considered illegal because the men were still under a working contract with the county which did not expire until June 30 and there are no intervening circumstances which justify this strike. "Had the strike not taken place until after the expiration of the contract the situation might be different," the opinion declared.

The opinion continues: "The Union argues that it is being discriminated against because the County Commissioners refused to negotiate a new contract with them, but would be willing to negotiate a new contract with the county roads employes association, and this argument also might have some merit if the men had continued to work out their contract to June 30." "It can hardly be said that the Union is being discriminated against by the County Commissioners in refusing to negotiate with them, in view of the fact that the Union condones and in fact, supports what the court has already ruled to be an illegal strike; and since the Court further holds that the men have been legally discharged by the Commissioners, the Union has no legal status in this case."

It was also pointed out that it was the opinion of the court that the State of Maryland had not yet seen fit to require mandatory collective bargaining by public employers, with the exception of the field of education.

Just what course of action will ensue, is not known. County roads have deteriorated since no work has been done since April 7. The Commissioners are asking for bids for work on county roads by contractors.

Improvements Are Decided Upon at Council Meeting

Several improvements were decided upon at the regular monthly meeting of the Mayor and Town Council, held Monday, June 1, at 7:30 p.m., with all members present.

Lighting at the City parking lot, which was discussed at a previous meeting, is to be changed to two directional flood lights located in the middle of the parking lot.

A mercury vapor light is to be installed on Dennett Road near the Highland Park Dairy.

It was decided to include in the 1970-71 budget, funds to tar and chip Woodland Drive and Willow Lane.

Also in reference to streets, the Mayor and Town Council decided to inspect the town streets. They will meet at City Hall Tuesday, June 9, at 2 p.m., to make the tour.

They decided to put in the budget, $2,500 to be added to the summer recreational program at the Center Street school.

The Council appointed Allen Naylor to serve as alternate to the "Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice."

Two new ordinances were passed: one to increase the water and sewer tap charges and the other to establish fees for building permits. The new fees are $25.00 for a new building, $5.00 to erect a sign, and $5.00 for an addition to an existing building.

A summary of the financial report follows: Bal. May 1, $31,-552.75; Receipts, $66,229.00; Expenses, $90,247.76 (including treasury bills of $58,977.60); Bal. on hand June 1, $7,533.99.

Men Of Combat

as the new patriotism, one not glorifying war and victory but a healer, desperately needed to bind the wounds of a ravaged world. Col. Pensinger added: "It doesn't matter what Service the man belongs to or what his rank. He is an American, living, working and fighting for peace and freedom.

"In his living, in his working and in his fighting, we find perhaps the real meaning of Memorial Day. That those who died while serving their country should be remembered not for their death alone, but for their life and their accomplishments. Not only that they died fighting for a cause, but that they also lived and worked for that cause."

He declared: "Those cynics who deride patriotism and faith seek to convince us that these men went blindly and fought blindly while they cursed the impersonal fate which led them through the darkness of combat. I have never believed this. I never shall. No American worthy of the name can accept this cynical counsel of despair. We know that when men have been long in battle and have thought deeply about their situation, there comes at last the awareness of ultimate responsibility —that one man must go ahead so that a nation may live.

"Today it is sometimes unfashionable to speak of patriotism and idealism, to fly the flag, to proclaim in depth what America stands for and what our freedoms cost us. Nevertheless we believe in the meaning of all these, and it was this deep belief that motivated those we honor today.

He pointed out the observations of General Bradley as being timely today and how true and timely also is the meaning of the words in the Academy motto, 'Duty, Honor, Country.'"

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Samuel VanSickle, who passed away June 5, 1966.

Our father was a quiet man,
Beloved by one and all.
Everyone who knew our dad
Fond memories can recall.
He lived a very humble life,
Content with what he had.
We never heard him complain.
He farmed the land most of his life,
And planted seeds in season.
The seeds he sowed the deepest,
Grow in our hearts and reason.
He taught us right from infant up
By living it each day.
He gave us many gifts in life that money can not buy,
The gifts of honesty and truth.
We treasure very high he taught us to be thankful for whatsoever things we had.
Most of all we are thankful we had him for our dad.

Nurse Club Wins Third In Mental Health Contest

The Future Nurses and Health Careers club of Southern High school, Oakland, has won third place in the 1970 Katherine B. Cullison Memorial Mental Health Award competition, and last Thursday afternoon Louis J. Randall, field representative, Western district Maryland Association of Mental Health, presented a plaque to Miss Judy Sherwood, president of the Southern organization. The presentation was during a regular meeting of the county association held in the First National Bank community room.

Purpose of the award is to encourage interest and activity on the part of high school students in mental health. The winning school also receives funds toward carrying out the submitted project.

The project submitted by the Southern group was "The Foster Grandparent Project." The 25 members of the club "adopted" patients from the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing home as "grandparents." The project involved visiting patients, performing small services for them. With $25 presented to the club through Mrs. Helen Baumgartner, president of the local health unit, the club bought twenty dozen eggs to color with the "grandparents" for Easter.

The award was made possible through a bequest from the estate of the late Katherine B. Cullison.

Robert Rodeheaver, principal of Southern High, attended the meeting along with members of the Future Nurses group.

Mrs. Baumgartner said that each year the county Mental Health association sends 11th and 12th grade girls to a summer work program in the Springfield State hospital. This year the candidates are Sylvia Crosco, Ruth Hesse, Mary Harsh and Reba Long, from Southern. Mrs. David Wilson, the former Mary Lou Teets, Southern High instructor, is adviser to the group.

Some 3,000 protesters surged into downtown Baltimore for anti-war rallies tieing up rush-hour traffic.

For Grandfather's Day

Today I stand before a monument to you, but it is marble, and its coldness cannot carry the profound meaning of those who gave you the flame of life and passed it to me as my family right. On Father's Day this significance asserts itself.

The ablest phychiatrist cannot replace the parent; if this is true, how could anyone place value upon a good grandfather? No man will ever look at me as astutely as you, Grandfather, for when those knit brows or bright eyes came face to face with me, there was no shamming, and deep within I realized that is was my duty to live up to the goodness of your name.

As you were a farm grandfather, you never needed to do much by way of teaching, as your treatment of animals and plants taught us kindness and patience, the realization that to other vital things we are related, and that the whole round of doing well is a wheel of understanding growth, learning, and doing work responsibly. We never tired of hearing stories of another youth, perhaps of flails used upon the barn floor, gathering maple sap, making wooden wheels when they were soaked to a size, and using only winter months for the school perched several hills away. It took Grandfather, not so involved in a falsely busy day, to explain how corn makes its tassels, how a grindstone has a proper speed, and how sometimes trees do go crooked as the wind whips them. You somehow always had a joke saved for the time when the family had its picnic, or a dime for the child you met "in town."

How we watched you successfully bring in the swarm of bees with a noisemaker! These country remembrances are never erased by paved avenues and planned water fountains.

Summer vacations at the farm featured daily drawing cards for riding the hay wagon, singing up into the empty silo for a glorious echo, finding a trout in the spring, or even delving into the book of calving dates, only to have it retrieved with little explanation. It didn't take too long to find the best strawberries in the pasture corner after a kind hand pointed out the first ones, nor did it require any preaching when potatoes were offered to a neighbor in need. We were learning what is meant to be a true neighbor.

Many of our ventures became your successes, too, for even more than our parents did you appreciate what we had done by earning a school letter, stacking a substantial woodpile, or taking a part-time job involving sacrifice. What meant more, you looked at us straight and said, "That's good," with no fancy joking or casual praise.

It wasn't too often that you became eloquent, but once there were remarks about a neighbor farmer who was seen looking at the sky and trees as he did some plowing, stopping to see this matter of creation, and then the abstruse lesson, "I realized that he was looking at all these things that have been put here for us. I was always too busy to do anything like that, but he was really right." And no answer came, but our throats were tight, and the speech remains after decades.

And so this is your true monument, as for other grandfathers, the only one you would ask for, that our beings hold the image of one who never became exalted, but used his own way of life as a vital link in the existence of those who followed. That honor is the goal of every man.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Orlen Wahl, who passed away five years ago, June 6, 1965.

The Touch of His Wonderful Hands

How blest to know He who created
Each rose and each new budding tree
In loving compassion has said,
"My grace is sufficent for thee!"
Whatever the heartache or sorrow,
How good to know God understands,
And that there's new hope for tomorrow
In the touch of His wonderful hands!

CLEARING BROADFORD DAM—A bulldozer of Oliver "Bud" Riggleman, Moorefield, clears the area of what will be the Broadford Dam, last of a series of Soil Conservation projects for flood control, recreation and additional water supply. When completed the water will cover some 140 acres of land, about three times the size of Herrington lake, west of Oakland. The dam is located between Deer Park and Mt. Lake Park, along Old Deer Park road. Work began on the project May 6 and most of the timber and underbrush have been cleared. They began Wednesday to work on the dam itself. They must dig a trench of 20 some feet deoth, then drill deeper to further anchor the breast of the dam. Dick Kerslake is government representative on the project and Walter Patey, inspector, both of Hagerstown.

Teachers Await Budget Decision By Commissioners

The Garrett County Teachers association is awaiting with much interest the decision of the County Commissioners in regard to the 1970-71 school budget, according to Wayne R. Johnson, president, who declared this week the budget was actually less than last year by using the $148,000 appropriation by the Governor for education.

Mr. Johnson pointed out the teacher package negotiated by the GTCA and the Board of Education amounted to about $132,-000, which provided an increase of $100 on the base salary to $6,000 beginning salary, lowest in the state by $400.

He also declared the starting salary of $6,000 here was $841 below the state's average. He said the average increase approved and funded over the state was 4.6 percent with the county's proposed increase 1.7 percent. He declared he hopes the Commissioners would grant the request in order to "maintain the order and negotiations in good faith that has prevailed."

Bruce High Trims Southern 12 to 5

Five walks and two singles in the second inning yesterday netted the Bruce High Bulldogs five runs and set them off to a 12-5 victory over Southern High in the district class B-C semi-final at Frostburg State College.

Bruce was trailing the Rams 2 to 1 going into the home half of the second inning when Southern pitcher Larry Dawson gave up walks to two men plus a single which loaded the bases.

After an out two others drew consecutive free passes to send three runs across the plate. DiSimone took over but was greeted by a single that drove in another run. DiSimone then uncorked the first of three wild pitches to allow another one across the plate to boost the score to 6-2.

Bruce got another run in the third. In the fourth Southern picked up three runs to move within two at 7-5.

Don Uphole opened the fourth with a single, moved to second on Jim Inscoe's sacrifice bunt and scored on Frederick's three bagger to left center. Donnie Wilt followed with his third hit of the day to score Frederick. A misplayed grounder sent Wilt home.

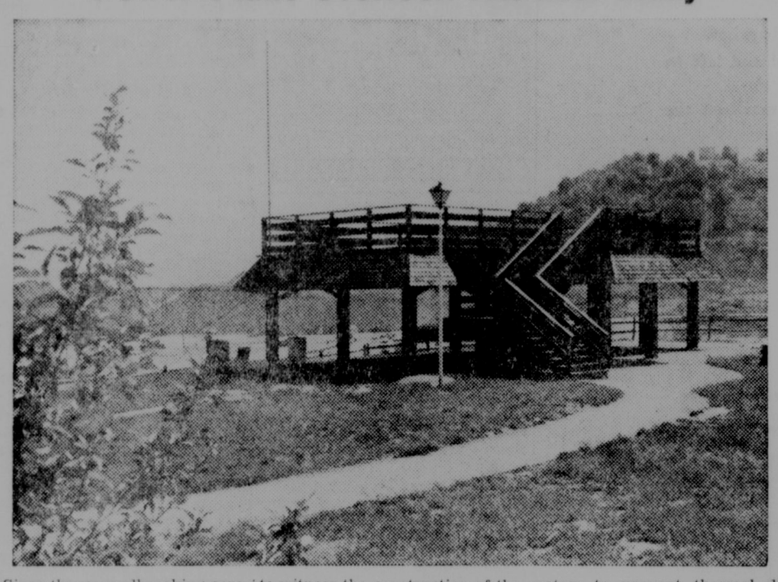
Power Plant Overlook Attracts Many



Since the groundbreaking ceremonies in August of last year the visitors' overlook at the new Harrison Power Station has received thousands of interested spectators. The overlook allows visitors a panoramic view of the 300-acre plant site at Haywood in Harrison County, W. Va.

Many flowering, ornamental trees have been planted at the overlook this spring to add to the beauty of the setting. Picnic tables, surrounded by shade trees and grassy lawns, are available at all times. Adequate parking is available.

The general public is invited to witness the construction of the gigantic power station from this vantage point which is a safe distance from the actual construction.

Construction of the Allegheny Power System station is progressing with a work force now of more than 350. At peak periods of construction there will be approximately 1,300 construction workers employed at the station. Company officials estimate that the construction payroll on the station will total some $60,000,000.

Construction will begin soon on the two cooling towers at the station which recirculate cooling waters to prevent thermal discharge from entering the West Fork River as the result of normal plant operation.

Work will also begin soon on the huge stacks which will be equipped with electrostatic precipitators that will eliminate more than 99 percent of the flyash from the stack exhaust.

The three Allegheny Power System Companies—Monongahela Power, West Penn Power Company and The Potomac Edison Company—serve a population of more than 2,500,000 in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Virginia, Maryland and West Virginia.

Seeks Permission To Construct Lake In Canan Valley

Permission to build a 750,000-kilowatt pumped-storage generating station and a 7,200-acre lake near Davis, West Virginia, in Canaan Valley was sought this week by Monongahela Power Company and its two sister electric companies in the Allegheny Power System.

Application for the pumped-storage license was filed with the Federal Power Commission in Washington. Cost of the project is expected to exceed $100 million.

The lake, according to the utility's proposal, in addition to serving as the lower reservoir for the pumped-storage project, will be developed for recreational use. The proposed name is Blackwater Lake.

The pumped-storage operation will require a second reservoir. This will be an impoundment of 500 acres located 900 feet above Blackwater Lake's lower reservoir.

The plans filed with the Federal Power Commission call for virtually all of the power generation facility, with the exception of a transformer switchyard and transmission lines, to be underground if geological testing and engineering studies prove this to be feasible. The power house would be in a chamber located about 500 feet beneath the surface. Tunnels, 30 feet in diameter and over a mile long would connect the upper and lower reservoirs.

In their application to the Federal Power Commission the electric companies proposed to build access roads to the lake and provide boat launching, camping and picnicking areas, an information center and other facilities as well as parking areas for fishermen.

The Davis project will give the Allegheny Power System an additional 750,000 kilowatts of energy during the maximum use periods or during emergencies.

Additional West Virginia coal will be burned at the steam generating plants of APS to provide the water-pumping energy. At the pumped-storage site, however, there will be no combustion, only the movement of water back and forth through underground tunnels. The maximum fluctuation in the level of Blackwater Lake, which will act as the lower reservoir, will be four feet.

Events Above The Mountain Top

Paul S. Frank, Jr.

Paul S. Frank, Jr.

Only two planets may be seen without difficulty this week. Both are visible in the evening sky. Jupiter is in the south near the star, Spica. Venus is in the west. Venus is the brightest star-like object in the sky.

The moon rises between 5:30 a. m. and 10:30 a. m. during the week. It may be seen as a crescent in the early evening. On Tuesday at 4 p. m. the moon passes through its apogee. This farthest distance from the earth during the month is 251,400 miles.

The day continues to grow longer and longer. At 5:51 a. m. the sun appeared in the sky today. It will leave at 8:41 p. m. Next Wednesday sunrise is at 5:50 a. m. and sunset is at 8:44 p. m. June 10 will have four minutes more of sunlight than there was today.

Near Jupiter in the south sky, there is a bright blue star. This is the fifteenth brightest star in the sky. It is in the constellation Virgo. Virgo represents the goddess of the harvest. She appears in the spring and leaves the sky after the harvest in the autumn. The name of the star is Spica. One can find Spica by "following the arc of the Big Dipper's handle to Arcturus and the spike to Spica."

In the planetarium this week, Mr. Stemple will bring 9B from Southern to study the ocean of air and winds of the world. Mrs. Whitehair will bring French II, 8A, and 8B to study the spring constellations in French. On Tuesday the Mt. Savage high school will visit to study the North Circumpolar constellations.

Allegany Appeal Case Moved Here

An appeal to a Workmen's Compensation Commission ruling, scheduled in Allegany County Circuit Court June 2, has been transferred to Garrett County Circuit Court by Judge James Getty at the request of the appellant.

The appeal was brought by Mrs. Evelyn H. Shaw, Frostburg, against the Tri-State Oxygen Co., Cumberland, and the Travelers Insurance Co.

Mrs. Shaw, in a claims proceeding instituted June 1966, sought damages as a result of the death of her husband, Theodore Shaw, who, she claims, died as a result of an accidental injury arising out of the course of his employment.

In April 1969, the Workmen's Compensation Commission found that Mr. Shaw did not sustain the injury at work and disallowed Mrs. Shaw's claim.

An appeal was filed to have the case heard in the Allegany County Circuit Court but Mrs. Shaw's attorney, Milton Gerson, requested that the case be moved to another county. Judge Getty then ordered the case be moved to Garrett County.

Service for Stem Boy Held Saturday

A funeral service for Jeffrey Allen Stem was held last Saturday, May 30. A Requiem Mass was celebrated at 9:30 a. m. by Rev. Regis F. Larkin, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic church, of which the youth was a member. Interment was in the Garrett Memorial Gardens.

Jeffrey died Wednesday, May 27, as a result of a bike-auto collision the previous week.

He was a ninth grade student at Southern High school. He played in the Pony League baseball and junior high baseball.

Besides his parents, Clarence Leo and Shirley Fern (Stonesifer) Stem, he is survived by six brothers, C. Gregory Stem, Westminster; Michael Stem, stationed with the air force in Mississippii; Karl, Kenneth, Thomas and Scott Stem, all at home; seven sisters, Martha, Cynthia, Cheryl, Kathryn, Sheila, Debora and Victoria Stem, all at home.

The Rosary was recited at the Minnich Funeral Home, Friday evening.

Faster pull-out may create an all-volunteer Vietnam force by the summer of 1971, so say Pentagon sources.

THE DOOR through which hundreds of laughing brides and grooms have made their exit in a shower of rice.

THE DOOR through which a thousand babies have been brought for holy baptism.

THE DOOR through which tens of thousands have entered to worship God and left to serve mankind.

THE DOOR which opens and closes countless times — always leaving its mark on the souls of men and women.

Today before THE DOOR boy meets girl. No better time. No better place.

Will their friendship blossom into love? Will they one day share that shower of rice — and bring their own child to the font?

THE DOOR cannot answer such questions.

But THE DOOR can open for them, as it does for all men, the Way to God's blessing in our dreams and our hopes.

DOWN WITH WALLS

Lesson for June 7, 1970

Background Scripture: Ephesians 1 through 2.
Devotional Reading: Ephesians 3:1-10.

Several years ago an African student who was studying in an American college told me of an experience that happened to him shortly after he arrived in this country.

Rev. Althouse

He had never been more than fifty miles from his own home and this country was so strange and different and the city in which he was attending college was so large that he felt very lonely and homesick. As a Christian (he had been born into a Christian family) he looked forward to his first Sunday in this country as an opportunity to meet some new Christian friends.

Sunday arrived and he set out for a nearby church he had noticed earlier in the week. "Everyone welcome!" a sign had proclaimd. "The Friendly Church," promised another. With a sense of happy expectation he ascended the steps in front of the church.

Your church

"Good morning," he said cheerfully to the usher at the front door. Instead of a similar response, however, there came a heavy hand on his arm, a restraining hand, and a cool, "Where do you think you're going?"

The man was smiling so the student assumed he had made a mistake. "Isn't there going to be a service at 11 o'clock?" he wanted to know. "Nigger," said the man with a humorless grin, "there's no service for you here at any time! Your church is down near the railroad station."

"Your church," the man had said as if some churches belonged to some people and other churches belonged to others. For the first time since he had joined the Christian Church, he felt a strange sense of being divided off from some of his fellow Christian. The churchdoor had become a wall.

The wall of alienation

The writer of Ephesians calls this dividedness "alienation." In addressing Christians in Ephesus who were regarded as Gentiles before their conversion, the writer is reminding them that until the coming of Christ there had been a wall dividing them from the "people of God" (the commonwealth of Israel, Ephesians 2:12). The promises that had been made to the Jews (the covenants of promise) had been beyond their reach because of this wall.

It was true that there had been a strong barrier between the Gentile and the Jew. The Hebrew laws called upon the Jew to keep himself at a distance from all unnecessary contact with Gentiles. Such contact, it was thought, made the Jew impure in God's sight.

The greatest segragation was in the house of worship. Gentiles who entered the temple area could be summarily killed for violating the sanctity of this holy place with their impurity. Thus the wall separating Jew and Christian Gentile was not just a legal wall, but a wall of distrust, suspicion, and hostility.

An eternity of space

The wall, however had been broken down now and things could never be the same. Actually, several walls had been destroyed by Christ:

Down came the wall which had separated them from Christ.

Down came the wall that separated them from the people of God.

Down came the wall that made them strangers to the promises which God had made with the people of Israel.

Down came the wall that had shut them off from God and hope.

Once an eternity of space had separated the Greek and Jew; now that eternity had been bridged because a man named Jesus had laid down his life.

There are still so many walls today: walls between races, walls between regions, walls between classes, walls between generations. To all of us who stand on either side of these walls Christ commands as he did to the Jew and the Gentile, "Down with walls!"

A Cry For Peace
by Dwight Harvey

Every man is born free. God gives him this freedom. Governments don't have enough power to grant it. Neither can a government take away freedom. Freedom, since it is God-given, can only be taken by God.

There is one other way that a person can lose his freedom; he can give it away. Even then, he can gain it back anytime he chooses. Freedom is the greatest, most eternal gift of man.

Freedom is a personal state of mind, or soul. It is solely dependent on the individual. Democracy does not give men freedom. It only acknowledges this freedom. On the other hand, neither communism, slavery, nor bigotry can deny freedom. They can only limit the kind of things one can do with freedom, or change the conditions under which freedom is exercised.

War can also limit and change the conditions of freedom's existence. War, like slavery, cannot deny freedom; like democracy it cannot grant freedom. War is useless and it is evil. Let us stop using freedom as an excuse for evil, for war. Peace now! And freedom, too.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dignity and Work

Dear Sir:

A sign saying "We demand our dignity now" was carried by a Roads Employee picket during the recent strike by the County Roads Dept. This set me to thinking about the whole subject of work and dignity. It might help all of us to examine the meaning of these words.

The dictionary gives several meanings for the word "dignity", but the one which fits here is this one: It is a quality of being esteemed—a degree of estimation—being thought well of by others.

It is my opinion that many times the need for some recognition of one's personal worth is as important to a worker as a pay increase. Surely those in authority in any capacity should never fail to give the word of appreciation or commendation that a job well done deserves.

I firmly believe that all work can and should have dignity so long as that work performs a proper service to others and does not degrade either the worker or his fellow men. Therefore, I would suggest that all of the tasks in the Roads Depart. already have a proper dignity in that even the most menial tasks add to either the maintaining of or the actual rebuilding of roads throughout the county. I am sure this valuable service is esteemed and appreciated by our county residents and those who come into our county.

The caption on the sign seemed to assume that some outside force would give a new dignity to the worker. Who would confere this most important ingredient to the workers? Would it be labor union leaders who know very little about the special problems in this county? Would it be our Board of County Commissioners? In that regard, I have heard of the many acts of kindness extended to the men and women of the Roads Dept. by our present Board of County Commissioners. I am sure they would wish for the workers to have extended to them all of the dignity they deserve and have earned.

In my opinion, no outsider can either confer or take away one's own dignity. I believe each individual worker brings his own brand of dignity. If he has an honest interest in his work, a desire to do it well, and to find in it some meaning for his daily life, he has already found dignity. With these proper attitudes, he does not need to look for any outside force to confer it upon him.

Our own attitudes and thoughts concerning our work shape the kind of efforts we make and finally determine whether or not a given job holds any personal meaning for us. Each one of us makes a contribution to the world's wealth and well being. Work well done brings it own reward. A sense of satisfaction, a feeling that it is all worth-while makes a job both interesting and meaningful.

We do not need to look with envious eyes on those who may make more money than we do. Neither will we feel that we should "demand" that some outside force bestow "dignity" upon our work. We already have that in our own hearts and minds.

The great hymn writer, Charles Wesley, thought of work as worship. In the 18th century he wrote a hymn, still being sung in our churches.

It is entitled, Worship,—The Day's Work, and also called the Angel's Song. The words are as follows:

Forth in Thy name, O Lord, I go
My daily labor to pursue,
Thee, only Thee, resolved to know
In all I think, or speak, or do.
The task Thy wisdom hath assigned,
O let me cheerfully fulfill,
In all my work Thy Presence find,
And prove Thy good and perfect will.

Do not these inspiring words bring a new esteem for our daily tasks, whatever they may be?

Someone has said and rightly so:

"A vision without a task is only a dream,
A task without a vision is drudgery,
A task with a vision is the hope of the world".

A Nice Catch!

A nice catch of brown and rainbow trout in recent days was reported by Elbert Hershman, of Mt. Lake Park. The largest of four caught at that time was a brown trout of 21 and one-half inches, weighing four pounds. The three others were rainbow trout. The total weight was fourteen and one-half pounds. The brown trout won the award of the week at Deep Creek Lake.

The fisherman facetiously recalled the photo in last week's issue of Nelson Alexander, of Accident, displaying his parsnips, and said if Nelson would tell him how to grow big parsnips perhaps he, (Elbert) could inform him how to catch a large fish.

Mr. Hershman pointed out that these exhibits were not presented for mere publicity but for those who would rather concentrate their reading and thinking on something other than politics, crime and violence.

Penelec Alters Permit System At Deep Creek

Pennsylvania Electric Company has not issued privilege permits this year to owners of land adjoining its property at Deep Creek Lake, it was announced today by William R. Thomas, Penelec Secretary.

Hereafter, the "safety strip," which extends varying widths inland from the water's edge, will be available to the public for use in connection with the lake, free and without permit, he said.

This action conforms with provisions of an amended Federal Power Commission order extending the power company's license to December 31, 1993. Article 13 of the FPC order states, "The licensee shall allow the public free access, to a reasonable extent, to project waters and adjacent project lands owned by the licensee for the purpose of full utilization of such lands and waters for navigation and recreational purposes, including fishing, hunting, and shall allow to a reasonable extent for such purposes the construction of access roads, wharves, landings and other facilities on its land the occupancy of which may in appropriate circumstances be subject to payment of rent to the licensee in a reasonable amount."

The FPC's decision followed intervention in the licensing proceedings by the Property Owners' Association of Deep Creek Lake, Inc., Deep Creek Yacht Club, Inc., Harold H. Muma, Cyrus V. Bowers, Stewart Brown and the Penn Point Property Owners' Association.

Penelec is in the process of preparing, after consultation with appropriate agencies and others, a recreational use plan for the Lake and the safety strip which will define the uses to which the safety strip may be put by the public and which will be subject to the approval of the Federal Power Commission. Prior to final adoption and approval of the recreational plan, the following policy has been established for use of the safety strip:

1. Temporary structures presently located on the safety strip under last year's Privilege Permit may remain. A new license agreement, now being prepared, will be forthcoming shortly.

2. Adjoining landowners may continue to mow grass and remove weeds and brush.

3. Fences erected on the safety strip must be removed by June 17, as must all trespass signs on the safety strip.

4. Camping, picnicking and boat launching will be permitted only where facilities are provided, i.e. at the State Park, boat launching area, marinas or other public designated areas.

5. Existing commercial installations under 1969 Privilege Permits may continue within the confines of the designated area on the safety strip. No charge for any use of the safety strip is permissible, and new commercial use of the safety strip in connection with an adjoining business will require prior approval by Penelec.

6. Floating docks may continue to be attached to the safety strip, but permanent or stationary piers, wharves or jetties are not permitted.

Water based activities and use of the waters of the Lake by the public will continue under the regulation and supervision of the State of Maryland.

In order to protect its water rights and to meet its obligations to government agencies and bondholders, Penelec retains a safety strip approximately 25 feet wide along the 65 miles of lake shore. Owners of land behind this strip were issued annual privilege permits to utilize the section of safety strip immediately in front of their own land. Thus, they were given the privilege of maintaining and protecting the area between their own property and the water. Under the newly issued FPC regulations, the safety strip along the entire lake is open to the general public.

Deep Creek Lake was created in 1925 when the power company built an 86-foot high dam across the valley so that water from Deep Creek could be channelled to a generating station on the Youghiogheny River.

Thomas stated that, "During the past 45 years, Penelec has provided free recreational facilities for many thousands of people and the lake has served as the focal point for development of a substantial tourist and recreation business. Not only has Penelec maintained the dam, but it also pays approximately $80,000 a year in taxes to Garrett County and the state of Maryland. Furthermore, a carefully developed operating pattern controls the flow of water to prevent floods in the Deep Creek basin and to augment downstream flow in the Youghiogheny River in dry periods."

New Park Being Constructed In Nearby West Va.

Major construction is under way at the 6,014-acre West Virginia State Park in Canaan Valley, south of Davis in Tucker County.

The new state park includes the two ski slopes developed at Weiss Knob and Cabin Mountain.

A construction program will include a skiing center with lunch room, snack bar, ski shop, first aid room and administrative offices. Also to be constructed are 25 deluxe vacation cabins and a 60-room rustic lodge along with a 31-unit trailer compound. Miles of park roads, parking lots and utility and service installations are also under construction.

Snow making equipment will insure season-long usage of ski facilties.

The park, a relatively level highlight, is located at 3,400 feet above sea level with peaks a thousand feet higher surrounding the valley.

Anti-U. S. demonstrations against U.S. military action in Cambodia are world-wide especially West Berlin and London.

Will You Do Us A Favor?

We are always getting calls or requests giving a description of a certain type home, or lake cottage, or for so many acres. Sometimes for a nice farm or a well located lot. Or I want an old home worth remodeling. Even—I would consider a trade of a farm for a house or a house on a business etc.

Would you please help us take care of some of these needs and find places for some little girl or boy with a Mommy and Daddy who love them and want to provide them with a good home, but can't find one in their price range or right location. Yours might just fill the bill.

Help us find a farm for a family who loves animals.

Help us find a few acres for people who are penned up in cities and would love to stretch their legs in a hide away from congestion of the asphalt jungle.

For, you see, we are a meeting place for those who want to sell and those who want to buy. We can help both sides with their problems. People from the city have confidence in a licensed Broker and his working force, because he is a specialist in his field just like a Dr. or lawyer in their respective fields.

Give us a call at either our Oakland office or our Lake office. If we are not in—please leave your name and number with the office girl and we will call you as soon as we are available.

So when we ask you to do us a favor it really turns out to be a favor to yourself and to the person you would make happy by making another selection available to them, therefore helping them to find a home or future building place.

You will help local business places by creating more business for them. You may find a future lifelong friend. And in the end helping Garrett Co. and surrounding W. Va. to grow a little, then our boys and girls may find it a good place to stay to make a living instead of leaving us for the city.

So let's do everybody a favor.

Flag Day . . . .

It was on June 14, 1777 that the United States flag was adopted. For nearly 200 years it has been a symbol of freedom and justice. The right to fly the American flag before our homes and places of businesses is a high honor at anytime—and doubly so on the anniversary of the birth of the flag.

With this in mind it was doubly shocking on Sunday, May 17, in the Sunday Sun, to see a photo of Florida protesters carrying the American flag upside down. If those persons did that deliberately, they are no less than traitors and should be horsewhipped first, and then deported. Wherein people have failed to live up to the country's ideals, the flag cannot be blamed, no more than it is right to blame the church because members have not followed the rules and regulations of Christianity.

The flag has given us what we have today. In sentencing a youth the other day for spurning the draft

Union Caravan Parades In Peace

A caravan of cars, variously estimated from 121 to about 200, of union members spent time in Oakland last Saturday in a sympathy expression for the striking Garrett County Road workers who were fired when they failed to report for work as ordered after they walked off the job on April 7. One car count was made by an onlooker.

Cpl. Thomas E. Ruppert, Oakland, head of the State Police detachment in Oakland, said the demonstration was very orderly, including a rally in front of the court house in Oakland.

Lt. Samuel Conrad, commander of the LaVale Barracks, said about 35 cars of union members who were carrying food for families of the former road workers, departed from Baltimore Saturday morning. They were joined by contingents along the way including a group from Cumberland which met the caravan at the LaVale Plaza shopping center. At Accident local road workers joined the caravan. The contingent then went over state route 42 and passed the home of County Commissioner Hubert Friend, president of the board. From there they went to Swallow Falls and passed the home of Commissioner Ross Sines.

At the Court House a loud speaker was set up and speeches were made by visiting union members and representatives of local 1834, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Workers, AFL-CIO, and the

Found Guilty on Speeding Charge

James E. Vance of Mt. Lake Park was found guilty of speeding at a trial Tuesday afternoon in the Court of Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney, Oakland.

Vance pleaded not guilty on a charge of operating a motor vehicle at a speed greater than reasonable. He was found guilty and paid a fine of $15.00.

Casselman Area Receives Another Land Grant

The Appalachian Regional Commission has approved a Section 203 grant of $35,484 for use in land stabilization, conservation and erosion control programs in the Casselman River Watershed of Garrett County, Robert G. Garner, Maryland's Representative on the Commission announced.

The Casselman River Watershed has now received top priority under this Appalachian program for three consecutive years and it is expected that the new grant will complete the land stabilization program in that area which was initiated in 1968, Mr. Garner said.

It is expected that the current year will be the last for the Section 203 program under Appalachia, Mr. Garner noted. Allocations under this section have been very small and, for this reason, it has been necessary to concentrate the program in just a few areas in order to realize any significant impact from the program, according to Mr. Garner. Over the past five years, however, four areas in the three Appalachian Maryland counties have received benefits from this section of the Appalachian Act, he noted.

County Receives 2 Federal Grants

Two grants from federal agencies were announced for Garrett county this morning.

The Office of Economic Opportunity has approved a grant of $12,500 to support an emergency food and medical services program here according to Congressman J. Glenn Beall, Jr.

Beall said the program, administered by the county Community Action commission in Oakland, was designed to provide assistance to low income residents. The program is for three months and will serve some 1,100 persons.

Federal Water Quality administration financial support for construction of sewage facilities at Deep Creek State park was increased from $17,100 to $36,170 according to a similar announcement by Cong. Beall.

The total estimated construction cost, which is eligible for payment on a joint Federal, state basis, is $173,000. According to Congressman Beall a further grant increase is expected since the present federal grant of $36,170 represents only about 21 percent of the total cost of the construction project.

No Appeal Filed

There had been reports that the former road workers and Union officials who had filed the complaint against the County Commissioners, and which was dismissed by a decision of Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill, would file an appeal, and in fact one of the leaders of the road workers had stated that an appeal had been filed, but at nine o'clock this morning no appeal had been filed in the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit Court.

Award Contract On Deep Creek Sewage Project

Work To Begin This Month On Plant For State Park; Cost Is $737,000

The contract for construction of the sewage disposal plant at Deep Creek State Park was awarded this week to the H. J. Schneider Construction of Pittsburgh. The contract price was $737,000. The County Health department was notified of the acceptance of the bid on Monday, according to Charley B. Miller, sanitarian. Mr. Miller said the company planned to start moving dirt in the Park area this week.

The contract calls for a collection system from all sections of the park with a main to be laid up the side of Meadow Mountain, inside the park, to the top of the mountain. The effluent would be moved up the mountain by a series of lift pumps, to a prepared settling bed, where it would be sprayed over the area through an aeration process. Ultra violet light rays would do much of the purifying during the aeration process.

Most of the funds for the system would come from the state but federal aid is available through the Water Pollution Control Act, it was pointed out.

The dire need of the system for the state park was noted in recent years due to the increased

Bear Here Too

Cumberland has no monopoly on black bears. A large black bear was seen last night by Eugene Matthews and nephew in the Underwood section. It was grazing with the cattle and Matthews thought at first it was an Angus cow.

Both the spectators were on foot and when they realized what the animal was they wasted no more time in moving away. The bear ambled toward the old stone quarry in that vicinity.

A black bear, about 350 pounds which had roamed Cumberland streets late Tuesday and early Wednesday, was killed near city hall by police officer Paul Bennett.

Dirt Is Moving On B. and L. Site

Dirt began to move Wednesday at the site of the Bausch and Lomb plant, east of Mt. Lake Park, it was learned.

The Sensenbaugh company, of Cumberland, has the contract for clearing and grading the land. The company moved some of its heavy equipment to the site on Monday and began operations yesterday.

James Muntz is project engineer for the building and he arrived in Oakland last week. He is a representative of Algernon and Blair company, the architect, engineer and contractor for the construction work.

Youth Injured in Fall From Tractor

A Deer Park youth was injured last Saturday afternoon when he fell from a tractor on old Rt. 135 in Deer Park.

Ronald Perando of State Rt. 135 near Deer Park and Ralph Filsinger were walking toward home when two Uphole boys on a tractor invited them to ride. They accepted and as they passed the Garrett Mfg. Co. building the tractor hit a pot hole and bounced, causing Ronnie Perando to fall from the tractor. He sustained a broken nose, dislocated lower jaw and lacerations of the face.

He was taken to the Garrett County Memorial hospital, where he had over 100 stitches to his face. He is improving but will remain in the hospital several days.

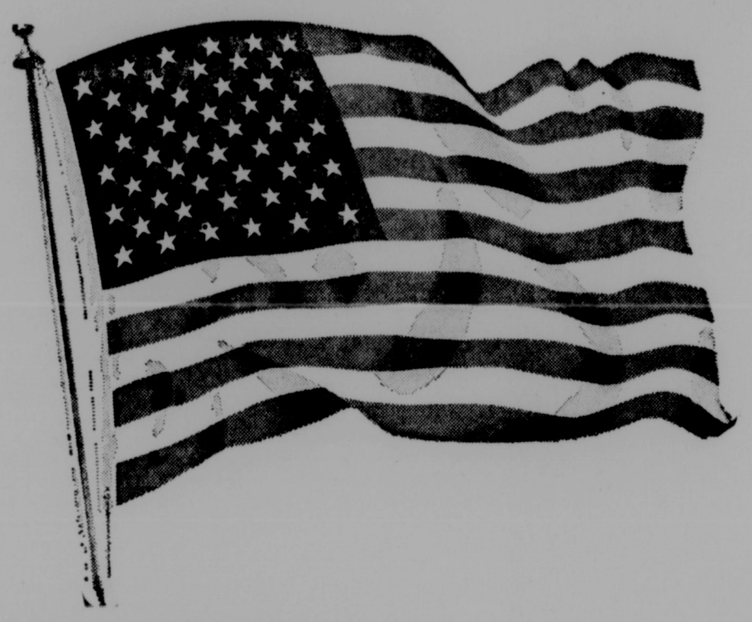
A Flag Day Message For Our Youth



America...

Back It! Don't Buck It!

Our American Flag, the symbol of stability in a changing world, is stronger today than it has ever been. We as Americans must insure that it continues to be the symbol of liberty, justice and equality to all peoples.

In times such as these, when dissent and debate are so important and so necessary, let us not forget our most solemn purpose for dissent...to help make our nation a better place in which to live.

Let us always work for the noble causes which benefit all of mankind, but let us never get so "wrapped up" in our causes that we jeopardize our nation's basic freedoms which were won for us by our forefathers.

Impatience is necessary if we are to keep worthy causes alive, but we must never resort to violence to get our points across. Violence, in itself, is a complete disregard for the welfare of everyone, and it has no place in the American way of life.

Let us further remember, that America is already the greatest nation ever established on this earth. We've done more for racial equality than other nations have ever dreamed of. We take better care of our poor, our aged, our unemployed, our mentally ill, our diseased and our orphaned than even WE thought possible twenty years ago. Living conditions for the average Americans are the highest in the world. Conditions in our poorest ghettos are still much better than the average living conditions in many Central American, South American, African and Asian countries.

Americans today have more personal freedoms than any other people have ever experienced. We work less, we play more, we eat better, we spend more, we dress better and we possess more material things than any other nation of people.

Finally, and probably our proudest achievement as a nation, we care what happens to the other people of the world. That's why we send countless millions in foreign aid, and countless thousands of young men to other nations that those countries might experience some of the basic freedoms that we enjoy and so often take for granted.

In light of the things Americans have already accomplished, anything seems possible for a nation dedicated to those high principles possessed by our forefathers.

Change will come, as change surely must, but it must be the slow and gradual change which tends to strengthen our nation's fibers, rather than tear us apart.

So, don't sell America short. She needs your support now.
BACK IT...DON'T BUCK IT!

Rights of Way Are Among Items Board Discusses

Rights of way were among the items discussed at the regular meeting of the County Commissioners, June 1.

Theodore Laskey inquired about proposed relocation of the road from U. S. 219 to Glendale bridge. Mr. Laskey informed the board that in event of relocation of road as concerned his property, that right of way would be readily available.

It was different in another area. Fred Thayer and Stewart Brown, the latter of Baltimore, informed the board that property owned by the latter may be involved in State Roads commission plans for rebuilding state route 135 with a possible relocation near Altamont bridge, requiring land possibly from Mr. Brown. Mr. Brown told the board that plans had been made for developing his property and that relocation may seriously affect the plans. He made suggestions to the SRC regarding relocation.

Dr. Raymond O. McCullough, county superintendent of schools, discussed the matter of teacher salaries with the Board.

Lester Bittinger asked for an appropriation for the Oakland band for the fiscal year, and consideration was promised when other budgets were reviewed.

Church Women Meet

The L C W of Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, met May 17, in the church with six members present.

Mrs. Herman C. Meyers presented the topic, "How Does Your Faith Travel?" Concerning missions, the program consisted of interviews with missionaries and various women who attended the L C W Convention in Chicago in 1968.

Mrs. Ernest Handwerk was sent a dish garden from the group while she was hospitalized at the Community Hospital, Meyersdale, Pa.

A total of nineteen memberships was submitted to the Auxiliary to the Lutheran Old People's Home, Zelienople, Pa.

The next meeting will be held June 14, with Mrs. Kenneth Buckel leading the topic, "Women of Tanzania."

14 Are Killed On State Highways

Fourteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the survey published by the State Police. Seven of those killed were drivers, four were passengers, and three were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in three of the deaths, speed in six, and "driver error" in eleven.

"It is the responsibility of each driver to see that his vehicle is in proper operating condition," noted Lt. Col. W. H. Conroy, Deputy Superintendent of the State Police. "A car with defective equipment or mechanisms is, of course, a hazard at any time, but it becomes an even more serious situation when weather conditions are poor."

The Junior Woman's Civic club of Oakland announced this week that Merlin Wayne Trickett had been awarded the 1970 scholarship.

Mr. Trickett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Trickett, route 1, Oakland. He is a student at Glenville State college, Glenville, W. Va., where he is majoring in biology and general sciences.

Caravan

Maryland District of Columbia AFL-CIO.

Following the rally the cars went to the National Guard armory where food was distributed to families of the discharged men.

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill had ruled last Wednesday that the workers' strike had been illegal and dismissed the bill of complaint brought against the Commissioners by the road workers and the union.

The City of Oakland normally issues a parade permit 30 days in advance but Mayor H. D. Swartzentruber made an exception and gave one for Saturday, but limited the parade to certain streets. The caravan entered the town from Liberty street.

Cash Distributed

The union sympathizers brought with them last Saturday a total of $2,192 in cash, contributed by individuals, local and state labor councils. In the total were $200 from Governor Mandel and $200 from U. S. Senator Joseph Tydings. The Western Maryland Central labor council contributed $1,000 and the Maryland-D.C. Central labor council $150.

It was revealed that some $20,000 had been received for distribution among road workers since the strike of April 7.

Waste Not . . .

Part of man's problem with garbage disposal is that he hasn't fully learned nature's secret of never wasting anything. But he is learning.

In Sweden, a suburb of Stockholm is building a new electric plant, which will burn garbage and turn the heat into electricity. Not only will 650,000 tons of Stockholm garbage be turned into a useful product—16 million watts of electricity—but the revenue from sale of the electricity will reduce the sanitation budget.

Reclaiming garbage is not necessarily easy, nor does it always save money. It is possible that the Swedes must use special furnaces to burn the garbage, making it more costly to use than other fuel.

But it also is extremely costly to use present methods of disposing of garbage. And most cities are finding it hard to obtain sanitary landfills to dump their daily waste.

Someday, perhaps, civilization will be forced to go all the way to turn garbage into something useful.—Contributed.

Flag Day . . .

and refusing to be inducted, Judge V. Singleton, Jr., said, "Youths have an obligation to this country for benefits they get from living here."

There is a slogan for this present day: America—love it or leave it. It is an excellent idea.

There are many evidences of improvement as far as patriotism and respect to the flag are concerned. This was a bumper year for the stars and stripes. The number of Americans who show patriotism by flying the flag is growing. The use of flag decals, bumper stickers, earrings, cufflinks and tiepins in the flag motif is increasing. Police have begun wearing American flag patches. Every room of every public school in Maryland now displays the American flag. Its adoption was sponsored by the American Legion. Governor Mandel has signed into law a statute which requires a salute to the flag of the United States.

The increase in orders for flagpoles has been enormous. Factory workers wear sew-on and iron-on flags on shirts.

The flag is for all ages, as was evidenced by a 71-year-old woman who, upon seeing those Florida hippies with the flag upside down, wrested the flag from the protesters, saying her husband died in World War I, and scolded them for their act. Another person declared, "I think you have a perfect right to protest but that flag gives you the right. My father died in World War II so that you would have a place to live." Yes, this is the time to honor the flag.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Open Letter To Garrett Countians

Folks what does it take to make yon angry enough to demand something be done about our roads? People are wrecking cars due to the roads condition. We're paying for road maintenance. I don't lay the blame on any one person but I say let's fix the roads! New employees should be hired, given National Guard protection and get to work! The Commissioners should run an ad in this paper giving notice that it wants employees, showing pay they will receive, showing benefits and showing that they'll be expected to work for their pay. Any former employee who desires to go back to work should also apply for reinstatement.

Now this bunk about the drivers keeping keys is another item which burns me and should be unacceptable to you fellow taxpayers. For one thing duplicate sets are made and should be kept in a safe place. Secondly, if each driver is given an ultimatum to turn over the keys or pay a $100 fine, I'm sure that little problem will be solved. It appears to me that we have a bit too much laxity in handling of what should be trivial matters.

GENTLEMEN IN CHARGE: We urge you to go ahead with your duties to Garrett County.

Thomas E. Doyle

—o—

Friendsville, Md.

To the Editor:

I am writing you with regard to the County Road Dept. strike. I, like many others feel that the differences must be resolved. Altho the men are worthy of a raise, this strike and violence was no way to obtain it. So until a referendum can be used to settle this, I believe the workers should be reinstated with the conditions of the referendum, retroactive to the time of reinstatement. I think this would be fair and equitable to everyone.

Hopeful that a settlement can be reached, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
Gene Benedict

—o—

Dear Sir:

The County Commissioners were found to be on the right side of the law as the decision from the Court indicates. We respect the decision of the Court and glad to have the decision explained by Judge Hamill.

However, it must be remembered that the decision of the Court does not in any way relieve the Commissioners of their responsibility for providing and maintaining, in a safe condition, the roads of the county. The decision on the part of the Commissioners to discharge the employees should have been considered in the light of the alternatives, remembering their responsibilities to all in Garrett County.

Mr. Sines and Mr. Friend offer very emotional reasons for their actions regarding the present situation we have with our county roads. I invite other Poor Tax Payers to join me in appealing to these men to take some responsible action and exercise judgment and positive moves toward getting work done on our county roads. What would have been minor repairs are now of major proportions. We have machines and properties depreciating from non-use. There is no saving in costs to the county by delay, only increased costs and inconvenience to users of our county roads.

It is alarming to learn of an accident caused by unsafe conditions of the road resulting in bodily injury. The responsibility and liability for the roads of our county is in the hands of our commissioners, Not a Roads Engineer, not former employees. The responsibility would have been no less, if there would have been bids submitted by contractors.

In the departments of service of the county, we would have to assume that employees are important for the functioning of these departments. It might be said that the county needs employees as badly as the employees might need the county as an employer.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias

Let American POWs Know That We Care

All Americans, whether they are Hawks or Doves, whether they are owls or crows, agree on one thing about the war in Vietnam and that one thing is the criminal attitude of the government in Hanoi toward the treatment of American prisoners of war. I call it criminal because it is clearly a violation of international law.

The government in Hanoi had agreed to bind itself to the Geneva Convention on prisoners of war in 1957 and by that Convention, certain minimum standard treatments were prescribed and agreed to. I think that it is one of the unhappiest of the unhappy facts of this tragic war that the attempts to build a community of nations and a respect for international law have broken down so severely in this case. But, we ourselves have not been totally fair in our own treatment of American prisoners of war.

There is a provision of U.S. law which provides special compensation for American servicemen who are taken prisoner. This is compensation over and above regular pay and allowances to which servicemen are entitled whether they are on active duty or whether they are, in fact, captured and in the status of prisoners of war. This is a provision which would allot to each American who is held as prisoner the sum of $1.50 per day of captivity in which he was inadequately fed and $1 a day for each day he was forced to submit to some kind of cruel or unusual treatment such as severe hard labor. This $2.50 a day is a sum which in my judgment is totally inadequate and I have recommended that it be very substantially increased. It is a sum which was determined in the period of World War I and notwithstanding the fact that there has been a substantial inflation in every aspect of life since World War I, we have done nothing to improve the status of prisoners through compensation upon their release.

After all, this is the smallest kind of help that we can give American prisoners and to compensate them at a World War I rate is, in my judgment, an insult rather than a help. I have strenuously advocated that we modernize this part of our governmental program in dealing with servicemen. It is absolutely necessary that we increase this figure so that the men who are now prisoners of war know that we want to try to compensate them for the suffering and hardship that they are enduring and which their families are sharing with them.

This situation, again, brings to mind the cruelty of the Hanoi government in failing to provide even a list of prisoners' names so that the wives and children of these men may know whether or not their husbands and fathers are alive or dead. One of the Odysseys that I believe will go down in human history as being poignant and tragic is that of the American wives who have traveled the face of the earth, from Moscow to New Delhi, from Paris to Hanoi, seeking and hoping to find information about their husbands. I believe that their prayers will be answered, but that in the meantime, we, ourselves, must not neglect our duties to these men.

Events Above The Mountain Top

June 11 - June 17

Three planets are visible to the unaided eye this week. Venus dominates the western sky. It is in the constellation, Gemini. Jupiter is bright in the southeast sky. It is in the constellation, Virgo. Both Venus and Jupiter are seen in the evening. Saturn may be found just before sunrise in the east. It is among the stars of Aries.

The moon is waxing this week. Tonight the moon passes through its First Quarter phase at 12:25 a.m. The moon sets between midnight tonight and 3:30 a.m. next Wednesday.

Sunrise today was at 5:50 a.m. This evening sunset will be at 8:45 p.m. At the end of the week on June 17, sunrise will be at 5:50 a.m., while sunset will be at 8:48 p.m. The daylight will last three minutes longer next Wednesday.

Arcturus, fourth brightest star in the sky, is in the constellation, Bootes, the Bear Driver. This star's name may have come from the Greek word "Arktos" which means bear. We call the land of the bear the Arctic. The land of the bears is the northern region of earth. Both terrestrial bears, polar bears, and celestial bears, the Ursas Major and Minor are found there.

Will You Do Us A Favor?

We are always getting calls or requests giving a description of a certain type home, or lake cottage, or for so many acres. Sometimes for a nice farm or a well located lot. Or I want an old home worth remodeling. Even—I would consider a trade of a farm for a house or a house on a business etc.

Would you please help us take care of some of these needs and find places for some little girl or boy with a Mommy and Daddy who love them and want to provide them with a good home, but can't find one in their price range or right location. Yours might just fill the bill.

Help us find a few acres for people who are penned up in cities and would love to stretch their legs in a hide away from congestion of the asphalt jungle.

For, you see, we are a meeting place for those who want to sell and those who want to buy. We can help both sides with their problems. People from the city have confidence in a licensed Broker and his working force, because he is a specialist in his field just like a Dr. or lawyer in their respective fields.

Give us a call at either our Oakland office or our Lake office. If we are not in—please leave your name and number with the office girl and we will call you as soon as we are available.

So when we ask you to do us a favor it really turns out to be a favor to yourself and to the person you would make happy by making another selection available to them, therefore helping them to find a home or future building place.

You will help local business places by creating more business for them. You may find a future lifelong friend. And in the end helping Garrett Co. and surrounding W. Va. to grow a little, then our boys and girls may find it a good place to stay to make a living instead of leaving us for the city.

Air Quality Region Proposed For Area

The Cumberland-Keyser area has been proposed as one of five new interstate air quality regions by the National Air Pollution Control administration, according to Congressman J. Glenn Beall, Jr. Boundaries of the proposed region will include Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland; Mineral and Grant counties in West Virginia.

Confirmation of the proposed boundaries will come during consultations June 25 and 26 by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, according to Rep. Beall. Rep. Beall reported that by late summer designated air quality regions would include some 90 urban areas.

Under the Clean Air Act, the Federal government must publish air quality criteria for various pollutants deemed harmful to health or welfare and furnish technical guidelines on how to control them. The Act also provides that once the Federal government has designated a region and has published pollutant criteria and related control technology information, the State responsible for a region must develop air pollution control standards and plans to implement them.

Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

The Congress has been giving a great deal of attention recently to the drug problem. It has become clear that in stopping and reversing the spread of drug abuse on the domestic scene, it is not enough to focus our energies on drug traffic and use within the United States alone. The drug disease has global roots and will be halted completely only when its worldwide sources are eradicated.

The fact is that many dangerous drugs used in the United States, for example, heroin, hashish, and marijuana, are primarily imported and do not originate in this country. Although significant quantities of these substances can be and are being produced within our borders, the information available to the Treasury Department, which oversees all imports, indicates that the bulk of them are smuggled in illegally from other countries.

The main source of heroin supply has been pinpointed to Turkey where the cultivation of the opium poppy plant, the raw material from which heroin is produced, has been carried out legally. The raw materials for heroin in the form of morphine-base are diverted directly from legitimate medical channels into illicit production and the smuggling supply line. Morphine-base is sent illegally into European countries, notably France, where in hidden laboratories it is converted into pure or "uncut" heroin and smuggled directly into the United States through various routes.

A secondary source of heroin is Mexico, where a significant amount of this narcotic, derived from illegally cultivated opium, finds its way across the border.

The illegal importation of hashish, a potent, highly refined form of marijuana, has increased markedly during the past few years according to Treasury Department figures. Available information indicates that large quantities of this substance are smuggled by caravan through Israel by way of the Sinai Peninsula. For example, several seizures of hashish traceable to the Middle East have been made along our Canadian border. Smaller quantities also arrive from sources in India, Pakistan and Afghanistan.

Marijuana, the most widely used illicit drug, has come largely from Mexico where it has been grown illegally, pressed into two-pound blocks, and smuggled into the United States by every imaginable conveyance.

It is clear, then, that drug traffic is an international problem and that this country alone cannot completely halt the influx of these dangerous agents. International cooperation is the only solution.

Currently the United States is utilizing all available diplomatic channels to encourage foreign countries to take steps to eliminate the production of dangerous drugs and to stop drug traffic either as originators or as avenues of transit. For example, high level negotiations are underway with the Government of Turkey to make the cultivation of opium poppy plants illegal there. And, as you may have read, France is now making a major effort against heroin producers and smugglers. This, of course, is an encouraging sign.

Last November a combined program called Operation Cooperation was begun jointly by the United States and Mexico —the country through which the greatest volume of illicit drug traffic flows into the United States. In Operation Cooperation each government covers its own territory thereby giving the two countries equal responsibilities for the control of drug traffic.

This cooperation with our southern neighbor, which has led to increased air, land and sea surveillance along our common border, has proven quite successful to date in halting the flow of drugs. By virtue of the fact that it delegates equal responsibilities, I think Operation Cooperation might serve as a model for enlisting the cooperation with other countries needed to combat our growing problem of drug abuse.

As we all know, Western Maryland is richly endowed with areas of natural beauty and historic significance—areas which we, and hopefully generations to come, can be proud of and enjoy.

I was therefore extremely gratified that the Department of the Interior last week took a most important step toward the conservation of our natural and historic heritage by endorsing legislation which would establish the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Historical Park. Legislation to create such a park, which was first proposed by my father over fifteen years ago, is, in my opinion, urgently needed, and I hope that with this recent demonstration of Administration support it will be enacted soon.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, begun in 1828 and stretching 185 miles from Washington to Cumberland, is truly a unique historic and recreational resource. And, although it became a commercial failure because it could not compete in the early 1900's with the growing railroad industry — the last freighter passed through C & O locks in 1924—the Canal has achieved a perhaps more important success as a landmark in the cause of conservation.

With the reawakening of appreciation and concern for our natural environment during the past few years, the Canal has been discovered by thousands of hikers, campers, fishermen and naturalists. The proposed C & O Park legislation would I think, encourage and expand this healthy appreciation of our environment by opening the superb recreational potential of the area to all cities.

Specifically, the bill would authorize the acquisition of 15,000 acres of land over a five year period, bringing the total parkland area to about 20,250 acres. During the five years, the legislation would further authorize the development of a broad range of recreational facilities such as shelters, campgrounds, boat ramps and picnic areas. Moreover, it would provide for the restoration of historic engineering features of the Canal, including its important locks and aqueducts.

The cost of acquiring the additional acreage has been estimated by the Interior Department to be about $19.5 million. An estimated additional $25 million for park development and total cost of establishing the C & O Canal National Historical Park to about $44.5 million. This total five-year investment would be financed, according to the proposed legislation, from the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund.

Among the developments scheduled for the first year would be the construction of visitor centers, boat ramps, picnic sites and parking areas as well as the restoration of canal lift locks, lockhouses and towpaths in the North Branch and Brunswick areas. In the second year, parkland in the vicinity of Williamsport would receive an access road, boat ramp, visitors' shelter and parking facilities.

Similar park development and canal rehabilitation would be authorized during the third year for the Hancock, Antietam and Paw Paw regions. Canal restoration in these areas would affect the Four Locks and Two Locks Complex, the Paw Paw Tunnel Complex, the Monocacy River and other aqueducts, and the Dam Number 3 Complex.

For the fourth and fifth years, these kinds of developments plus others including administration and maintenance facilities, a marina for boat owners, and 35 miles of bridle trails have been proposed for other parkland areas along the Canal.

Finally, the C & O Park bill would establish an Advisory Council with public representatives from the Potomac Basin States and the Maryland Counties—namely, Montgomery, Frederick, Washington, and Allegany —through which the park will run. In addition, it would require the Interior Department to cooperate with state and local conservation agencies and interested private groups in developing and managing the park.

All this means, of course, that the people of Western Maryland would have the opportunity both to participate in and to enjoy a ful-fledged national park in which opportunities for recreation would be virtually boundless. Passage of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Park legislation by Congress I firmly believe would represent not only a perceptive and realistic approach to preserving the Potomac's great natural and historic heritage, but also a major victory for conservation in America.

Criticism - Why Won't We Use It?

By Bob Paugh

Man is a very unusual creature when it comes to evaluating himself. He wants to perform at his best, but he is unwilling to accept any criticism of his actions. To me, this is just one more example of how Man is limiting his pursuit toward excellence. If he would only take time to evaluate the criticisms to him, he could use this as a method of correcting his mistakes and avoiding future criticisms for the same error. It is my opinion that Man should use criticisms as a guide toward self-improvement. Instead of constantly patting himself on the back and telling himself of his achievements, I feel that Man should take a critical look at his accomplishments to see if there isn't some way to improve these deeds. This is similiar to proofreading a paper. If we would criticize ourselves more often, we would be more apt to improve and get rid of our mistakes.

We need to criticize ourselves as a nation, as well as individuals. If we become aware of our errors as a powerful government, and point these errors out to the correct people, we will have an effective way of becoming a more culturally advanced society. Still, after realizing the potential that criticism holds for us, our problem remains. We cannot hope to advance until we learn to accept and utilize criticism. I see no reason why we can't use criticisms as an aid, but until we realize that we are not Peter Perfect or Polly Pure, we will not accomplish this, either.

So, the next time you are criticized, don't use your time retaliating; instead, take time to evaluate the criticism and Yourself.

The Great Adventure

Simon Peter said unto him, whither goest thou? Jesus answered him, whither I go thou canst not follow me now; but thou shalt follow me afterward. Jn. 13-36.

Life is a great adventure—marvelous in variety and scope, awesome, often fearsome. It is an adventure none can refuse to take. One may be pushed along by blind fate, or drift with a haunting fear, or he may go with a confident assurance of Christian faith. But life is an adventure.

What a momentous pilgrimage is that upon which every human being embarks like the baby Moses set afloat in his ark of bulrushes on the sacred Nile. So we launch on childhood's peaceful stream, later to emerge into the adolescent's stormy current, then into a strong steady manhood or womanhood or into ripe maturity, and on into life's sunset—and then, ah! beyond the sunset, life's greatest adventure beckons.

It is a mistake to think that the only adventure is beyond death's vale. Every day is an adventure. Always we live on the threshold of vast, unknown possibilities, awaiting some wise and courageous explorer.

However it is that part of life's adventure which lies beyond the mystic border we call "death" to which Easter bids us give our attention, and which Peter spoke, saying "Lord, whither goest thou? Jesus answered, "Whither I go thou cannot follow me now; but thou shalt follow me afterward."

Speak, History, and tell us, Is this adventure beyond life's sunset a new or strange subject for man's consideration? And tell us History, "What have earth's greatest souls said? What have been the deep and abiding convictions with which they lived and for which they were willing to die?

History's answer is, "According to my records, man always and everywhere has believed in immortality. Often it has been dim and poor; nevertheless he has held a faith which had to be reckoned with when his friends died and to which he could look forward through all the trials and struggles of life."

Earth's greatest souls have cherished this faith. Faith that man's greatest pilgrimage lies beyond the grave. Persistently, thoughtful men have sincerely and seriously asked. "Can the individual make the great transition and go on?

The 1970 Garrett County Crusade is at the 80.4 percent mark, with $2,815 in donations deposited toward its goal of $3,500, according to Mrs. V. Reichenbecher of Accident, general chairman.

All volunteers working on the campaign are urged by Robert Rodeheaver to turn in their donations as soon as possible. He also requested local Crusaders to "follow-up" on their assignment.

Forty percent of funds contributed to the local Cancer Crusade are used in nationally coordinated projects of cancer research and program development. Of the $22 million budget for cancer research in 1970, more than $577,000 is being spent here in Maryland for grants to local researchers and scientists.

Volkswagen with air conditioning.

The truth is the inside of the bug gets just as hot and clammy on a 90-degree day as the inside of any other car if you don't have something to cool it off.

Hence the VW air conditioner.

It's a quiet, trim, 3-speed unit that won't cut down on your leg room or luggage space.

And it won't cost you a bundle.

The minute you turn the knob to colder it starts saving on wrinkled collars and crumpled suits (not to mention antiperspirants).

But the thing that really saves you money is the package it comes in.

The Volkswagen still delivers better mileage than any domestic air-conditioned car.

It still runs on pints, not quarts, or...

The result:

It can't boil over on the hottest day of the year.

Which is more than you can say for the driver if he's not air-cooled.

New Germany Church Will Be Rededicated on 28th

Trinity United Church of Christ, New Germany, (formerly the Reformed) will be rededicated on June 28th at 11:00 a.m. Guest speaker will be Mrs. E. Roy Corman, Moderator of the Penn West Conference of the United Church of Christ. The Church Organist and Choir Directess is Mrs. Terry Tedrow. After the service, a covered-dish dinner will be held on the church lawn. All are invited. Table service and covered dish are asked.

Prior to 1848, services of the German Reforms were held in an old school house located below and east of the present structure. It was remodeled and dedicated as a Reformed and Methodist church in 1859, when the New Germany congregation was admitted to the Grantsville charge. The present building was erected in 1879, with a congregation of 40 members, at the cost of $400.00. The cornerstone was laid on Wednesday, June 4, 1879, and the building dedicated September 31, 1879.

The first Consistory included Samuel S. Durst and Charles Warnick, Elders; and C. J. Otto and W. H. Swauger, Deacons. The building committee was C. J. Otto, Asa Durst, S. D. Yutzy, S. S. Durst, Charles Warnick and Arch Warnick.

In 1937, the church nave was renovated at the cost of $1,400, and on May 1, 1938, a rededication service was held with Rev. E. D. Bright preaching the sermon.

In the spring of 1968, the congregation decided to excavate for a basement. The work was done by members and friends of the church, and was begun on August 6, 1968. The cornerstone was removed September 3, 1968 at 11:15 a.m. In it were found copies of various newspapers, a Bible, wheat grains, 3 small bottles, 1878 Flag Almanac, one 1875 half dollar and one 1876 quarter. A copy of The Republican, dated May 24, 1879, was among the items found.

On Monday evening, September 16, 1968, a service was held for laying the cornerstone, conducted by the present pastor, Ernest N. Rumbaugh, Jr.

In addition to the original contents, a yearbook of 1967, a church bulletin, a Bible, building committee names of 1968, Consistory of 1968, a list of church members, history of the church, and a brief summary of building progress were included in the cornerstone.

The total expenses for the basement were $6,520.98. The building committee included Harry W. Hummel, chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Warnick, treasurer; Harry Broadwater, Kenneth Durst, Ellsworth Beachy, Grace Shunk, Sharon Tedrow, Miles Livengood, Ercell Jenkins, and the pastor.

On January 28, 1970, the congregation voted to remodel the Nave of the building. During this period services were held in the church basement. The nave was paneled, the pews and pulpit furniture were refinished and the original hand-carved cherry altar railing was restored. The work was started on February 23rd and completed on March 27th at which time the Good Friday Preparatory Service was held in conjunction with St. John's of Salisbury. Trinity is yoked with St. John's to form the Paradise charge of which Ernest N. Rumbaugh, Jr., is the pastor. The building committee for this project included Ray Jenkins, chairman; Dorothy Warnick, treasurer; Mary Jane Parr, Helen Oester, Wilmer Hummel, Parker Warnick, William Kamp, John Livengood, and the pastor.

The cost of remodeling the nave was $1,797.55. The present membership of Trinity is 135. The present Consistory: Elders Emeritus, Samuel Otto and Willie Warnick; Elders, Ray Jenkins, William Kamp, Ellsworth Beachy and Blayne Shunk; Deacons, Mary Jane Parr, Everett Oester, Parker Warnick, Joe Wengerd, Miles Livengood and Rhoda Hummel.

The first secretary and treasurer of the church was C. J. Otto, and these positions are now held by his son, S. L. Otto.

Complete Auto Body Course

Graduation ceremonies were held last Wednesday, June 3, for those completing the Auto Body Repariman Course at Edwards garage in Grantsville. Thirteen received certificates signifying the 26 week course had been satisfactorily completed.

A total of 20 were enrolled in this course, funded by Federal Funds under the Manpower Development Training Act, when it started last December 1st. Due to several reasons 5 dropped out of the course and two had an early completion and are working in this type work.

Speaker for the graduation was Harold Myers, Western Maryland Coordinator for the MDTA programs. Mr. Myers stated that in most shops, there are painters and body men. The graduates were trained in both phases of this operation. There are some 97,000 trained Auto Body Repairmen working today and there is a great demand for this skill.

These men were paid $46.00 per week plus mileage to attend. The instructor, John P. Sinko, has now trained approximately 27 Auto Body Repairmen, and 15 Auto Mechanics. Another training program of 26 weeks for Auto Mechanics will start June 15th, at the same location. The Board of Education sets up the curriculum and pays the instructor, and secures all supplies. The Department of Employment Security, Maryland State Employment Service selects the individuals for training. Mr. James Trickett, Supervisor of Vocational Education for the Garrett County Schools, presented the diplomas. Light refreshments were served.

Deer Park Vacation Bible School Set

The Bible School program will be based on the creation story as given in the first chapter of Genesis. Each day a new part of the story will be featured and incorporated into the activities for that day.

Children from kindergarten through to the fifth grade are invited to attend the Bible School which will be on a non-denominational basis. For additional information contact one of the members of St. John's or call the Rev. John A. Grant.

Social Security Payments Sizable

Social Security payments to residents of Garrett County totaled $217,000.00 a month as 1969 ended, David R. Lynn, Social Security Representative, reported.

An increase, signed into law by President Nixon on December 30, 1969, has since raised the monthly rate of payment by 15 percent for the 3,007 social security beneficiaries in Garrett County, Mr. Lynn noted.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in this area, 1,945 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 767 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 295 are getting benefits as disabled workers or the dependents of disabled workers.

Of the 7,541 who are 18 through 21 years of age, most are getting student benefits under a provision which permits the continuation of a child's benefits past his or her 18th birthday, and up to age 22 if he or she it attending school full time.

LOOKING FOR GOD

Some say you find God just as well in a garden, in the woods, or on a golf course as in a church — that God is everywhere. But be honest about it.

Are you not more apt to think of weeds, or mosquitoes, or a poor shot than you are of God? And after all, you have made this outing to seek pleasure.

But when you go to church, it is with the specific intention of worshipping. Here you engage in prayer, praise and thanksgiving. Here you mingle with people who are seeking God and have come to feel His presence. In the quiet beauty of a church you find few outside distractions, and you know that this place is dedicated to the service of God.

For peace and happiness which comes from really feeling God's presence, worship in the house of the Lord this Sunday — make it a regular practice.

DIMENSIONS OF WORSHIP

Lesson for June 14, 1970

Background Scripture: 1 Corinthians 11; 14. Devotional Reading: John 4:19-26.

"How many worshipped yesterday morning, Reverend?" asked my mailman one Monday morning.

"Oh," I replied, "eight or ten."

"Eight or ten!" gasped the mailman. Then: "Aw, you're putting me on!" I shook my head. His incredulous tone returned: "You mean you only had eight or ten people in church?"

Rev. Althouse

"Oh," I said with mock seriousness, "you didn't ask me how many were in church, you asked me how many worshipped. There's a difference you know."

What is worship?

Of course I was "putting him on." I had known from the beginning what he meant. Yet, in the midst of this levity there was some sober truth: there is a difference between attending church and worshipping. It is the same kind of difference that exists between "leading a horse to water" and getting him "to drink."

The key, of course, is what we mean by worship. For many people worship is simply a religious "program" or a ceremony. If it entertains us — primarily through the sermon of the choir — we judge the experience favorably. Our standard of measure is what we "get out of it" or how it makes us feel.

In saying this, however, we demonstrate clearly that we have not understood what worship is intended to be. Although we do "get something out of" worship, our primary reason for worship is related not so much to what we expect to get as to what we expect to give. We are not at the center of the worship experience; God is.

When you meet together . . .

The Apostle Paul tried to get this across to the church at Corinth. Apparently this congregation had come to look upon their worship in self-centered terms. "For in eating (the Lord's Supper), each one goes ahead with his own meal, and one is hungry and another is drunk" (1 Corinthians 11:21). They were concerned with what they could get out of this experience.

So Paul had to remind them of the grounds upon which their worship was founded: "For I received from the Lord what I also delivered to you . . ." (11:23). Yet, Jesus had not given them an order or program of worship. He had devised no rituals or liturgies. What he had given to his disciples was an understanding of the dimensions of the worship experience.

First of all, he had shown them the dimension of remembrance. "Do this in remembrance of me" (11:25). Worship was to be a time of remembering, of looking back upon the past. This was not a radically new concept for the worship of the Jews was based largely upon the remembrance of the mighty acts which God had performed in the past. From this remembrance should spring gratitude, thanksgiving, humility, and even repentance.

"This cup IS . . ."

Secondly, there is the dimension of the present: "This is my body which is for you. Do this . . ." Worship was not only a remembrance of what God had done in the past, but also a recognition of what he is doing right now in our midst. When we worship we acknowledge his presence in our midst and affirm that we can reach out and draw strength and help from that presence.

Finally, there is the dimension of the future: "For . . . you proclaim the Lord's death until he comes" (11:26). We commit ourselves to the future with him, confident of what he will do with us in the days that lie ahead. Once again, however, he, not we, is at the center of this dimension of worship.

It is these three dimensions that make the difference between going to church and worshipping.

TAKE CHILDREN TO THE DENTIST EARLY

It is a natural reaction of young and old alike to be afraid of the unknown. Once exposed to a situation this fear will most often diminish or disappear altogether.

At about three years of age, it is a good idea to take your child on a "visit" with you to the dentist. Try to make it when you are just scheduled for a checkup or cleaning rather than some work. Your dentist will let the child sit in the chair for a few moments. Then, when you take the child for his first examination he will have much less fear. Discuss this with your dentist beforehand.

Miss Brenda Louise Phillippi daughter of Mrs. Ann Phillippi Oakland, and the late Harry Phillippi, Jr., and Dennis Lee Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Galen Harvey, were united in marriage Sunday, May 24, by Rev. Robert Jennings at the Deep Creek Baptist Church in a double ring ceremony at 3:00 p.m.

Mrs. June Harvey, organist, presented nuptial selections prior to the service and the traditional wedding marches. Mrs. Betty Jennings, pianist, accompanied Harrison Stewart as he sang The Wedding Prayer, With This Ring and The Lord's Prayer.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Michael Phillippi, the bride was adorned in a floor length bridal gown featuring princess A-line bouffant angel skin and Chantilly lace with ribboned satin peau with long camelot sleeves and a Victorian high lace neckline. Highlighting the gown was a floor length matching mantilla bridal veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and ivy with an orchid center.

If you need additional sleeping or living space, you may prefer to find a larger home. We'd be happy to help you at

2 Drown in Area Lake, Girl Saved

A four-year old Washington county girl is alive today, thanks to the efforts of her drowning grandfather and to two men in a boat that came to the rescue in High Point Lake, just over the Maryland-Pennsylvania line near Salisbury.

Tammy Moore survived the capsizing of the boat which was carrying her father, Wade Moore, 28, Flaysville, Pa., and her grandfather, Albert Moore, 58, Marianna, Pa. Both her father and grandfather drowned.

The boat overturned about 10 a.m., while they were fishing at Mt. Davis, throwing all three into the water. The two men managed to climb back into the boat but the girl said it overturned again. The grandfather held her head above water until a second boat reached the scene. The girl was placed aboard but the rescuers were unable to get to the men before they sank.

The grandfather's body was recovered about 2:50 p.m. The body of the father was found about 5:30 p.m., by a scuba diver team from Deep Creek Lake. Both bodies were found in 12 feet of water 100 feet off shore. Mother of the girl was found at a nearby camp site who collapsed when informed of events. Both she and the child were treated in Meyersdale Community hospital for shock.

Juvenile Case of Local Youth Held

A juvenile case involving an 11 year old male of the Oakland area was heard in the Garrett County Circuit Court Monday morning.

He was charged with being delinquent on two counts. The first was breaking and entering the Southern States feed store, Oakland, around May 30, and was charged with larceny of peanuts, crackers and $2.60 in cash.

The second count was breaking and entering the Southern States feed store with intent to steal around June 3.

The youth pleaded guilty. The Court's decision was probation without verdict. The Court ordered his mother to make restitution of $3.00 to Southern States. The Court placed him under jurisdiction of the Garrett County Department of Juvenile Services for an undetermined period. He is to abide by the rules and regulations set down by that Department. The case was heard by Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., sitting as Juvenile Judge.

Wed June 6 In Pennsylvania

Miss Mary Royer, Coventry Gardens Apartments, Pottstown, Pa., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen P. Royer, Mount Joy, Pa., became the bride of Tommy Ray Butler, Columbus, Ohio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Butler, route 1, Grantsville, on Saturday afternoon, June 6, in Florin Church of the Brethren, Mount Joy. Rev. Jacob F. Repogle performed the double ring ceremony, at 2 o'clock.

The church altar was decorated with white daisies and white gladioli. Organist was Florence Geib and soloist was James Eshelman.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother-in-law, Mervin A. Wagner. She was attired in a floor length gown of silk organza over crepe, empire waistline accented by a white satin ribbon, lace bodice, leg of mutton sleeves, with lace, a lace stand-up collar, and a detachable chapel-length train bordered with lace, matching that on the dress. She had a waist length mantilla of silk organza bordered with the same lace and carried a crescent cascade of white daisies and stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Mervin A. Wagner, Annville, Pa., sister of the bride, who wore an A-line dress of olive green chiffon with long cuffed sleeves. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies with greens.

Bridesmaid was Barbara A. McDannel, Pottstown, Pa. Junior bridesmaid was Pamela Butler, Grantsville, niece of the groom. The bridesmaids' dresses were identical to that of the matron of honor but in mint green. They carried bouquets of yellow and white daisies with greens and all wore large bows as headpieces.

Flower girl was Natalie Bucher, Spring City, Pa., whose dress was identical to the others in olive green. She carried a basket of white and yellow daisies and pink carnations. Best man was Richard A. Miller, Canton, O., brother-in-law of the groom. Usher was Ralph J. Durst, Meyersdale, Pa., uncle of the groom, and junior usher was Mervin L. Wagner, Annville, nephew of the bride. Ring bearer was Robert D. Miller, Canton, nephew of the groom.

The bride's mother was dressed in a pale blue and green flowered dress for the ceremony, while the groom's mother wore a dress of green and white.

A reception followed in the church fellowship hall for about 100 guests. The couple left for a camping trip in West Virginia for a one-week honeymoon. For going away the bride wore a light green, long sleeved dress, trimmed in lace, the same as her wedding dress, with white accessories and a daisy corsage. They will live in Coventry Gardens apartments in Pottstown.

The bride is a graduate of Donegal High school, Mt. Joy, and Eastern Baptist college, St. Davids, Pa. She is employed by Pennhurst State School and Hospital at Spring City, Pa., in the Education department. The groom is a graduate of Northern High school, Accident, and was employed by the Program Department of Franklin County Children's Services, Columbus, O. He will attend Allegany Community college, Cumberland, in September.

A reception also is planned at Maple Grove Church of the Brethren in Grantsville on Saturday, June 13, for about 100 guests.

List For Girls' State

Nine junior girls have been chosen by the American Legion Auxiliary to represent Southern at Girls' State this year.

Those chosen were Carol Bergstrom, Ann Gnegy, Elizabeth Hinebaugh, Ranae Kitzmiller, Judy Lee, LuJean Liller, Carla Mosser, Teresa Naylor, and Rhonda Rodeheaver.

Girls' State is a National Youth program. It trains potential leaders in good citizenship and helps them to understand and participate in the functioning of their government.

Girls' State will be held at Goucher College, Towson-Baltimore, from June 21 to 27.

Holds First Meeting

The new Student Council, under the direction of the newly elected president George Tusing, held its first meeting on June 3. Officers were sworn in and the Council made several new decisions, while considering others.

A calendar of meetings is to be initiated for next year. Chaplains and parliamentarians were nominated; they will be elected at the next meeting.

The point system was discussed and labled faulty because of certain inequities in point distribution. A committee was appointed to investigate possible changes.

A committee has been set up to investigate the problem of attendance at meetings and impeachment procedure for those members who are chronically absent from meetings. It was decided that the roll call will be submitted with the minutes after each meeting. Copies of the minutes of the meetings are distributed to home-room teachers to be read to the students.

The council has purchased a book, "Basketball Hall of Fame," for the school library in memory of Jeff Stem.

VOLUME 94. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., JUNE 18, 1970 PER COPY 10c NUMBER 16

Best Address . . . .

One of 1970's best commencement addresses was recently printed in a magazine advertisement. It follows, in part:

"As you commence your new life I wish to remind you of the things you carry into it from your past here. First, you owe your parents, (or if you were on scholarship you owe society about $15,000). As you begin earning money I hope you will repay your parents or society for the things they did without, to send you here.

"Second, you owe to your country the freedom which enabled you to come here and learn and prepare for—I hope—a full, happy life. If you want your children to have the privilege you must repay that debt by military service, or a life of political service, or an earnest, honest citizenship devoted to preserving and improving this nation.

"Finally, you owe your years here to the profit system. People first built and now maintain this institution out of profits they have made in business or out of taxes tney pay from business income. Most commencement addresses are about the glories awaiting you. Whatever these glories are you yourself will create them. And if you will repay those debts of yours I have listed, you will be building a character which will make your future very glorious indeed."

This is a theme, and philosophy, currently forgotten by those nervously appeasing militants or revolutionaries, who have been intimidated by juveniles or who want instant, idealistic Utopia today. The Warner and Swasey Company of Cleveland has served the public interest in offering the country's students this commencement message.

He also said, if re-elected he would continue to work for improvement of the county schools and improvement of the position of teachers, strict law enforcement and legislation for benefit of farm people.

Diver Drowns In Deep Creek Lake Mishap

J. H. Lanatti, 43, Trafford, Pa., Was Experienced Skin Diver

A 43-year-old Pennsylvania man Sunday became the first drowning victim in Deep Creek Lake this season.

The victim, Joseph Hobart Lanatti, Trafford Pa., was skin diving in the lake about one half mile south of the Deep Creek bridge, along U. S. route 219. His body was recovered about 8:50 p. m., by members of a rescue squad from Greensburg, Pa.

Tfc. Richard Graham, of the State Police, said Mr. Lanatti went under the water about 3 p. m., after experiencing some trouble while swimming on the surface. The victim called for help and a rope was thrown to him from a nearby boat but he was unable to grasp it.

Mr. Lanatti was a member of the Keystone Skin Divers club and was one of some fifteen club members at the lake Sunday. His instructor said Mr. Lanatti recently completed 18 weeks of skin diving instructions and was a good swimmer. The deceased was employed as a draftsman.

Besides the rescue team from Greensburg, others assisting in the search for the body were Tfc. Graham, Cpl. T. E. Ruppert and Tfc. R. D. Lashley, 14 members of the South Cumberland squad, volunteer firemen from Deep Creek and Deer Park, and the sheriff's department from Oakland.

After the man's body was recovered it was taken to Sacred Heart hospital in Cumberland for an autopsy by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, deputy medical examiner. Dr. Skitarelic gave a verdict of accidental drowning.

Stuart Kuhnle, secretary of the Deep Creek fire department, said the drowning occurred about midway between the bridge and Johnny's Baithouse.

Mr. Kuhnle said numerous row boats were on the lake during the time recovery operations were conducted and the lake patrol boat also was in the area. Grappling hooks were put to use and the Greensburg unit set up search lights. Intermittent showers and cold water contions hampered rescue efforts.

The body was returned to the Alfieri Funeral home in Wilmerding, Pa., where funeral services were conducted this morning with burial in the new St. Joseph's cemetery in that city.

He is survived by his widow, Evelyn, and his mother Dorina Somalvico Lanatti. His father is deceased.

Commissioners Place Tax Rate At $2.30 Total

County Will Operate On Expected $2,952,090.26 For Fiscal Year

The County Commissioners completed the levy for the next fiscal year early this week and announced the rate at $2.25 per $100 of assessable basis, plus an additional 5 cents for fire departments, as required by law, for a total of $2.30. This was a reduction of 20 cents on the rate of last year, but still 5 cents above the rate the year previous. The rate was $2.80 for 1965 and 1966.

The county will operate on an expected revenue of $2,952,090.26, some $266,000 more than last year. Of the total amount expected the county levy is expected to bring in $1,778,088.53 with some $1,174,001.73 from other estimated income.

Some $75,000 is allowed for discounts, $35,000 for tax credits for the elderly and totally disabled and $7,000 for insolvencies.

Among the estimated income was one item of $225,000 from the local income tax, $60,000 from beer tax, $50,000 from revenue from liquor dispensaries, $70,000 from tobacco tax, $70,000 from state property tax, $22,578.82 from state share of assessor salaries, $20,000 from state department of forests and parks and $10,000 from interest on deliquent taxes.

The estimated cash on hand was listed at $560,622.91.

The levy was signed by all three commissioners, Hubert A. Friend, president; John Ross Sines, vice president, and Allen S. Paugh.

In a statement released by Mr. Sines he said he was signing the budget "only because it does offer a reduction in the tax rate of 20 cents per $100. Having gone over this budget line for line and item for item, I have pointed out that there could have been a total reduction to the extent of $167,000. This reduction could have made it possible for the tax rate to have been $2.05 plus the 5 cents for fire departments or it could have meant a reduction in the Piggy-back from the maximum to the minimum. I personally would have favored a combination of the two. The reduction would not have been from any one budget but a combination of the entire budget. I further feel that the County would still have been on a sound financial standing."

The assessable basis of the county this year was estimated at $84,226,157, an increase of over $6 million. This was judged on $47,257,752 on real property, $1,727,105 on personal property; and $35,241,300 on returns from

Man Questioned In Dynamiting On Friend Farm

Suspect Identified And Will Be Charged This Afternoon

A Garrett County man was taken into custody yesterday for questioning in connection with a dynamiting Tuesday night on the farm of Hubert A. Friend, president of the County Commissioners.

The man was identified this morning by Fred A. Thayer, state's attorney, as Paul W. Cosner, Jr., of Sang Run, a member of the striking county roads workers union. He was questioned during the day by Tfc. R. C. Lewis, criminal investigator for the State Police.

Mr. Thayer said he would be charged this afternoon with malicious destruction of property.

The blast occurred at 9:15 p. m. Tuesday in an open field near Mr. Friend's residence at Hoyes. Only minor damage was reported and there were no injuries. The blast was the seventh in the county since the road workers went on strike April 7.

Workers had requested the Commissioners recognize local 1834, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Workers, AFL-CIO, as their negotiating agency. The commissioners refused and ordered the employes back to work. When the men failed to report the commissioners announced they were fired.

During the past two months a number of incidents have been reported. A bridge was dynamited, and blasts were set off on a number of county roads. Last week the driveway of commissioner John Ross Sines, was dynamited.

Two weeks ago Judge Stuart F. Hamill ruled against the road workers in a suit filed against the Commissioners that contended the union was being discriminated against and asked for recognition.

Judge Hamill termed the strike an illegal move and said the Commissioners acted properly in discharging the men when ordered to report to work a week after the strike began.

IN MEMORIAM

A Father's Day tribute of love to our dad, George Stewart, who passed away June 8, 1967.
It would take a million years
And a million tears too.
If we tried to tell you dad
How our hearts still ache for you.
Though days rush by and busy years
Speed quickly on their way.
The grief we hold within our hearts
Lives on from day to day.
But somehow you'll be with us
Of this we all are sure.
And because this is Father's Day
We'll feel your presence more.
Today is your day Dad
But you're not here to share
The love we have to offer you,
Or to hear how much we care.
We'll miss the joy of watching you
Unwrap your gifts with tears.
We'll miss the many Thank Yous.
That we knew in other years.
We'll bear our sorrow and be thankful we knew
A wonderful love, from a dad so good.
Sadly missed by your Wife and Children

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Charles Rush who passed away July 9, 1969.
When a face that was dear, no longer is here
And a voice that was loved is hushed
It seems as if time went too quickly
It seems as if things were too rushed.
Then one by one, we remember
And one by one, clearly recall
Many quiet and wonderful hours
And the joys that were shared in them all
So dearly loved and sadly missed by his children and grandchildren
Bobby, Claude, Janet and family; Ruth, Raymond and family.

J. Glenn Beall, Jr.

Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Last week the House of Representatives passed legislation entitled the Department of Agriculture and Related Agencies Appropriation Bill of 1971. As its name implies, the bill concerns Federal expenditures in the area of agriculture for fiscal year 1971 which begins on July 1st.

Not implied, however, is the fact that the effects of the legislation are not limited, strictly speaking, to agriculture alone. Money appropriated by the bill would be used in a great variety of areas which touch all of us, including health, nutrition, conservation and pollution control.

Briefly, the proposed legislation would authorize a total of $7.4 billion in appropriations for the next fiscal year, an amount which is some $631 million less than the sum authorized for fiscal 1970 and $126 million less than the 1972 Budget request.

Although the Department of Agriculture and related agencies are usually identified with the 5 percent of our country's population who live and work on the farm, in reality they closely represent the other 95 percent of the population as well, sometimes in ways which perhaps go unnoticed.

Obviously, we all depend on the Department of Agriculture as the means of coordinating our vital sources of food and clothing. Not so obvious, however, is the fact that we rely on government agricultural activities for other important services as well. Our health, for example, is largely dependent on the fact that appropriations for the Department of Agriculture pay for the inspection of the meats and vegetables which go on our tables. For instance, $143 million in the 1971 Appropriation Bill would provide for the inspection of 100 percent of the red meat marketed in the United States as well as other cosumer health protection measal level of the general popula-

The proposed legislation also gives due attention to the area of nutrition, especially during childhood when it is extremely important. For example, the bill includes $104 million for the financing of a special milk program which will provide 3 billion half-pints of milk to about 17 million school children. In addition, $200 million would be appropriated to pay for free and reduced-price lunches for an estimated 6.6 million needy children. Most important from the standpoint of the nutritional level of the general population is a provision in the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Bill that would fulfill the President's full budget request for $1.25 billion in food stamps.

Conservation has become one of the main goals of government activities in agriculture. The Soil Conservation Service together with the Federally-backed Agricultural Conservation Program have been instrumental in bringing about physical adjustments in land use which have helped to conserve our soil and water resources, provide for agricultural production on a sustained basis, and reduce damage by floods and sedimentation.

Conservation of our precious agricultural resources, of course, is essential if we are to meet the food and clothing needs of an ever-growing population. The appropriation bill just passed by the House would authorize $129 million for Department of Agriculture and related agencies' conservation operations during fiscal year 1971, an increase of almost $10 million over last year's authorization.

Closely tied with conservation is pollution control, another ongoing activity of our agricultural agencies. The appropriation legislation would authorize a total of $695 million for pollution control research and abatement programs. These programs, which have included the creation of dams, sediment collecting basins—sediment is a known carrier of pollution—and planned watersheds, have done much to prevent the highly polluted waters in the rivers and harbors near large cities from contaminating waters in more remote areas.

It is clear, then, that many provisions in the Department of Agriculture and Related Agencies Appropriation Bill of 1971 will, if enacted into law, affect not only our people on the farm but all of us as well. Agriculture, of course, was once the backbone of this country's economy and livelihood. Today agriculture and related activities at both government and working levels remain vitally important to all Americans.

Sacks of Mail; A Vital Issue

There is in addition to the onset of the 17 year locusts, a new invasion of Washington which is causing just as much excitement as these fabulous cicadas. This is an influx of mail in a degree that we've never had before—much of it originating from public concern over the deployment of United States combat troops in the small, neutral, Asian country of Cambodia.

I have been advised by the postal authorities that the mail is so heavy it cannot be quickly sorted and distributed to senatorial offices, that in fact it waits for 5 to 10 days in mail sacks in the basement of the Senate Office Building. It is an unprecedented expression of opinion on a national issue.

Mail that comes to me, of course, reflects the views of Marylanders and other Americans on both sides of the issue. Typical of one side of the issue is a letter which says:

"Let me urge you to support the President on his decision and effort in Southeast Asia. Again, with respect, the effort to limit his action by cutting off funds is nothing short of reprehensible. Talk of the President usurping Senate functions and imposing a constitutional crisis is utter nonsense. This is simply a tactic of Senator Fulbright to sway the Senate to his way of thinking on Southeast Asia."

There are also letters on the other side of the issue like this one:

"Our forefathers pondered and agonized over the best method of providing a balance of power, mainly to avoid disasters they saw elsewhere. Has anyone found a saner system than theirs—that Congress must declare wars and raise armies and then the President may direct it? If a President feels free to go into Cambodia (though only to wipe out pockets of resistance), what is to prevent him from entering other countries for the same purpose? Congress must reassert its proper power to make these decisions and to be responsible to the electorate."

This, then, is the issue which is being debated in the Country, in the Congress and which will be decided first in the United States Senate. I hope all Americans will turn to the Constitution and to their history books to gain thorough and personal understanding of what was intended in the foundation of this Republic and the rules that have been followed in the years since the Constitution was written and adopted.

The power to commit American troops to battle was, in the writing of the Constitution, very clearly divided between the President and the Congress. The President was designated as Commander-in-Chief in order to insure that the top military decisions would be made by a civilian. But the Congress is empowered to lay the taxes to provide for the common defense, to define and punish offenses against the law of nations, to declare war, to raise and support armies (but not to finance them for more than two years at a time), to provide rules for the land and Naval forces, and to provide for calling up and organizing the militia.

In addition, the Senate has special functions with respect to the making of treaties, the appointing of Ambassadors and the confirming of our chief military officers.

Throughout our history the executive branch has generally recognized the exclusive power of Congress to authorize acts of war. In 1805, Thomas Jefferson said, "Considering that Congress alone is constitutionally invested with the power of changing our position from peace to war, I have thought it my duty to await their authority before using force in any degree which could be avoided."

Similar views were expressed by John Adams, John Quincy Adams, Abraham Lincoln, Daniel Webster and others.

In a famous case which was tried by Chief Justice John Marshall, he said that the whole powers of war were vested in Congress.

This is a complex issue; it is an important issue which demands the attention of the American people. I look to you for your advice, your counsel, your help in the difficult but absolutely essential debate which lies ahead for all of us.

Paul's Apple

The barefoot boy from over the mountain in Garrett County brought in the apple to Barton School and bestowed it in the hands of a young lady who was training in his classroom as a student teacher. His eyes were large and rolling—more rolling than she had ever seen since—but his smile, as he put down the apple, was enveloping a whole world of sunshine. She knew that his family had no house room to spare, and less food to give, but that treasure came from his own reserve. And what an apple! It was so dessicated that it looked like those you see in orchards of old farms, where trees are breathing their last. Yet that young lady will always remember Paul's apple, for it was the first she had ever received from a student. And though Paul may give many gifts, he will doubtless ever be more generous than to share from his very small store the finest thing he had. That is the greatest reason for recalling the apple; giving it was the height of generosity and thoughtfulness.

People who have what they consider little are bestowing upon you their highest compliment by giving or sharing so largely a portion of personal goods. One minister has told that he performed a favor for a country lady by driving her husband to the hospital. Upon their return she presented to him eleven white eggs—not twelve, because she had just eleven. What more could anyone ask, that a person would give his all?

Sometimes that giving is not unique to any but the recipient, and thereunto lies the value which is not forgotten. Maple sugar in the spring or huckleberries in summer may be to you just an ordinary kindness, but to someone who has never eaten maple sugar or remembers native wild berries from a farm pasture in youth, these items become weighty and the deed is an unusually kind one.

The time for giving also stamps itself upon the one who receives. One lady had never received a Christmas present like the five-dollar bill which arrived on the day when her furnace stopped operating. The time of long illness is dotted with remembrances of those who bothered to stop when endless streams of day were spent nearly motionless in a bed or chair.

But do not forget that possibly one of the greatest gifts is a happy disposition shared with someone else. Finzel has one citizen who is not usually with you for five minutes before you are laughing with her about herself or an incident. Her humor descends as a glint of cheer and become infectious. She has such a contagious capacity for enjoying social occasions that when you spy her laughing and dancing you truly enjoy the experience yourself. She gives you her bright outlook and gaiety to dispel gloom from your soul.

It is this writer's opinion that giving is a must in the country. Not now do we often have the sharing of meat freshly butchered, but in this lifetime there has not been one summer when lettuce, tomatoes, or beans have not been brought to some friend—and not just offered, picked and brought. Country women will come to your house to help paper a room, and a gracious lady on Long Stretch never allows you to leave without a cooky or useful article in your hand. We may have passed from the days of communal barnraising, but the generosity is still there.

Of all the essentials of life, time itself is perhaps the loveliest thing to share. Most of us could find innumerable other things personally preferable to helping or giving for someone. But this is often when we finally see how much we mean to another person, one who sits with us to discuss a problem or to relax before the next duty becomes imperative. The writer Kalil Gibran says this so eloquently: "It is when you give of yourself that you truly give. There are those who give little of the much which they have—and they give it for recognition and their hidden desire makes their gift unwholesome. And there are those who have little and give it all. These are the believers in life and the bounty of life, and their coffer is never empty."

Fifteen Are Killed On State Highways

Fifteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week, according to the survey published by the State Police. Six of those killed were drivers, six were passengers, and three were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in seven of the deaths, speed in seven, and "driver error" in thirteen.

"Alcohol was a major contributing factor in seven of the fatalities on Maryland highways last week," noted Lt. Col. W. H. Conroy, Deputy Superintendent of the State Police.

"The Kids": A Deception

Of all the sham techniques in the liberal-leftist bag, nothing is more shabby than the endless references to "the kids," meaning the campus demonstrators and protesters.

In the first place, the radicalized element in the country is not made up of children—the group to which the label "the kids" truly belongs. We have today in this country a new class of professional or permanent students, as Latin America has had for generations. Many of today's militant "students" are in their late twenties, thirties or even forties. University fellowships and grants are so abundant that shrewd, once-young people manage to hang around college and university campuses for years and years. They "study" revolution and disruption while millions of other Americans, who have to work for a living, are employed in offices, in factories and on farms of the nation.

These "old" youths affect the wears and manners and dress of college students and speak in a special jargon that is supposed to be youthful. The cult of youth is carefully developed by many individuals whose own youth has long since passed. This kind of posing is tragic in a sense and also hurtful and misleading, for it involves deceit.

Then, too, this element with its artful poses also has produced a new breed of sympathetic commentator whose endlessly repeated slogan is youth. Nothing is more absurd than the over-age TV commentator attired in extreme "mod" fashion and whose thinning hair is dressed by a youth stylist.

The liberal-leftist references to "the kids" are deliberate and purposeful. They are aimed at promoting the idea that there are two Americas with utterly different sets of values—the young Americans who want radical change and the middle-age and older Americans who allegedly represent a dying society. One hears this theme stressed on television all the time. It is what has been called the Big Lie technique.

The condition of anarchy facing some parts of the country today isn't the result of American youth turning its back on America. Actually, the current disorders have their roots in the old radicalism of the 40s, 50s and 60s. Many of the planners of contemporary protests are men and women who have been involved in communist and fellow - traveling organizations since the 1930s. David Dellinger, one of the notorious "Chicago 7," is one of these individuals. As for the doctrines of the new Left, these are Russian anarchist and nihilist notions first enunciated a century ago in Czarist times. The New Left hasn't turned up a single really new social or philosophical doctrine.

What is so wrong and misleading about the use of the term "the kids" is that it suggests all American young people belong in the radicalized camp. Some of them are in that camp, especially the affluent protesters who can afford to attend Ivy League schools and travel around the country to various trouble spots, using credit cards supplied by permissive parents.

But millions of young people, the real youth of America, believe in the national ethic of work, saving, home ownership, a happy marriage, and service to community and nation. You don't read about these responsible "kids" in Look Magazine. You don't find them getting ths attention of Time or Life or the TV networks. Almost all the space and network time are reserved for the kooks, the haters, and the destructionists.

The liberal pundits aren't interested in the example of youth achievers, young businessmen who are creating new enterprises. They would rather talk in sympathetic terms about those who threaten to burn down everything if they don't get their way.

Ask yourself how many interviews you have seen on TV with young construction workers marching in support of the President? How many interviews have been taped showing patriotic "Strike Back" students on campus who back their country and who oppose closing down universities?

How much attention is given to young people generally who believe in the American system, who embody its fine values and who stand up for America? The truth is that the liberals don't want to talk about these "kids." The liberals are engaged in a conspiracy of silence against young people who promote a sane society based on free enterprise and constitutional government.

The liberal technique is to lavish attention on the young SDS members and ignore the young people who believe in their country. It's time the public spoke up when the liberals start their deceptive talk about "the kids"—their own special variety, that is.

Assist in Beaver Day

Four members of troop 82, Accident, Boy Scouts of America, participated in Beaver day at Camp Potomac, near Cumberland. Four scouts from Loch Lynn joined them.

The scouts set up tent floors, cleaned around the dining hall, moved table frames to patrol camp sites and set up tarps over the patrol tables in patrol camp sites. Fred Bowser, troop committeeman, and Paul Frank, scoutmaster, provided transportation and assisted the scouts with their chores.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

Is New York Necessary?

At one time beside the Tiber there was a mighty city.

And to this city there flocked all the dispossessed, the ne-er-do-wells of the world plus those just down on their luck.

But along with this group this great city displayed an opulence that far exceeded anything the world had known up to that time, and in this city there was a constant construction of dazzling new edifices.

Needless to say, those who had not, looked with envy on those who had, and this created considerable unrest.

Now the political system was somewhat topsy turvy at times. At times there were senators, at times consuls, and at times emperors, all anxious to keep their jobs.

So they felt very strongly about the unrest of the masses, and after considerable thinking about the situation, came up with the viewpoint that the unrest in the streets of the city was not a local problem, but an empire problem.

So it was decreed that the whole world should pay tribute to Rome and from all the far corners taxes poured into Rome.

Of course, a great deal of this largesse was siphoned off by graft, corruption, and incompetence, but a substantial part was passed out to the great city's discontented which in those days was crudely referred to as the rabble. But the more that was given the discontented the more discontented they became, and the day came when lots in the city were even useless as prizes at bingo games. Around this time the Christian era began, thus it is presumed there was bingo.

There is perhaps no parallel to be drawn, but it is interesting that New York's Governor Nelson Rockefeller has made a strong plea for the Congress to continue the ten per cent surtax as a permanent feature of the income tax, with the funds diverted to the big cities, which usually means NewYork.

In short, he proposes that the residents of Iowa be taxed to support New York in style to which it would like to become accustomed.

In other words, 192 million should pay tribute to maintain a city of some 8 million.

Obviously, if such a move is necessary to keep New York City in a reasonably viable condition, then it is reasonable to ask if New York City is necessary. The city is, of course, a magnificent thing to behold, but it is also too expensive for any but the affluent to live in, and thus to tax everyone to maintain a reasonable degree of living for all who want to flock into its limits is probably a luxury far too great for the rest of the nation. Thus, instead of thinking of a greater New York City, it is perhaps time to consider a lesser New York City.

Deadline Nears On Wheat Allotments

Wednesday, July 1, is the final date on which farmers may file aplications for "new farm" wheat allotments for the 1971 crop of winter wheat, it was announced by I. William Umbel, Chairman, Garrett County ASC Committee.

A producer eligible to file such an application is one with a farm for which no wheat allotment was established for 1970 and for which neither the owner nor the operator has an interest in the wheat allotment on any other farm, who has available land and adequate equipment and facilities for the successful production of a wheat crop on the farm, who during the last 5 years has had at least 2 years' experience in producing wheat, and who as an operator expects to receive at least 50 percent of his current year's income from the total production on the farm (not including income from wheat).

Mr. Umbel said interested farmers may contact the ASCS Office at Oakland.

Student Voices

Wanted: Good Leadership
Dwight Harvey

Many of the rulers of Rome were weak and corrupt. They contributed much to the eventual destruction of their empire. Throughout history rulers who were weak, evil, or inept have harmed their countries. A modern example is the weakness and corruption of the Thieu regime in Vietnam. In contrast, good leaders can do much to develop their nations.

Even though populations are also responsible for the fate of a country, it is the leader who has the greatest influence. He is the one who can unite the masses, who can lead them. He is the one who makes crucial decisions which affect not only his nation, but the world.

As Americans we have the right and duty of choosing our own leaders, and we should choose the best ones that we possibly can. By doing this we can assure our nation of the best and fastest ways of development.

Naturally it isn't easy to select the best leaders, but by paying close attention to current events, by assessing each candidate carefully, and by voting, we can at least minimize the chance of selecting bad leadership.

If we, the people, expect the United States to survive and become great, we are going to have to select good leadership. Without it the United States may one day fall in violence, as did the Roman Empire.

that lights your child's face

We've heard so much about the effects of insecurity on the life of a child! It seems urgent to find a picture of security . . . that elusive ideal that parents want to provide but can never be sure they have.

Notice the importance of the light in our picture. It doesn't really come from that fatherly hand. Someone else has provided the light which links father and son. The father merely stood in that light . . . and held his son's hand!

Sunday — Father's Day — in hundreds of thousands of churches, earnest fathers will stand in the Light. With their sons they'll worship God . . . experience again the spiritual understanding of life. See the brightness of that true security reflected in youthful eyes.

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

I'M ONLY ONE

Lesson for June 21, 1970

Background Scripture: Romans 12 through 13.
Devotional Reading: Romans 12:3-12.

You are a soldier in the United States Army stationed in Western Germany. You and seventy-two other American soldiers comprise a convoy of trucks making the routine troop movement between Helmstadt in West Germany through East Germany along the autobahn to West Berlin. Usually the trip is uneventful except for periodic check-points along the way.

Rev. Althouse

Lately, however, there has been some mounting tension in Berlin and there is some growing apprehension among your officers that the Soviets may retaliate with some petty irritations on the autobahns. You hope that if the communists decide to needle the American forces again they'll pick a different convoy with which to do it.

The rut people get in

You feel the truck slowing down and someone next to you says, "Marienborn checkpoint." Fifteen minutes at the most and you should be on your way once again. But fifteen minutes pass and then thirty and forty-five, but the convoy is not moving. Down the line comes the word: "The communists are refusing to let us pass until we fall out and line up to be counted."

You know what that means . . . possibly a long wait. It is U.S. policy to refuse to get out of the trucks for counting. You don't really understand why, but that's the way it is. You and the convoy will sit at the check-point until someone backs down. You chuckle, half in disgust and half in amusement, when you consider that neither you nor the Soviet soldiers standing guard really understand why you can't get out of the truck and why it is just as important to them to have you do so. It's just part of the Cold War rut people get into, you decide.

The first two hours are not too bad, but after three hours of sitting in the cramped trucks, you and your comrades begin to be irritable. It is with gratitude, then, that you hear the sergeant call your name to deliver a message to the C.O. in one of the trucks up the line. This means an opportunity to get some fresh air and stretch your legs.

The dangerous sparks

As you stand waiting for a reply, you notice a Soviet guard with a tommygun. You don't look at him and he doesn't look at you. It seems best that way. The only sound is a chilly wind that whistles around you and the scrape of the guard's boots.

Then it happens! A sudden gust of wind lifts your fatigue cap off your head and deposits it in the dust . . . right in the path of the guard. You extend your hand forward in a gesture, but it is too late and the boot crushes the hat into the dust. "Hey," you shout and instinctively rush toward him. He stops and turns toward you inquiringly, his foot still resting upon your hat. "You're on my hat!" you shout. "Da?" he replies as if he does not understand you.

There seems to be a slight trace of amusement playing at the corners of his mouth. Did he do it on purpose, you ask yourself? Doesn't he see it? You begin to feel an overpowering urge to shove him and get him off your hat. "What's going on here?" a sharp voice asks behind you and you turn to see your C.O. and the Soviet commander.

Overcome evil with good

Later, back in the truck, your hat once more in your hands, you reflect upon what happened. Suppose you had lost your temper and started shoving the Soviet soldier? Out of such incidents, you realize, come the sparks that touch off wars.

One man can set in motion the events that lead two or more nations into war. If one man can do so much harm, is it not also likely that one man can also do much good? Let those who take refuge in saying, "I'm only one," be reminded of just how much they can do, as Paul puts it, to "overcome evil with good."

WHY WE NEVER ADVERTISE PRESCRIPTION PRICES

It is considered unethical for a pharmacy to advertise prescription prices just as it is for a doctor or lawyer to solicit business by advertising their fees.

Our reputation is based on this concept of good service and fair treatment for all our patrons. We appreciate being your family pharmacy.

Frederick Celebrates 225th Anniversary

Our thoughts during the past week have been directed to an anniversary which was celebrated in Maryland recently. It was not only the anniversary of a beginning of a community, but of a tradition, a tradition which is important to remember, to consider, and to use as a guideline in these days in which we are now living and for the years ahead.

The anniversary was the 225th anniversary of the founding of Frederick, Maryland. Frederick was first established as a community in 1745 by Patrick Dulaney, who was one of the Dulaney family, prominent in colonial Maryland. It was established, of course, with the patronage of Lord Baltimore and with the authority of the General Assembly of Maryland. Frederick was, in those days, a frontier community, a beginning. In modern language, we would call it a real estate development because Patrick Dulaney, acting for a relative, Daniel Dulaney, who was attorney general of Maryland, laid out the streets and lots and offered the property for sale as a commercial center which would attract people to the section of Maryland in which the Dulaney family already owned very large tracts of land. From this beginning Frederick has grown in the enterprise of the American system, in the private initiative which has made this country unique among the nations of the world. Many fine values have risen, values of mind and spirit and heart that can be of great importance to us now.

In the very early days of Frederick, when it was only about 10 years old, the town was the scene of the first summit conferences in the new world. General Edward Braddock, the commander in chief of the British forces which were mustering to face the French and Indians in the wilderness, met in Frederick vith Benjamin Franklin, later with George Washington, and with various colonial governors. This was the town's first impact on national history, although at that very period it was described by Thackeray in his novel, "The Virginians," as simply a "mud hole."

Shortly thereafter the clouds of dissent and protest which led to the Revolution were seen in Frederick. The people of Frederick didn't wait for guidance from some state or national capitol; they didn't wait to be summoned by some charismatic leader; they themselves saw the issues of religious, political and personal liberty which were the fundamental concepts for which the Revolution was fought. In the repudiation of the Stamp Act by the people of Frederick in 1765, there was an immediate local response to the injustice of that day. There was also an excess. Some Fredericktonians, charged with treason because they were loyal to the British crown, were hanged, drawn, and quartered. This so shocked the people of Maryland that the penalty of hanging, drawing and quartering—a carryover from medieval times—was stricken from the statute books of Maryland and a new balance was achieved.

In the Civil War, Frederick was the scene of many activities, perhaps the most interesting of which was the Battle of the Monocacy fought on Frederick's outskirts. This fight showed how a small band of determined men who believed in the rightness of their cause could, even in defeat, win victories.

Frederick is a town of churches, and the clustered spires of Frederick are known throughout the world. It is a town of schools and colleges, it is a town that, I hope, the people of Maryland will visit often, a town whose history, I hope, will make a deep impression on all of us as we plan for the days ahead.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

The Art of Making Christian Decisions

In the Bible one of the illustrations used to show the wisdom of Solomon was a decision he made concerning ownership of a child that two women had claimed as their own. In our own life not only our wisdom, but also our Christian integrity is shown in the decisions we are able to make.

Decision making is tremendously important in the life of any person or any nation. Some of the most difficult moments in our lives involve making decisions, coming to a conclusion. When we make up our minds about something, we are making up our lives—and very often we are making up the lives of others who are socially involved in our decisions. If we want to make our decisions Christian, we must carefully choose the influences that affect our decision making.

In making decisions we must remember that we are not always right. We do our best to be right but all of us fail sometimes: therefore we need to be understanding and kind to one another when mistakes are made, and we should not be so afraid of being wrong that we never make up our minds about anything.

I have found that it usually pays to not be too hasty in making a decision. If it is worth taking our time and being careful. Making up our mind is making up our life, and life is often fragile and should be handled with care. This is especially true concerning marriage, a life work or any other important decision. It is also important to take our time and do some thinking if we are frustrated, angry or upset. In times like these we are more often not thinking clearly and may make a hasty decision that we will be sorry for, and, one that may do a lot of harm.

We need to take our time because of this second guide to right decisions. We need to be as inclusive as possible. We should consider as many possibilities as possible. In this our reading plays an important part. What we read influences our reasoning, and for this reason we need to be careful what we read. Much of American reading is made up of cheap magazines. There is a lot of good Christian literature available through your church that will help you in making right decisions.

Not only reading Christian literature but worship undergirds the character of our conclusions. The mind is renewed thru public worship. Many decisions are taken care of in the right way when we store our minds with Christian truth and principles. Personal continued reading of the Bible has been proven helpful to many in making decisions through the years. Jesus himself studied and used the Bible in making up his mind and in guiding others to right answers.

We should strive for fairness that is not deformed by personal feelings and desires in making up our minds. If we are for something, or if we want it very much we are likely to be lopsided in our reasoning and see only the truth that will help us get what we want. If we are against something we are likely to see only the truth that is on our side.

We need to be open minded. Many people make the mistake of operating on what they have already learned, feeling that it is enough. They are not open to new ideas and new truths. I have been told about a student who arrived at school and told his teacher, "I already know what I believe, I am here to get information to support it:" he had already built a wall between himself and any new truth available. None of us is this well learned. New truths are being made available all the time. In order to make the best possible judgments we need to be constantly open to new truth. We need to be honest about the reasons that lie behind our conclusions. The Jewish leaders who wanted Christ crucified did not give their real reasons; they used only what excuses they thought would be influential and acceptable. If our real reasons are not good enough to express openly then it may be questionable whether our decisions are Christian.

We need to remember that our friends have a lot of influence upon our judgments. We tend to reflect the ideas and attitudes of those with whom we spend our time. This is especially true of young people. It is very difficult to make decisions that are contrary to the thought-forms of our social group. For this reason we need to associate with people that will be a healthy influence upon our thinking.

Finally I would remind you of what we should do first. We should seek God in prayer, continually, day by day.

The scripture tells us to ask and we shall receive. God will help us in reaching Christian conclusions, but we must pray daily so that the line will be open and we will be open to hear God when he speaks to us.

After we have done all we can we will still make some mistakes, but we will have established an environment of serious intent, mutual understanding and kind consideration where our mistakes will be smaller in number and can be kept under control when they do come.

The Rev. James Remley,
Pastor, Bethel United Methodist Church

Brief History Given of Loar Hospital Auxiliary

Some facts about the Loar hospital auxiliary were gathered by Mrs. Martha Glotfelty, a past president, to bring its activities up to the present time.

The auxiliary presented Merritt Feather, hospital administrator, a check for $1,200 by Mrs. Ruth Naylor, treasurer, last week to be used for dietary equipment.

The auxiliary was organized in May, 1951, and named in memory of the Loar family which gave much for the hospital in its beginning.

First officers were Mrs. W. W. DeWitt, Hoyes, president; Mrs. George Comp, Jr., Deer Park, 1st vice-president; Mrs. K. Whitehair, Terra Alta, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Friendsville, secretary; Mrs. C. Young, Grantsville, treasurer.

A hostess program was organized in 1951, providing for members to hand out visiting cards, take books and magazines to patients, and perform other small acts of service. Library books and magazines were given as memorials. Minutes of May 12, 1953 showed that 28 persons were helping with the visitors' schedule.

In March, 1952, a check was received from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fusco to be used in purchasing a sewing machine. Considerable sewing was done in these early years by Homemaker clubs, making hospital gowns, bandages, repairing linens, etc., some of the work being done by individuals in their own homes.

At a pantry shower May 13, 1952, 150 cases of food were donated, valued at $750. The auxiliary had many fund raising activities: bake sales, barber shop quartet programs, solicitation of memberships. Highest membership reported was on January 13, 1955, at 368. Many men were honorary members. Mrs. Hugh Echard was membership chairman for years.

The auxiliary voted to establish a Memorial fund in January, 1958, proceeds to be used to purchase new equipment and replace obsolete. The money given would be administered by the hospital board. These are still being received. The first Memorial donations were given in memory of Emroy Bolden. The following donations were listed:
